Combined Luncheons Are Successful

The combined luncheon of the University club last Saturday was attended by about fifty of the business men of the city and people from the country. The lunch was served on a long table in the center of the Assembly hall by A. M. Boyce.

The luncheons are not served exclusively for the members of the two clubs but for any of the citizens of the valley and their friends. It is expected that they will prove very successful. Because of the Blossom Festival next Saturday no luncheon will be served.

Traveling Hen Still Lays

Two hens, a Barred Rock and a White Leghorn, used on the G. A. C. poultry demonstration car to illustrate the types of good layers, as compared with poor laying individuals of the same breeds, have been laying regularly the whole two weeks that the car has been on the road, giving demonstrations before some 11,000 people in 26 towns and cities. It is now on another fortnight's journey, on which it will make 24 additional stops. During all this time the good little Bitches have not missed a day in their egg production, while the poor layers, though receiving the same food and care, have not laid an egg.

Mr. Hill will leave at two o'clock to cross the river and take a North Bank train for his country home at Mary Hill. He is acknowledged the greatest and best versed road builder in the northwest and among the best in the United States. It is urged that all the road supervisors of the county, the county judge and commissioners be present for the address.

The organization was formed in Portland about 12 years ago and the coming gathering will be of interest to all photographers.

ELKS TO ENTERTAIN VISITING BROTHERS

Hood River Elks were called together last Friday afternoon by J. H. Fredrick to discuss plans for the entertainment of the many visiting brothers who will come to Oregon to attend the Grand Convention at Portland in July. The Hood River "Best People" have planned to hang out the latch string to all who attend the convention. "We can handle 500 a day here with automobile trips through the valley," said Mr. Fredrick. "If they will come." The Mount Hood railroad company has offered to run special trains over its line through the orchards. E. O. Blanchard, Carl Vaughan, C. P. Ross, J. B. Hunt, C. H. Stranahan, R. D. Gould, H. H. Hadlock and Arthur Clarke were appointed on committees to entertain the visitors.

MAY SUNSET DEALS WITH OREGON

Oregon and Portland come in for extensive notice in the May issue of Sunset—the Pacific Monthly—which is just off the press. Practically the whole magazine, in fact, is given over to stories of Oregon.

The leading article by Samuel Evans, entitled "The Breath of the Chinook," is a splendid treatise on Portland and the country contiguous to it. After reviewing the history of the state and city and marshaling its resources, Evans declares that Portland is a "predestined city" and will develop into one of the great communities of the nation.

In his story of Mount Hood and the automobile routes leading to it, Randall Howard draws a vivid work picture of the framed peak. A Phanne is the author of another story devoted strictly to Oregon. He tells of the Oregon orchards owned by baseball players who now wear or have worn the Chicago White Sox uniform. "Bill" Hanley of eastern Oregon is the subject of a character sketch by Colonel C. E. S. Wood.

The magazine is beautifully illustrated. The cover carries the portrait of a young woman holding a bunch of Oregon roses, and below it is the legend, "Oregon's Roses and Riches."

WEST SIDERS TO HEAR STRAWBERRY TALK

The members of the West Side Improvement Club will meet next Tuesday at the Oak Grove hall, when the chief topic of discussion will be strawberry culture. The announcements recently issued to the members of the club say: "Do not fail to attend the strawberry meeting. E. N. Benson, the recognized strawberry authority, will address the growers on the A. B. C. of strawberry culture, embracing such topics as the advisability of spraying—effect of rust on yield—early or late topping—spring cultivation—when to irrigate. The organization has about 300 members and a large and enthusiastic audience is expected to be present."

Hymn to Titanic Survivors

Hall Caine, the famous English novelist, has written the following hymn for the newspapers of the International News Service, under the title: HYMN FOR SURVIVORS OF THE TITANIC.

(To the tune of "God Our Help in Ages Past.")

Lord of the everlasting hills,
God of the boundless sea,
Help us through all the shocks of fate,
To keep our trust in Thee.

When nature's unrelenting arm
Sweeps us like withes away,
Maker of man, be thou our strength,
And our eternal stay.

When blind insensate, heartless force,
Puts out our passing breath,
Make us to see thy guiding light,
In darkness and in death.

Beneath the roll of soundless waves,
Our best and bravest lie;
Give us to feel their spirits live,
Immortal in the sky.

We are thy children, frail and small,
Formed of the lowly sod;
Comfort our bruised and bleeding souls,
Father and Lord and God.
