PLANTING METHODS TO AVOID BLIGHT

Only in Oregon and in some few places in Washington and Idaho is the western tomato blight known, nowhere else in the world. It has been serious throughout eastern Oregon and along the Columbia. It is recognized by the wilting and curling of the foliage. It is generally apparent in a recent lecture. It generally appears late in the spring after the plant has reached good growth but before the fruit has matured. The leaves roll up and the whole plant has a purplish appearance. Plants rarely mature and fruit if this disease attacks them. The fungus fastens on the roots. By doing away with the seed bed and planting direct in the field 80 per cent or 90 per cent of the plants will remain healthy whereas when set from seed beds and transplanted, only a small percentage survive. This leads us to believe that the disease takes hold only when there has been some slight injury to the roots. The development of a resistant strain has been used as a remedy in dealing with a similar case which affects watermelons and other plants, and might prove successful in coping with tomato blight.

The First Christmas

The little poem appearing below was written by Edward Hill, the artist, and mailed to his only granddaughter, little Lois Marie Hill, aged three months, of Victoria, B. C.

'Tis your first "Christmas Day" in this great world! Did you come from the angels, on gossamer wing, And a message of love to each one bring? Thou art sweet as a rosebud with petals uncured, As pure as a dew drop and bright as a star. As a rest in your nest like a dove from afar. 'Tis the noise and confusion throughout the house, While thou art softly cooing, or still as a mouse. What can you be thinking of in all that whirl? You sweet little cherub, you dear little girl!

Alleged Horse Thief Gives Trouble

Samuel Winsted, who was arrested at Husum, Wash., where he had been working on the Northwestern dam, gave local officers a small amount of trouble on New Year's day, when after escaping from the city prison he hid in the lumber yard of the Stanley-Smith Co. Winsted is charged with stealing horses on the Warm Springs reservation.

It is not known how the man broke from the city prison. He was released from the steel cell while he ate his breakfast and was left alone there. It is thought he secured a bolt from the ashes in the stove, a lot of old building material having been burned there, and used it to pry open the door. The officers gave chase and traced the man to the Stanley-Smith lumber yard. It was thought that he had proceeded to the Bridal Veil yards. However, a search there failed to reveal him. The officers then returned to the Stanley-Smith yard. They were on the point of giving up the search, when Sheriff Johnson, crawling on his hands and knees under the floor of the barn and prodding with a sharp pointed stick in the dark corners found the escaped prisoner stowed away under a sill, like a rat in hiding. Allen Hart, deputy sheriff, made the arrest at the camp of the Northwestern Electric Co.

Troubles of New Year's Day

A local man, forgetting that it was New Year's day and needing a new suit of clothes for an evening function, proceeded to a store last week to purchase the garments. Finding that the door was locked he made a search for a salesman. The latter heard of the search and made a search for the man. Neither was successful until afternoon, when the suit hunter found the salesman at his holiday dinner. The salesman had no key but promised to get one from a fellow clerk and secure the suit. It was late in the afternoon, almost dusk, when the suit was procured. The man buying it declares that the merchant deserves a pat on the back. "For after giving him all the trouble," he says, "I had the suit of clothes charged on account."

Rosarians Storm the South

Oregonians aboard the special Royal Rosarians train that invaded California the past week made many friends for this state in the south. Their route was marked by demonstrations of welcome that proved the high regard in which the Beaver state is held and which will mean that Oregon will have a very prominent place in the 1913 exhibitions both at San Francisco and San Diego.

International Red Tape

Sumas City, Washington, is separated from Huntington, British Columbia, by the invisible international boundary line that runs in the middle of a street. One block north of the line is the Huntington postoffice; four blocks south of the line is the Sumas postoffice. A letter addressed to the postmaster at Huntington and dropped into the Sumas postoffice takes a little journey of 125 miles to Seattle, and returns over the same road to Huntington, to the same railway platform from which it was placed on the Seattle train the previous days. Possibly there is a better illustration of the "four around Robin Hood's barn, but where is it?"

E-caped After Fifteen Years.

W. P. Broyles made a successful escape after fifteen years of suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Foley's Kidney Pills released him and will do just the same for others. He says: "They cured a most severe backache with painful bladder irregularities, and they do all you claim for them." Refuse substitutes. Chas. N. Clarke.

Hydro Denies Lights

Roy D. Smith last Thursday installed the big 250 watt electric light for the county at the north end of the new steel bridge across Hood River to replace the old wooden structure known as Tucker's bridge. The energy for the light is donated by the Hydro-Electric Co., the plant of which stands on the opposite side of the river.

Medicines that change nature are always most effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It calms the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a more healthy condition. Thousands have testified to its superior excellence. Sold by all dealers.

CLUB WOMEN ENTERTAIN THEIR HUSBANDS

The members of Hood River's Women's club gave a reception to their husbands on New Year's evening, which was most thoroughly enjoyed by the guests present. The entertainment program was under the supervision of Mrs. J. P. Lucas and after a violin solo by Dr. M. H. Sharp, accompaniment by Mrs. E. D. Hirsch, a two act play was presented by the club, in which the pitfall of too much suffragette attention at the expense of home and family was portrayed in a very realistic manner, but the participants were all led to see the error of their way and left the guests feeling sure that after all the women of the club could do something else besides conduct an election, which was proven later when after dancing, card playing, billiards and social converse, a most delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Wilbur and the members of the social committee, during which several achievements and ambitions were discussed. Mrs. A. MacDonald gave a short talk on the club spirit from a man's point of view, stating that a boy had a better chance of having his head to contend with in the world outside of his home and could guide those ideals. The next meeting of the club will be held Jan. 15, at 2:30 p. m., with Mrs. John Coth in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Elizabeth Evans Pettigrew, of Oswego, will speak on the subject of public gymnasium and play grounds and every person interested in this subject is cordially invited to be present. -Contributed.

Use Cheap Cuts, Says Butcher

"One reason for the high cost of living is the fact that the housekeepers of today have so little time for household duties," said William Constantine of Portland, in a lecture at the Oregon Agricultural College. "When they cook meat," he continued, "they must have choice cuts which can be done in a hurry. They are not inclined to spend much time on boiled dinners, but order the loin steaks which will fry in a few minutes. A beef will supply but a limited number of such steaks, and they always go first, no matter what the price. This explains why loin steaks sell at 25 cents pound while some of the stouter cooking cuts retail at half the price.
