

PRETTIEST THING
In My Home
is a Macey Book Cabinet

To set one of the new Macey Book Cabinets in your home is to set before your children an example of such good taste that throughout all the days of their lives they will feel its refining influence.

Macey Book Cabinets are the first sectional bookcases ever built after the designs of the old masters. These old masters, Sheraton, Chippendale, Robert Adams and Fra Junipers, were as great in furniture as Shakespeare in literature, as Mozart in music, as Michael Angelo in painting.

The new Macey Book Cabinets are the only sectional bookcases that can be added to both upward and sideways, and will not look like sectional bookcases, but like heirlooms of furniture. Can be taken from or rearranged without destroying their beauty and style.

So artful is the cabinet work that dealers frequently have to take them apart to convince customers that they are sectional.

Macey old master designs harmonize with any furniture you now have, and are made in such variety of popular prices, sizes, woods and finishes, that they fit any requirement of space or purse.

Macey Sectional Book Cabinets are built under the direction of Mr. O. H. L. Wernicke, the father of sectional bookcases and President of The Macey Company. Mr. Wernicke's name is still used in the corporate title of a competing firm, with which he has long since had no connection.

If you wish to give your home and your children the most inspiring influence you ever gave them, you will go to a furniture store and see these new Macey Book Cabinets before you forget it.

MANY NOTED MEN INTERESTED IN SCOUTS

The Boy Scout movement is a big business enterprise. It involves the expenditure of $50,000 yearly for the maintenance of the National Headquarters of Boy Scouts of America. It necessitates the printing of hundreds of thousands of manuals, bulletins and other information concerning the movement. It requires a big business staff at the head of which is a man trained in the law, the science of philanthropic work and skilled in up-to-date business methods. It requires the thoughtful attention of many distinguished men who are devoting the greater part of their lives to philanthropic work. It has absorbed the sympathy of thousands of able business and professional men throughout the country who appreciate its great opportunities for the all-around development of boys into excellent citizens. When one considers the thousands of Boy Scout patrols and troops throughout the country, one does not think of the tremendous business system behind the varied and scattered activities of those boys. In every city and almost every small town throughout the country, there are Boy Scouts. They are being trained physically, mentally and morally. They are having fun engaging in rival fishing expeditions and swimming contests, taking hikes in the woods, staking animals and birds with cameras, learning to paddle a canoe, to swim and to camp out. They are doing these things first because it is fun, but they have over them Scoutmasters who see these things as things systematically, that they do not over-exert themselves physically, but play in a manner that increases their physical strength, makes them alert in mind and fills them with the desire to be honest, upright men. The boys individually and collectively in many different towns and cities constantly are writing to the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America. They send in hundreds of letters daily, all of which must be answered. The requests must be satisfied or the lads lose interest. If the boys in any one town are eager to engage in this activity not specified in the manual, but tending to bring out their latent good qualities the leaders of the movement keeping in touch with the development of the boys must arrange to make that play or work an official Scout activity. There are hundreds of questions pertaining to the Boy Scout Movement sent in every week. All those details must be worked out. A visit to the National Headquarters reveals most thoroughly and adequately attention is given to the boys' wants. It shows that while the Boy Scouts with their patrols and troops in every state are apparently greatly scattered, yet their interest in Scouting has been a system has been worked out so that the interest of every boy is appealed to. In other words, systematic supervision of the boys' play has been devised in a manner that suggests many and diverse lines of fun for him, but with the idea of developing self-reliance in his character. The National Headquarters has the help of 200 local councils in cities and towns throughout the country which attend to many details.

William H. Taft, President of the United States, is Honorary President of the organization. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, former President of the United States, is Honorary Vice-President. Men of all religions are backing the organization. Colin H. Livingstone, banker of Washington, D. C., is chairman of the executive board, and Ernest Thompson Seton whose writings appeal to the boys is Chief Scout. Daniel Carter Beard, favorite of the boys and artist, is National Scout Commissioner, also are William Verbeck, Adj.-General of New York State, and Colonel Peter S. Bonus, of New York City. George D. Pratt, who is head of the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, is treasurer of the organization. Among the vice-presidents are B. L. Dulaney, of Bristol, Tennessee, Professor D. S. Jordan, of Stanford University, California, William D. Murray is an active worker on the Editorial Board, he had charge of the scout manual. Mortimer L. Schiff, of Kahn, Loeb & Company, Bankers; August Belmont, bankers, Henry Rogers Winthrop, William Sloan, Charles D. Stickney and many others who are interested in the work. Many governors of the states have shown their enthusiasm over the movement. The interest of so many prominent men is proof of their conviction that no boy's movement has previously developed the great qualities of good that the Boy Scout organization has. The rapid growth of the organization is proof that the boys themselves find opportunities for wholesome fun and physical development. It is the belief of the leaders of the movement that under such supervision as the boys have they will develop into fine wholesome citizens.

ST. PAUL PLANS FOR LAND SHOW

From December 12 to December 23, inclusive, the Northwestern Land Products Show will be held in the St. Paul Auditorium under the auspices of the Northwestern Development League.

These dates have been announced after advices had been received from the various Western states and the dates of other shows and expositions had been considered. The dates selected give those who will exhibit in Chicago an opportunity to bring their exhibits here. The Chicago show closes December 9. The entire enterprise has but one object in view, according to officials of the league, to aid in the development of Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Alaska, it is more than simply a land show, hence the incorporated name will be the Northwestern Land Products Exhibit, and it may include not only those things grown but things taken from a mine. The show will be more than a mere instrument for the use of the land man in selling land. It will show graphically what can be produced on lands in the territory west of the Twin City, what it costs to produce the crops and the profits. St. Paul and Minneapolis business interests have pledged their co-operation on the theory that every man and every dollar put to work in the states interested will be a direct benefit to the local markets.

Heat Has Injured Canada's Crop.

The fruit report of the Department of Agriculture of Canada, shows that the heat and drought have had an adverse effect upon the crop in Ontario. The prospects for apples has diminished slightly since the preceding report except in British Columbia where the outlook has improved. It is now estimated that shipments from that province will be 85 per cent of last year's crop, which was very heavy. Apples are dropping heavily in some districts and "sun scald" has injured the fruit in counties north of Lake Erie and counties on Lake Huron and inland to York county. Nova Scotia still expects the heaviest crop on record as a result of the increased acreage and the heavy yield.—Fruit Trade Journal and Produce Record.

HIS TROUBLE NOT OF HEART

Real Facts in Regard to F. R. Huffman's Illness. Relief Obtained By Curing His Stomach Ailments.

Waynesville, N. C.—Mr. F. R. Huffman, of this city, says: "I suffered dreadfully with what I thought was heart trouble, and tried various medicines in vain. After other remedies had failed, Theodor's Black-Draught restored me to health. I would not feel safe without Black-Draught in the house. I consider it worth its weight in gold. It cured my indigestion, and by this means I was restored to health. I can not express my gratitude for its benefits."

Melton Fete for Mill Owners.

The directors of the Business Men's association are planning for a fruit and melon festival in honor of the directors of the Wasco Warehouse Milling company to be held within the next two weeks. The occasion will be to celebrate the building of the new mill, which is the largest industry in The Dalles. The progressiveness of stockholders in instructing their directors to "get busy and build a mill" means a great deal to The Dalles and should bring forth from the people in general a vote of thanks.—The Dalles Chronicle.

Camas Drain Ditch Begun.

Loads of heavy machinery are being freighted through this place, says a dispatch from White Salmon to the Portland Journal, to Camas prairie 30 miles north, for the purpose of digging a ditch seven miles long with necessary laterals. By draining Camas Lake 7,000 acres of rich, black loam will be added to the valuable area of the fertile Camas district. Burleson & Son of Tacoma have taken the ditching contract for $45,000. No sooner had the farmers got the drainage contract than they petitioned the county commissioners for the creation of an irrigation district. Surrounding the low, flat area that is under water well into the summer is a secondary bench of soil, for the irrigation of which the farmers control an inexhaustible supply of water. From 15,000 to 20,000 acres can be irrigated. Much of it will have to be cleared of timber.

Historical Institute At Astoria.

A Historical Institute will be held at Astoria in connection with the Centennial Celebration on September 5 and 7. Lectures will be given at the various points of historic interest so numerous about the mouth of the Columbia River, and many prominent people of the state who are fully interested in these subjects will deliver the addresses. This institute will be of interest particularly to teachers of the Pacific Northwest states.
