THE MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

The message of Mayor Wright to the members of the council gives a concise and comprehensive statement of the city's needs. Mr. Wright as a member of the council for the past six years is well versed in the city's affairs and his suggestions, fairminded and pertinent to modern needs, should receive the heartiest co-operation of councilmen and citizens.

The recommendations as to street building are perhaps the most important in the message. The most loyal citizen of the city cannot boast of the streets at present. We can say, "Just wait, we will have them soon." Let's all join in co-operative efforts with the mayor and council to make the coming Summer a record one for street improvement. And by all means, as Mr. Wright says, the streets should be so paved as to give through improved highways with the paved business center of the city. An expenditure on the improvement of the East Side grade will also be a wise movement.

In the press of other matters the committee appointed last year to make suggestions as to charter revision failed to report. However, with the winter months on, when business men find more available time for matters of civic interest, a committee should be appointed to thoroughly investigate the charter and point out the necessary revisions that should be made. Municipal matters have become far more complex than they were when the charter at present in force was adopted.

While bonds issued by the city of Hood River are perfectly safe, there are little defects in our charter that would make them many times more salable, and investors of money would buy them a great deal more readily than at present. Indeed, by a few slight remedies the city might be able to save in its bond interest, several thousand dollars; for by the remedying of defects a bid of a lower rate of interest might be secured.

All of these can and should be accomplished as soon as possible. The bonds should be sold before the Summer's work opens up. The first half of the year is always the best for selling bond issues; for at this time there is more money to invest.

The city council and the mayor have a great work before them this year. The water situation must be brought to a final head and the municipal plant begun. However, close harmony and co-operation on the part of all will bring about the desired results.

THE BOND ISSUE

In another column of this issue of the Glacier appears a communication from C. L. Rogers, with criticisms on the issue of bonds proposed by County Judge Culbertson for the building of good roads. The communication in the main is correct. Even though the county could afford it, the building of a public dock should await a time when we need it. When The Dalles-Celilo canals is completed, then will be time to talk of a dock, and a site can be secured just as easily then as now. Mr. Rogers is a little too severe in his treatment of the river boat lines. Undoubtedly the boats do pay their taxes into the coffers of Multnomah county, but they are of benefit to Hood River county, because of their regulation of freight rates.

The issue as proposed by the county judge will undoubtedly be voted down, jjudging by the public sentiment against it at the present time. However, the building of better roads in the valley is surely coming and the most economic and practical way of raising funds will be by bonding. The fact that Hood River county's property valuation has increased so rapidly is rather a sign of prosperity in the community than a cause for argument against the bonds. A system of good roads throughout the Valley will save the fruit growers great sums each year for they can thus more cheaply move their apples. Furthermore the comfort in which they can travel will go far toward making return for the outlay.

If the city fathers see their way clear, as was suggested by Mayor Wright in his message, some steps should be taken toward assisting the Volunteer Fire Department. The greater number of the members of the department are young business men of the city. Rarely does a conflagration occur that several of the do not ruin clothing. The most of them are only earning salaries, which are not so large that they can replace this loss without sacrifice. Aid from the city in purchasing slickers and helmets should be appreciated by the community.

The suggestion of State Superintendent Alderman to Oregon's teachers, if it receives a due co-operation from the teachers of the state, should be of vast benefit to the state as a whole. Any undertaking that interests country children in country industries, the tilling of the soil and the raising of crops, should receive the encouragement of all. The experience will not only be the best teacher for the children, but they may, exerting their young minds to the utmost, bent on winning the contests, point out a few ways to their grain growing and apple raising dads.

Hood River weather has been balmy compared with that east of the Cascades. The temperature has gone far below zero. Dixie Land has even been chilled by zero weather. An optimistic contemporary has said that we of Oregon should feel fortunate. "In Alaska," said the editor, it is so cold that the Esquimeaux were afraid to pull their stockings off to hang them up for St. Nicholas, while in Zulu the native never had a stocking."

There should be a general rejoicing among the fishermen of this part of the state. All Oregon streams from Hood River to the sea, with the exception of the Willamette, have been closed to commercial fishing.

Cheer up! In sixty days we'll see the flowers blooming.

COCHRAN, CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Geo. T. Cochran, who is state Water Superintendent, has announced that he will be a candidate to represent the Second Oregon district in Congress. Mr. Cochran, whose home is at La Grande, was in the Phillipines three years in the government service. His father was for about three years a resident of Hood River.

In making his announcement Mr. Cochran says: "A solution of our National irrigation problem, an Alaskan policy that will permit of present as well as future benefit, a more liberal public land policy for the development of our arid lands and the benefit of the home builder, and a continuing appropriation for the Celilo Canal and the opening of the Columbia river, will have my earnest support.

"I have been over Eastern Oregon thoroughly, fulfilling my duties as Superintendent of Water Division No. 2, and have carefully observed the needs of Eastern Oregon in the solution of the problem of its future development, the extension of its irrigated area, and the encouragement of further settlement of our public lands.

"As I have been a progressive Water Superintendent, and have sought to apply the public waters of the State so as to make two blades grow where one before has grown, I am also a progressive Republican, and I pledge the people of my State that no measure shall have my support which does not have their endorsement, and which does not tend to their improvement.

"The people of Eastern Oregon are aware of the difficulty of the homesteader upon the public domain, to earn a living from the homestead for the entire period of five years. I believe that the homestead laws should be amended so as to permit each homesteader to to enter at least 320 acres, and that the residence requirement should be reduced to three years. This is partially true in other sections of the Western States, and no good reason appears why Oregon should not have the benefit as well. Further, every man should have a right by law to leave his homestead for six months out of every year, to work for the support of his family if he so desires.

"I believe an Alaskan policy should be so framed as will develop that country at the expense of neither the present nor the future, but that the people of the present generation, as well as of the future, should have the moral right to enjoy the benefits derived from its vast store-house of natural resources."

MISS LYMAN'S STORIES DELIGHT CHILDREN

Hood River children spent a delightful half hour yesterday afternoon listening to the stories of Miss Edna Lyman, of Chicago, Ill, who also appeared at the Congregational church last night, where she again told interesting stories, pleasing to old folks as well as children. Miss Lyman's program began at 2:45 o'clock, when she began by telling animal stories to the children from the lower grades of the city schools, which were dismissed for the occasion. The Illinois story teller has a pleasing voice and the stories are told with a vim that gets the interest of the audience from the very beginning. It was a pretty spectacle yesterday afternoon to watch the upturned faces of the youngsters sparkling with animation as they listened to the tales of the mole, the tiger and their brother animals. The little folks also listened to the tales that have made Selma Lager Lof famous and the story of the merry Robin Hood, who wore the Lincoln Green and won the Sheriff's Golden Arrow for his excellent archery.

At the conclusion of the stories told the grammar school children a short recess was held, allowing the youngsters to file out of the assembly hall of the Commercial Club. The room was quckly filled with students of the Eighth Grade and High School. The subject of the latter talk, was, "Changing Heroes."

FLUFFY BARN OWL JOINS STORE FORCE

"What do you think of the new member of our force," said Mr. Huelat, of the Bragg Mercantile Co. yesterday, pointing to the top of a tapestry rack, where a common barn owl sat wrapped in contented slumber, evidently enjoying the warm atmosphere of the room. The fluffy owl flew into a back window of the store Saturday evening and has been contentedly making his quarters there since. He was willing to work for his lodging and the store management was glad to make him a member of the force. On the first night he began his depredations on the mice and rats of the building and the family of rodents is in a panic.

Nuns Solicit East.

The Chief of Police ordered two women who said they were nuns to leave Cincinnati late last Friday afternoon. They gave their names as Sister Maria Theresa and Sister Maria Gertrude and said that they were collecting funds for a hospital at Portland, Ore.

A priest who questioned them said he believed they were Catholic sisters, but they should have had credentials from the archbishop of their diocese.

Sister Theresa is not recognized by the Catholic Church in Oregon, says the Oregonian. Recently she started a campaign to build a home for consumptives at Oak Grove and it is believed that her mission to the East is for the purpose of securing funds for that project. Archbishop Christie says the woman was acting without the sanction of the Catholic Church in soliciting funds for the proposed hospital.

The two sisters were in Hood River last Summer and solicited funds from local business men.

Forest Supervisors to Meet.

Forest supervisors, the heads of 26 national forests of the Pacific Northwest and Alaska, will meet in Portland January 22 for a week's conference on the administration of lands under their jurisdiction. Chief Forester Graves, of Washington, D. C. will give addresses.

Railroad Mileage Increases.

Railroad mileage in Oregon has increased at a remarkable rate during the past few years and the outlook for 1912 is most encouraging. According to the report of the State Railroad Commission, there were 2382 miles of railways in Oregon at the end of June 1910. By the end of December, 1911, this had grown to 2883 miles.

Prof. Gibson to Lecture.

THE BILLS.

HERE'S the postman with the bills,
Monthly bills.
At his coming now my solar plexus thrills.
How it trembles, trembles, trembles
With a sting of quaking fright
As the miseries he assembles
(While my tragic face resembles
A storm threatened, starless night)
Seem to climb, climb, climb
To an altitude sublime,
Heaping till they make a ghostly range of frigid looming hills
Of the bills, bills, bills, bills,
Bills, bills, bills—
Heart distressing, soul depressing unpaid bills.

Here are yellow wedding bills—
Golden bills!
What a world of weariness their quantity instills!
Though they're reminiscent, quite,
Of a time of pure delight,
Now they make me madly note,
And all in vain,
That I must have been the goat
When those turtledoves were married. Do they gloat
O'er my pain?
Oh, these bills are bitter pills!
What a juicy fang's account their liquidation kills!
How it chills!
How it spills
Into nothing! How it rills
Into bill collectors' tills
While these endless checks I'm drawing,
Paying bills, bills, bills,
Paying bills, bills, bills, bills,
Bills, bills, bills—
As the color keeps retreating from my gills!

—Philadelphia Ledger.

Needed the Ride.

"Stop!" cried the man in the road. "You are exceeding the speed limit."

"That's all nonsense," retorted Binks, bringing his car to a standstill.

"That's what they all say," said the man in the road, climbing into the car. "You can tell your story to the magistrate at Hinkstown—just seven miles up the road. Start along, please."

They drove on in silence to Hinkstown, where as the car drew up in front of the courthouse the man in the road got out.

"Much obliged for the lift," said he. "You can settle that matter of speed with the magistrate if you want to. As a stranger in these parts I don't think my word would go for much."—Harper's Weekly.

A Noble Boy.

Harold, aged nine, came home one day so bruised and dirty that his mother was thrown into a state of marked perturbation.

"Mercy!" she exclaimed in horror. "How on earth, my child, did you get your clothes and face into such a state?"

"I was trying to keep a little boy from getting licked," was Harold's virtuous if hesitating reply.

"Well, that was fine!" said his mollified parent. "I am proud of you, sonny. Who was the little boy?"

"Me."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Erratic.

"One objection, it seems to me, against being a great man," said the person who habitually does his thinking along erratic lines, "is that after a sinlesman has made footprints on the sands of time it keeps him busy trying to obliterate them."—Puck.

Germs Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

We have had experience with many remedies for skin trouble but have never seen such remarkable cures as those from D. D. D. Prescription. Instant relief from the very first application.

We are so confident that D. D. D. will reach your case that it will cost you nothing if the very first full size bottle fails to make good every claim.

If you have skin trouble of any kind, we certainly advise you to drop in and investigate the merits of D. D. D. anyway. We know that D. D. D. will help you.
