Sprout Will Continue Manegership. The recently elected board of directors of the Apple Growers' Union met here Saturday and organized. Sprout was unanimously elected manager and secretary with an increase of salary. G. A. McCurdy was again elected president and E. H. Shepard vice president and treasurer. Hereafter when a matter is voted on by the board of directors the roll will be called and the votes recorded. The directors have decided to place a selling force in the field to open up new markets and the selling of the coming season's apple crop will be conducted on a different basis from any methods heretofore attempted by the local organization. In speaking of the new methods, Mr. Sprout and Mr. Shepard stated that the new board was working in perfect accord. The business of the Union, they continued, will be conducted hereafter on broader lines. Mr. Sprout states that the late Newtowns held in master storage by that organization are bringing in good returns. He concluded by saying that he looked for an excellent crop for the coming season. Avalon Way. The farmers living on the first lane running south from the road leading west past the ball grounds have swung a sign-board across the lane bearing the name "Avalon Way" by which this road may be designated. Heretofore it was difficult for people to direct inquiries to the ranches on this lane, but now it will be easy enough. Avalon Way is connected with the main road at both ends. The west end, being between the A. Batts and Gus Miller ranches. Another name board will be put up this end of Avalon Way as soon as it is completed. The ranches adjoining Avalon Way are for the most part small, mostly five acre tracts, and are all well kept, the chief product being strawberries which are planted between apple trees. Improvements of buildings and ranches are being made along this road all of the time. So when you are out for a ride don't fail to travel Avalon Way. Central Orchards Subdivided. The land will be sold either in its present state or under contract to plant and care for the orchard for a period of one to five years. The Central company will be sold through the office recently opened by Charles R. Bone, president of the company, in the Johnson building at the corner of Third and Oak streets. James E. Montgomery is associated with Mr. Bone in the selling of the Central orchard lands, the Bonebrots and other valley properties. Business Men Want Park. Perigo were appointed as a committee to confer with the merchants of the city and the Commercial Club and arrange for a Fourth of July celebration. The celebration will necessarily be "sane," for city ordinance prohibits the use of fireworks. Health Committee Orders Clean-Up. To the Residents of Hood River: Friday, May 5th, has been set aside as clean-up day for Hood River. On or before that day the Health Board (which by a recent ordinance includes the entire council) expects every owner or occupant of property in the town to collect and remove from their premises all accumulations of leaves, garbage, cans, boxes, refuse, etc. This must be done at the occupant's own expense. On the day following clean-up day, a general inspection of the town will be made and a list of those not complying with this request will be given to the marshal. After he has notified such cases once he will act under the following clause from the health ordinance: "The owner, agent, or occupant of any premises within the town limits, who shall use or keep, or who shall permit the same to be used or kept in such condition as to cause a nuisance, shall remove or abate the same within 24 hours after being so ordered by the marshal, and if such nuisance be not removed in 24 hours thereafter, the marshal shall cause the same to be removed or abated and the expense of the removal of any such nuisance shall be paid by the property occupant." M4 City Health Committee.

Death of Mrs. Rigby. Mrs. Martha Rebecca Weaver Rigby, wife of Rev. J. W. Rigby, died at her home on Oak street last Friday evening from a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Rigby reached her sixty fourth year of age, having been born May 26, 1847, at Pleasant Unity, Westmoreland county, Pa. She was educated at the Pittsburg Female Academy and for 28 years was a teacher in the public schools of that state. For 8 years she was head of the primary department of the public schools of Latrobe of that state. She and Mr. Rigby were married May 23, 1901, and left immediately for Hood River, where they have resided. Because of her activity in social circles and lovable personality, Mrs. Rigby made a wide circle of friends. She took an active interest in charitable and missionary work and was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and the following organizations: The Missionary Society, Ladies Aid, American Woman's league and Carby Post of the Woman's Relief Corps. In addition to her husband, she leaves surviving her two brothers and three sisters. Frank Weaver, the older brother, resides at Washington, D. C. The younger, Col. James Weaver, is professor of International Law at De Pauw University, Green Castle, Ind. All of her sisters are residents of Pennsylvania. The funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, after which the body was laid to rest at Idlewild cemetery. Congregational Church Notes. Next Sunday morning the pastor's sermon will be on "The Hazards of Christian Service." After the sermon a final vote will be taken upon the location for the new church building—whether the option on the Brossus property be taken up or the building be erected on the present site and build a new parsonage. A large attendance is desired. The pastor will read a sermon story of his composition next Sunday entitled "The Quest of Hiroshi." It will deal with a young Japanese who comes to this country to find the much-heard-of Beautiful Life. He lands in Hood River and will finally find it, But Where? Rev. E. A. Harris had the honor to be the nominee of the Portland Association of Congregational churches for Corporate Member of their Foreign Missionary Society with Hon. W. H. Lewis, now of Portland, for the State of Oregon. Young Men Enter Business. Oscar J. Tiltson and Harry J. Edward, two young men well-known in Hood River, have opened real estate offices in Portland and will deal in agricultural lands in Oregon and Washington. The offices of the new firm are in the Couch building. So far as operations in orchard lands are concerned, they will devote themselves wholly to Hood River and will handle the properties of the Central Orchard company and the Bonebrots. Tiltson was in Hood River last season with the firm of Devlin & Firebaugh and for the past few months has been in the Portland offices of that firm. Mr. Edward has been engaged in the newspaper business, resigning the position of assistant city editor on the Portland Journal to enter the realty business. He was one of the joint authors of a book of side-lights on the recent legislative session of 1910, where he was the representative of his paper. Athlete Will Raise Apples. Hans Hoegline, who played end last year on the University of Iowa football team recently arrived in this city and has located on the S. A. Clark place about a half mile above Tucker's bridge. Young Hoegline is a very husky individual and was prominent in other lines of athletics. He was also one of the best know musicians at the University of Iowa, having given a number of pipe organ and piano recitals. Since his sojourn in the Hood River Valley the former college athlete has persuaded his brother Paul Hoegline, to join him. The brothers were both members of the all state team. The latter will arrive this week. The parents of the young men will visit them this summer. Biggs Victim Identified. The man who was killed by train No. 17 of the O.W. R. & N. Co. near Biggs Monday, April 24, and whose body was brought to the Bartmess undertaking establishment, was identified last Thursday by J. W. Foster, foreman of the construction gang of Twoby Brothers working east of Biggs, as Edw. Moe, who had formerly been employed as a laborer by the company. The victim is a native of Norway. The warm spring rain which began falling Monday evening and has been continuing at intervals since, has been a great boon to the berry farmers. The warm showers will work wonders toward hastening the maturity of the crop. H. P. Coburn, whose ranch adjoins the Ideal Nursery, stated Monday that he would probably have to begin the first picking of his two and a half acres of berries the first of next week. He and his neighbors are counting on a big yield. Boston Man Buys Ingalls Tract. S. M. Richardson purchased this week through the agency of G. Y. Edwards & Co., the 10 acre tract of J. W. Famous Teacher Fails in Health. Failing to recover his health in Portland, L. Gaston Gottschalk, baritone singer of world-wide reputation, says Sunday Oregonian, has left for Chicago, to spend probably his last days among old associates and in a familiar environment, his physician, Dr. John F. Beaumont, intimates. Mr. Gottschalk is troubled with a serious affection of the throat which, it is feared, will terminate fatally before long. The noted singer came to Portland last October, giving up his work as head of the Gottschalk Lyric School, of Chicago, to lessen the nervous strain upon himself and be able to live in a milder climate. He undertook vocal instruction in Portland, but his condition grew steadily worse, necessitating the abandonment of his work. Mr. Gottschalk, who visited here last year, is well known to Hood River people. Mrs. C. H. Sletton, who has been coaching in voice culture with him for the past four months, confirms the report of his failing health. Mr. Gottschalk was very much interested in Mrs. Sletton and very enthusiastic over her voice and she regrets exceedingly that she cannot continue her work with him during the summer. Mr. Gottschalk is probably one of the greatest voice teachers in America. Grand Musical. Miss Katherine Dinamore, of New York, who is now located in Portland, has been engaged by the Valley Christian church to give a concert on Wednesday evening, May 10, at the church. She will be assisted somewhat by local talent. Miss Dinamore is an unusually fine singer and the program will be especially good. Admission 25 cents. Will Be Guest of National Convention. Rev. J. G. Tate, of the Belmont district, who for 9 years was Grand Master Workman of the A. O. U. W., left Tuesday to be a guest of the national convention of the order to be held at Lincoln, Neb. Rev.
