DON, CLEVER HORSE OF DR. J. F. WATT

(By Louise Bryant in Oregonian)
Everybody in Hood River knows "Don". Dr. Fred Watt's beautiful horse. In fact, Don is about one of the first beings with which new arrivals in that valley of famous apples, become acquainted. For nearly a score of years Don has done faithful service as a country doctor's horse. Before the day of the automobile, feet-footed animals in that capacity were valuable indeed.
My own acquaintance with him came about in the usual way of visitors in Hood River. I went there when the apple trees were blooming and a sweet elusive fragrance filled the air. Standing in the sunshine in a crooked little street I saw a horse hitched to a trim little buggy coming down the road with out a driver. My impulse was to stop him, although he seemed to know his own business quite well. As I stepped forward I felt a touch on my arm and someone said: "Never mind, that's old Don; he knows where he is going, all right."
Curiosity prompted me to follow him several blocks and I saw him, Don at last and go straight to the door of a livery stable, before which he stood quite still. A stable boy came out and called cheerily: "Well, there you are, Don; come right in." And he went in. So did I, although I received no such cordial greeting, but rather an embarrassed and intolerant stare if the boy was thinking, "Well, here comes another one wanting to know about Don, and I suppose I've got to tell her."
Don, I found, in an aristocrat with the blood of the best Kentucky racing stock in his veins. During the first years of his service the roads throughout the valley were rough and undeveloped and Dr. Watt was often weary when he returned from some hurried call, so he decided to teach Don to walk to the livery stable where he was kept. In a short time the lesson was learned and although the family moved to various parts of the town, Don at last knew the way from the house to the barn whether it was two blocks or two miles. He usually walks leisurely and sedately; all the way unless some ambitious driver tries to pass him. Then he shows his sporting blood by running for dear life, much to the amusement of the spectators.
The final test came when the old stable was closed and Don was put in new quarters. The first night they took him to the new barn, but his opinions were various as to what he would do the next evening. Quite a crowd gathered. Don went to the old stable. He stood still, but no one came to greet him. The onlookers waited in silence. All of a sudden he seemed to remember, tossed his glossy head and cantered gayly to the new stable where he has lodged since.
"It's strange," I remarked to Dr. Watt, "that you never got the motor craze with so many machines in this valley."
"Why, Don and I are such old friends, you know," he replied, "and really he's quite good enough for me." I have a sneaking notion that if he ever did get the "bug" he wouldn't let Don know for the world.

L. H. Stone Taken on Embezzlement

No small surprise was sprung last Thursday when Marshal Robert T. Lewis arrested L. H. Stone, who has been here in the interest of a company selling installment tickets to the Panama Exposition at San Francisco. The arrest was made on request of W. P. Lillis, special officer of the Oregon Electric and United Railway Companies. The young man, who was a former student at O. A. C., was charged with an embezzlement of funds from the United Railway, whose agent he was at Helveston. He confessed the embezzlement to the arresting officers before he was taken to Hillsboro. Friends of Mr. Stone, who it is said will return to resume work at the White Salmon saw mill, profess the greatest astonishment at his arrest. It is declared that he was conducting a business at Helveston, and the funds of the United Railway, which are claimed to have been embezzled, were put in the business, which failed. The auditor of the company knew of the appropriation of the funds, and Mr. Stone was working in an effort to pay the sums.

LOCAL PEOPLE TO GO TO WHITE SALMON

Several dozen local people will journey to White Salmon Sunday, when Rev. H. A. MacDonald, pastor of the Unitarian church, will hold services on the lawn of the Jewett hotel. This will be the second of a series of meetings that the people of Underwood, White Salmon and Hood River are holding in order to become better acquainted. The first was held here two weeks ago at the Unitarian church.
Commodore Dean, of the Hood-River White Salmon ferry service, declares that he will devote all efforts toward giving those who make the trip the best of accommodation.
Mrs. Jewett, who is summer hotel is known all over the northwest, will serve one of her famous old fashioned dinners at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.
Commodore Dean says that all who want to get their name in the pot for one of these wonderful dinners should communicate with him at telephone number 4531.

AUTOMOBILES

N. C. Evans tells of a recent experience with a Portland painter, who wanted to overhaul his machine. He made an agreement to paint my car for $40. I promised to let him have the job, if he would keep the machine a month, says Mr. Evans, "for thus I would save more than $40 during the month. It always costs more than twice $40 to run the machine."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Polhemus, their son-in-law and daughter, passed through the city on the Fourth en route to Trout Lake, where they spent the week end. They motored over to White Salmon, going thence to the scenic Klickitat county valley.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Rumsey and two children, John Marshall and Elinor Rumsey, arrived last week to spend the summer here visiting Mrs. Rumsey's sister, Mrs. A. L. Libbitts, and husband. They toured from San Diego, Calif., where Mr. Rumsey is engaged in the mercantile business, to San Francisco by automobile. There they took the boat for Portland. Mr. Rumsey has brought his machine here and will make a number of long tours throughout the Mid-Columbia district, camping in the mountain wilds visiting the different places noted for their scenic beauty.

A number of the young ladies of the Valley are becoming enthusiastic motorcycleists. None of them have as yet learned to manage the machines alone. However, they are taking long spins on the tandem vehicles. One of the longest tours that has ever been made by a young lady was from Central Vale to the city.

Culver K. Osgood has just received his big Pope motorcycle. The machine is painted a grey and one of the handsomest seen in the Valley. Mr. Osgood, before he received his license tag gave some of his girl friends a ride, as a result receiving much joshing; for attached to the rear seat was the placard statement: "License Applied For."

No Charge For Those With Tents

The erroneous supposition seems to have become prevalent that a charge will be made for tent space at the chalet, whether one rents a tent from the committee or furnishes it himself. However, no charge will be made those who furnish their own tents and erect them, other than the season ticket to attend the performances. A slight charge will be made for erecting tents of those who furnish their own camping outfit.

Boyce Is Bankrupt

A. M. Boyce, who has been conducting the restaurant on Oak street, has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. The former restaurant keeper, who closed his place of business last Saturday, was arrested on the charge of absconding preferred by creditors, who feared that he would leave with funds due them on notes and accounts. He made bond and later left for Portland.

COMMIS'R McCURDY BECOMES NATURALIZED

No small surprise was sprung in the court room Monday, when it was announced that G. A. McCurdy, who has been a member of the county court for the past three years, was seeking final papers on his naturalization. The general opinion prevailed that he was a native of the United States. However, the popular commissioner was born in the province of Victoria, Canada. His papers of intention were allowed in 1889 in Multnomah county. Mr. McCurdy, who owns one of the largest of the West Side orchards, was for many years a locomotive engineer on the O. R. & N. Company's line. He was on the train that was stalled here during the winter of the hard snow and to which food had to be carried on sleds.
Carl Emil Swanson was also granted papers of naturalization by Judge Bradshaw Monday. Mr. Swanson who is head sawyer for the Wind River Lumber Co., at Cascade Locks, was born in Sweden. The entire mill was shut down for the day in order that the might be made a citizen of the United States.
Others naturalized were: Ralph Davies, native of England; C. A. Bell, native of New Brunswick, Canada; Ashley Wilson, native of Manitoba, Canada.
Mr. Bell filed his intention in 1880.

The 8 o'clock services will be in the church. Prof. R. Gibson will speak on the theme, "Pussy and the Cream." The music consists of a violin solo by Mrs. Chas. Hall, a vocal solo by Mrs. Alberta Jackson Gillam, and a piano solo.

Library Has Tad Fund

The Bragg Mercantile Co. has established a "Tad Account" for the Library Association, and all who have no other place to put their discounts are solicited to place them with the association or with the mercantile company. Mrs. F. E. Newby, chairman of the Association, states that the account will be used toward furnishing the library.

Discontinuance of Road Office Asked

Working through their attorney, S. W. Stark, citizens of the county have addressed a communication to the county court, asking that the office of road master, now filled by C. K. Marshall, be discontinued. In their declaration the citizens state that the sum paid for the work of the supervision of the road master is extravagant, since a supervisor is supplied each district and since the county has a competent engineer in Murray Kay.

Beebe-Moses

Near Eugene, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Moses, the parents of the bride, who is well known in Hood River, Miss Ellen Moses last week became the bride of Arthur Beebe. After a honeymoon trip spent in Newport Mr. and Mrs. Beebe will make their home about three miles from Eugene.

Jackson to begin his duties, which shall consist of an investigation of local fungus and bacterial diseases and physiological troubles, "Winter injury," or "little leaf," "Fruit pit," "Gore rot," "apple scab" and "measurum rot."

Marshal Warns Against Scattering Trash

Although a strict enforcement has never been required, Hood River has long had in effect an ordinance prohibiting the scattering of and throwing of trash on the streets. Now that the pavements will soon be completed, Marshal Lewis declares that the law will be strictly enforced and its penalty, the sum of from $5 to $50 demanded of offenders.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

We find that the maintenance of the delivery service is a greater expense than the business will justify and we have decided to discontinue it on and after July 15th. We believe that we are doing our full duty by our customers when we bring the goods from Hood River and sell them for virtually the same price as they do there, without going further and delivering them into their homes. The expense of keeping up a delivery outfit in the country is considerable greater than it would be in town on account of rough roads and greater mileage, and if this service were to be continued it would be necessary to get a larger profit on our goods, which would have the effect of driving much of our trade elsewhere.

On account of the close financial conditions and the burden which we are compelled to carry, it is absolutely necessary that we reduce our expenses as much as possible, and this service will be discontinued indefinitely—at least until condition are improved in several respects.
