THE FRUIT COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The Whole Northwest was very eagerly awaiting the report of the committee of Hood River apple growers...

A SUCCESSFUL UNION

A successful selling union, such as the Hood River Valley growers maintain, is an institution to be very proud of indeed.

A union to be successful must work absolutely for the interests of the men who really grow the fruit.

The successful selling union is often bootstrapped. It is often declared that it cannot be made a success.

At the time the Hood River Gas & Electric took over the local holdings of the Pacific Power & Light Co., a published statement of the president of the former declared it to be an absolutely independent concern.

The Rogue River Fruit Grower says that the manager of the Rogue River Fruit & Produce Association, to impress passengers on the Southern Pacific trains, has erected three large useless storage houses along the tracks.

The prayers of the Californians have been answered, rain is falling over the entire state and their crops will be saved.

Hood River growers have made their reputation and naturally object to being used as a starting horse in selling schemes.—Oregonian.

HOOD RIVER GETS NUMBER OF COLONISTS

Although the colonists rates have been effective but seven days, J. H. Fredrick, local agent of the O.-W. R. & N. Co., states that five families have already come to Hood River.

MR. BENSON'S OFFER.

The offer of Mr. Benson to donate the sum of $10,000 toward the construction of the Portland-Hood River road is an opportunity that Hood River and Multnomah counties should not lose sight of.

LOCAL SCOUTS WILL SEE BADEN-POWELL

The members of the three troops of Boy Scouts organized last year by Rector Edmund T. Simpson, of the St. Mark's Episcopal church, will leave tomorrow afternoon for Portland, where they will be reviewed by General Sir Baden-Powell, of England, who is making a tour of the world in the interest of the Scout movement.

The local troops will be accompanied by Scout Master Simpson. They will appear in parade before the foundation of the organization along with troops from many other northwestern cities.

Charles Lage Succumbs

Charles Frederick Lage, youngest son of Hans Lage, one of the pioneer orchardists of the East Side, succumbed here last Thursday at the Cottage hospital from the effects of an operation for appendicitis several weeks ago.

The deceased, who had reached the age of 24 years and 11 months, finished the tenth grade of the local public schools in 1905, when he went to Portland, taking a course in the Henke-Walker business college, afterward returning to the ranch, where he spent his time until seized with the fatal illness.

THE PAPER MILL

With rail and waterway transportation Mr. Goodenough, who suggests that Hood River is an ideal location for a mill for the manufacture of high grade paper, recalls that the raw materials may be laid down as cheaply here as at the towns of the Middle West, from which the west coast secures the greater portion of its papers now.

Bond Issue May Be Sold

Although the Portland firm, the bid of which was accepted by the city for the $75,000 bond issue, the proceeds of which were to be used in redeeming the warrants issued for the payment of the water plant secured by condemnation proceedings from the Pacific Power & Light Co., notified the recorder last week that they could not accept the bonds, the manager has written to Recorder Howe, asking that all former communications be returned.

Miss Aleta Shaw, of Portland, arrived yesterday for a visit with Miss Bee Smith.

E. E. Covert, who was here last week to confer with county officials relative to accepting the offer of S. B. Hood River road, says that when it is constructed, automobiles traveling from Portland and other northwestern cities will make use of it in going to California instead of traveling down through the Willamette Valley.

The Upper Valley citizens were made jubilant last Friday when J. F. Candee, the carrier, inaugurated the rural delivery service of that section of the county. The new route begins at Parkdale.

Order to Publish.

In the County Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Hood River. In the matter of the Guardianship of Hope Moseley, Minor, Order to Publish.

Now, therefore, it is hereby ordered that the next of kin of said ward and all persons interested in said estate, appear before this court on Saturday, the 30th day of March, 1912, at ten o'clock a. m. in the courtroom of this court, in the city of Hood River, Oregon, to show cause, if any there be, why an order should not be made for the sale, at private sale, for the best and highest price obtainable therefor, of the one-third interest in real property owned by said minor.

A ROYAL FLUTE PLAYER.

Frederick the Great Used to Move His Auditors to Tears.

Abdul Hamid used to amuse himself while he was enjoying life at Yildiz kiosk by strutting "Il Trovatore" on the piano. George III, was fond of shouting the melodies of Handelian choruses for the delectation of his court, but the world has seen no real royal musician since Frederick the Great played his last tune on his flute.

Toward the end of the Seven Years' war he sat down to play in a quartet and all persons interested in said estate by said minor, in the County of Hood River, Oregon, to show cause, if any there be, why an order should not be made for the sale, at private sale, for the best and highest price obtainable therefor, of the one-third interest in real property owned by said minor.

LET IN THE LIGHT.

Darkened Rooms Are Too Suggestive of Darkened Lives.

Fresh air enthusiasts are familiar enough to most of us, but we hear less of enthusiasm for light. Darkened parlors, darkened bedrooms, darkened sick rooms are too common, says the Christian Herald.

ROOSEVELT SUPPORT SMALL LOCALLY

Until Col. Roosevelt made his announcement for the presidency for the third time, he had the greatest respect of a great many local men. The local sentiment now is that the Rough Rider, Globe trotter, and Ex-President has broken his word, and the admiration for him has diminished very rapidly.

Chas. T. Early, chairman of the local County Central Republican Committee, states that the "Laf. Committee" is more than pleased with the local outlook and that "Teddy" supporters are few, indeed.

SULZER BILL WILL MEET WITH DEFEAT

A dispatch from Washington states that the eastern commission men, who are backing the Sulzer bill, which will have a hearing today, agree to compromise with the host of western opponents, provided they cease their attacks and all references to the western bill will be dropped out. However it is probable that the western growers will not agree to this.

Blowers Will Not Be Candidate.

Although many friends in Hood River and Wasco counties have written Lawrence N. Blowers, of the Blowers Hardware Co., asking him to become a candidate for congress from this district, Mr. Blowers states that he will not be a candidate.
