

AYERS RECOMMENDS SAND-CLAY ROADS For the Clearance "To the farmer better roads fre-quently mean the difference between affluence and bankruptcy," said Prof. Ernest Flagg Ayres, highway engineer of the Oregon Agricultural College in a lecture this week to the summer -Sale= Are you so fortunate as to be well satisfied with your nein farmer tatoes in his cellar waiting fo hair? Is it long enough, price. He was offered 92 cen n good price. He was offered 92 conts in March but they must be delivered in town, and the roads were so bad he ould not haul over them. When he inally got them to market his potatoes rought him 30 cents a bushel. The ad roads cost him $620, and now he is a such how they for any me Whale Oil Soap thick enough, rich enough? And your hair does not fall out? Well, well, that is good. But you may know of some not so fortunate. Then just bad roads cost nim eace, and now he is an ardent booster for any movement promising relief. "While the farmer receives as great financial gain from good roads as any one, he has the added social benefits. Under the present conditions it is often impossible for his children to go to school regularly, his family to go to church except when the roads are dried out, his doctor to teach him in time to be of most help, or his mail to be delivered regularly. With better roads this can all be charged, and graded schools and larger churches al-ways follow these improvements. "It is not necessary that a great deal of money be spent on our high-ways, but what is invested should be used carefully and intelligently. A few dollars spent at the right time will save repairs costing hundreds, and most of the roads where there is no heavy travel may be improved in this way." M- Avres then described the protent booster for any movement tell them about Ayer's Hair Watts Formaldehyde Tree Soap Vigor. They will surely thank you after using it, if not before.
