E. O. BLANCHAR ELECTED MAYOR

BUSINESS MEN PLEDGE SUPPORT

Lack of Water Presents Council with Serious Question—Charter Amendment Election Tuesday, May 7.

By a unanimous vote of the city council E. O. Blanchar was elected to the position of Mayor of the city Monday night to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. M. Wright, which was accepted Monday night. The council acted on a petition, signed by 168 of the electors of the city, which reads as follows:

"We the undersigned citizens of Hood River, Oregon, realizing that our worthy Mayor, Mr. J. M. Wright, has tendered his resignation as mayor of our city, and realizing the importance of having a representative body in our council, who has the interest of the progress of the city at heart, respectfully request that your honorable body appoint and elect our worthy citizen, Mr. E. O. Blanchar, as mayor of the city of Hood River, Oregon, and in signing our names to this petition we promise our moral and civic support to his administration."

Mr. Blanchar, who is cashier of the First National bank, was formerly a member of the city council and has always been a leader in the progressive movements of the city and valley, having been a member of the board of directors of the Commercial club last year and the year before. According to the report of Councilman Robertson for the fire and water committee, the city is facing a serious problem in that there will not be sufficient water for the sprinkling of lawns from now until June 1, when the filter system, it is hoped, will be installed, unless the council takes action to increase the supply by renting the ten acres of ground formerly used for the purpose and securing 10 inches of the Farmers Irrigating Co. water, which will be turned over to the tract and allowed to percolate to the city spring. Councilman Robertson stated that personally he did not desire to see his lawn die, but that the committee would make no recommendation.

Councilman Brosius, who as president of the body presided at Monday night's meeting, immediately left the chair, asking Councilman Huggins to preside. "The report of the fire and water committee has brought home to me," he said, "the fact that the past three years' work, a large amount of money has been expended in the purchase of a filter to be installed to give the city pure water. But now it seems that we propose to stultify our whole record. If this is done I shall promptly resign."

Councilman Stuten then took the floor and stating that he could appreciate the position of Dr. Brosius said that he was sorry Councilman Brosius had taken such a stand. "I do not consider that the council will stultify its former action. This is a case of emergency. Unless we take this means for increasing the water supply, the city's lawns will die, the city will become as barren as a desert instead of a city beautiful. The revenue will more than pay for the cost of taking the action," he said.

Councilman Robertson said: "No one in the city is in favor of a pure water supply than I am. It is every one's duty to take an emergency action. I have been boiling my water for the past several years and I am willing to continue it for the next few months. The filters have to be shipped from the far east. It may be that they will not arrive here by June 1, but we have no guarantee of it and we may have to wait longer for it. The superintendent of the city water department tells me that the water is at a very low stage and that we are facing a serious emergency. I will take his word for these things. As to the purity of the system, I must give my attention to Dr. Brosius, but under the serious emergency, I think we should undertake to secure more water. I would rather build the water than see the shrubbery die."

Councilman Stuten then asked Councilman Brosius if he had any suggestions as to how the city could secure water except by the action proposed by the fire and water committee. "It is purely a question of the health of the citizens of this city," was the president of the council's reply. Action on the matter was deferred for a week.

The ordinance for the calling of a special election to vote on the proposed extension of the limit of the city's indebtedness from $5,000 to $10,000 and the proposed legalizing of a special indebtedness of $40,000 are now in operation in the city had its final passage Monday night. The date of the election is set for Tuesday, May 7.

The street committee reported that Connor & Son had been granted the contract, having been the lowest bidder, for the construction of concrete sidewalks and curbs on Thirteenth street on the Heights. Dubson & Hatch secured the contract for grading the street.

City health officer, Dr. J. Edgington, reported that he had secured a communication from Dr. Calvin White, who stated that the Tucker spring water was pure by examination of the state board of health. He asked that this be made matter of record.

Mrs. Wm. M. Stewart, chairman of the library committee of the Woman's club and Miss McLaren, president of the club, were present at the meeting and submitted to the council an ordinance providing for the appointment of a library board, composed of six citizens of the city. The woman's club now has funds to the amount of $900 available for library purposes. By this fall, it was stated, the fund would reach the sum of $1,200.

Citizens living on Cascade avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, petitioned that the curb and sidewalk district be extended to include that portion of Cascade avenue. Their petition was referred to the street committee on motion of Councilman Mayes.

STANLEY-SMITH TO INCREASE FORCE
The Stanley-Smith Lumber company will make a large increase in the force of men to work at Green Point lumber camp and sawmills this season. It is planned that they employ about 300 men during the spring, summer and fall months. Robert Stone, who is in charge of the logging camp, has been taking additional equipment to the forests. Last week the company had transported to the scene of operations a huge donkey engine, weighing seven and a half tons. Twenty-three thousand pounds of cable were also taken to Green Point. The company already has a number of huge donkeys in operation there for dragging the logs to the mill. The loggers will begin work May 1, and the sawmills will open the middle of the month.

The lumber sawed by the Stanley-Smith Co. is flumed down to the Belmont place and to Ruthton, where it is loaded on cars on the O. W. R. & N. tracks. Alex Reid is superintendent of the Green Point mill.

WED'NEATH SHOWERS OF APPLE BLOSSOMS

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Caulfield, on Eighth and Center streets, was the scene of a wedding on Thursday evening, April 18, when their daughter, Miss Edna Jane, became the wife of Louis Alfred Henderson, of Hood River. The impressive ceremony, which was witnessed by members of the families of the contracting parties, was performed by Rev. George Nelson Edwards, pastor of the Congregational church. The ushers were Raymond and Wallace Caulfield, brothers of the bride.

The marriage ceremony was performed in the bay window of the parlor and this formed into a bower of sweet-briar and apple blossoms. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Miss Louise Bentley, the bridal party entered the parlor from the reception hall. The bride, leaning on the arm of her father, Charles H. Caulfield, was preceded by her sister, Miss Clara Caulfield, who acted as bridesmaid, and a maid of honor. Beneath the archway in the parlor they were met by the bridegroom and his best man, Sidney Henderson, of Eugene, brother of Mr. Henderson, where the ceremony was performed.

FINEST OF HORSES AT M'CAN STABLES

In an article dealing with the horse industry in the state of Oregon, the Sunday Oregonian makes the following mention of Cap. C. P. McCan's horses: "Last year Captain C. P. McCan, of Hood River, a young man of wealth, who was attracted to Oregon country and established his home in the happy valley of apples, determined to become a breeder of fine horses. So he bought The Patchen Boy (3), 2:10, a good pacer and a successful sire and a son of the century sire, Wilkes Boy, Francis J., p. 2:08, added laurels last season to his honors.

"Captain McCan wished to bring a trotting sire of the first rank to the Pacific coast, he attended the New York sale and in 1911 paid $11,000 for The Bondman, sire of the world's champion 2-year-old trotter, Colorado E., 2:04, and many other distinguished race horses and futurity winners. So The Bondman is owned in Oregon."

GEORGE F. COE PASSES AWAY

The funeral services of Geo. F. Coe, who died early Saturday morning, were conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. J. R. Hargreaves, pastor of the Heights Baptist church, at rest at the Idlewild cemetery. Mr. Coe had been suffering from an illness for some weeks.

The deceased, who was a descendant of Robert Coe, the initial founder of the company, who brought his family from England to New England in the general movement for religious freedom in the year 1624, came to Oregon from Michigan about 25 years ago. Mrs. Coe died just about one year ago. Mr. Coe leaves surviving four children—Mrs. H. M. Metcalf, of Washington, Wash., Mrs. G. E. Bowerman, Miss Eleanor and Fred G. Coe, of this valley.

ORCHARD COMPANY CHANGES NAME

The corporate name of the Oregon Apple Company of Hood River has been changed to the Upper Valley Apple Co. of Hood River. The officers of the company under its new name are: Walton A. Green, president; Mrs. A. K. Baker, vice president; W. N. Winter, secretary-treasurer. The other directors are E. C. Smith and M. Yasin.

H. C. Allen was formerly president of the company, which owns a large tract of the Upper Valley land. Fred McCrean, who was vice president of the company last year, had charge of the clearing operations last summer, made about 30 acres of the land ready for planting.

Mr. Green, who came here last year and who spent the summer connected with the orchard company work, will move to the Upper Valley and have in charge of the work to be done this summer.

TWO REALTY DEALS DURING THE WEEK

W. S. Nichol made the sale of the W. S. Nichol and C. G. Nichol place, one half mile beyond Bloucher on the Mount Hood railroad, eight and one half miles out, consisting of 40 acres, with 29 acres in trees from one to five years old, to L. D. Boyd, the Odell, erchardist and contractor, at the price of $12,000. W. S. Nichol taking the old Watt home place on state street as part payment. Mr. Boyd took possession Tuesday.

ELECTION RESULTS CAUSE SURPRISE

RECOUNT IS FINISHED ON MONDAY

Patnam, Johnson and Kay Win the Local Races—Sinnott, Bell, Butler, Anderson and Stranahan Nominees.

Roosevelt was the choice of the Oregon Republican voters for the presidency and Wilson the choice of Democrats. Roosevelt's plurality over Taft was about 7,000 votes, while he only beat La Follette by about 5,000. The strong running of Roosevelt and La Follette was very much of a surprise to Oregon Taft supporters. Roosevelt carried Hood River county, getting 295 votes, while Taft secured 224 and La Follette 239. The vote for Democratic candidates in the county was, Wilson 82, Clark 52 and Harmon 6. Harmon received a like vote in most of the counties of the state.

Twenty-four counties were carried by Roosevelt, seven by Taft and three by La Follette. In addition to carrying seven counties Taft ran second in 18 and third in seven. La Follette carried Multnomah, Jackson and Josephine. Taft carried Crook, Harney, Morrow, Polk, Sherman, Yamhill and Wheeler, but in Wheeler and Crook there is a difference only of a few votes. Roosevelt carried Baker, Benton, Clackamas, Columbia, Clatsop, Coos, Curry, Douglas, Gilliam, Grant, Hood River, Klamath, Lake, Lane, Lincoln, Linn, Malheur, Marion, Tillamook, Umatilla, Union, Wallowa, Wasco and Washington.

Wasco was Multnomah county that rolled up the big La Follette vote. Examination shows that La Follette carried the east and west sides of the river and also the precincts outside of Portland in this county. In this connection it may be explained that La Follette's name was within an ace of being left off the primary ballot in Oregon. Thomas McCusker, La Follette's manager, supposed he had enough names on the petition until Monday before it was necessary to file the petition with the secretary of state. McCusker did not have the required number of signatures on the petition until 11 o'clock the night before he caught the first morning train for Salem.

Harry Lane and Ben Selling will be the leaders respectively of the Democrats and Republicans at the general election this fall for the United States senate from Oregon. Votes cast here in this race were: Republican—Selling 425, Bourne 199, Lowell 109 and Meriton 53; Democratic—Lane 93, Coehow 19, Pierce 18 and Miller 6. E. J. Sinnott, of The Dalles, ran far ahead of his opponents here in the race for congressional nomination for the second district. The votes in this race for Hood River county were: Sinnott 285, Ellis 122, Cochran 125, Busk 111 and Roosevelt 35. For Democratic congressional candidate C. C. Covey received 74 votes and James Harvey Graham 47. Sinnott ran well in other counties and has the nomination. E. R. Butler, of The Dalles, who also ran far ahead in his own county, defeated D. J. Cooper, also of The Dalles, for the Republican nomination or state senator. The Democrats had no candidate. Although Ernest G. Smith received a large vote in his home county here as well as in Crook county, Wells A. Bell secured such a majority in Wasco county, his home county, that he secured the nomination. The Hood River vote in this race was, Smith 52, Bell 160 and Pepper 69. In the three counties for county offices Murray Kay won the nomination for county surveyor, receiving 409 votes, while Louis A. Henderson received only 338. J. R. Putnam was the successful candidate for commissioner, he having 331 votes, Friday 277 and Wishart 171. Thomas F. Johnson received the largest vote of any one in the county, having 419 votes, polling 418 votes in this district. W. E. Hanson had no opposition. His vote was 700. Frank A. Bishop received for county treasurer the nomination with 717 votes. Prof. C. B. Thompson was nominated county school superintendent. One of the interesting contests came as a result of a joke played on B. E. Dumeau. His friends put him up for coroner. He received 40 votes.

However, the name of Dr. H. L. Dumble was written in the name of the labor of holding inquests will not be forced upon Mr. Dumeau, despite the fact his friends put his hat in the ring.

A. G. Buck was nominated for justice of the peace and E. S. Olinger for constable.

J. E. Anderson, of Wasco, and C. H. Stranahan, of this county, were the candidates for the nomination for state representative from this district. J. M. Schultzer made a strong race in this county but ran behind in Wasco. The official count for this county gave Schmetzer 498, Stranahan 471, Anderson 15, Brodie 10 and Moore 4.

Other votes for Republican offices in the county by the official recount, which was completed Monday afternoon, were:

Presidential elector, M. J. MacMahon 507, Secretary of state—Fergus 273 and J. Scott 391. Justice of supreme court, Robert Kalkie 69. Dairy and food commissioner, Cattel 250, Edwards 72, Lee 190 and Mickle 245. Railroad commission, Atchison 454, Schuflerman 88 and Stanton 136. National convention delegates, Ackerson, Bynon, Hall, McCusker and Smith led with the respective votes of 162, 98, 62, 95 and 74.

Dr. Edgington received a small vote for coroner. His name having been written on both Democratic and Republican ballots. Dr. E. D. Kanaga also was put on the ballot by having his name written in a number of times. The first woman ever voted for in Hood River county is Mrs. J. M. Culbertson, who received a single vote for county school superintendent.

Rusk and Cochran, his opponents in the Congressional race, have written to Nominee Sinnott, expressing their appreciation of his straightforward, clean race and offering their support for the canvass in the general election.
