"The Lost Millionaire," A Vitagraph two reel feature. Filled to the brim with heat interest and mystery. Robert of good coal lands in Tennessee, hearing of Edwin sends Carter, his agent, to buy any good property he may find. Carter finds very rich lands, which are owned by Josephine Blake, a mountain beauty. Carter, in love with her schemes to get a fortune and the girl at the same time.
About to sign the check which would further Carter's plans, Edwin meets with an accident which temporarily affects his brain and throws him into a state of apoplexy. He wanders about the country, finally by some mysterious way getting to the same village in which Josephine and her father live. He is taken to live with them and he and Jo all in love with each other. While talking with him one day Jo tells him the story of how "she almost became rich." She mentions Redwin's name and this starts his awakening. He loves Josephine madly, but is not sure what his wealth might do to her. Even with all his wealth he has been unable to be sure of the love of a true woman. He makes Jo rich and instead of casting him off she loves him more than ever. They go to New York to be married where she is much amazed to find she is the wife of a millionaire.
The strong appeal of the drama lies in the apparent helplessness of the wealthy Redwin to find a woman who will love him for himself and not his money.

"Coney Island," Kalem descriptive.
"Broncho Billy and the Navajo Maid," An Essanay drama featuring G. M. Anderson.

SMART COATS AND DRESSES FOR TINY TOTS

If tiny tots do not have their new fall coats designated as "sport coats," like their grownup sisters, they look just as smart and happy when seen playing in Central park. Just a half hour there on a bright morning will make one acquainted with these fascinating miniature fashion plates, from whom the busy mother can get ideas for the clothes she must make. Here are two sketches of stylish and warm full length models for children. The younger child has on a one-piece plaid dress (7947) in a serviceable beige color poplin with a deep collar and cuffs of brown and white check silk, which is also used for the belt. It is a warm dress to be worn without a coat on mild days. For a child of six years 2 1/4 yards of 42 inch material will be sufficient. The pattern is cut in four sizes and costs 15 cents.
Soft and beautiful in texture, but light in weight, is the mixed tweed used for the older girl's long coat. It has a straight one-piece back and coat sleeves. The shawl collar and cuffs are made of one of the latest kinds of trimming plush in seal brown. This pattern will require 1 1/2 yards of 64 inch goods for the coat and 1 1/4 of 24 inch plush. The coat is cut in five sizes. Fifteen cents.

HERE WE NOTE THE DROP SHOULDER ON A COAT

Essentially plain and straight of line, the separate coat must be smart of cut. For trimming it depends more or less upon an oddly shaped revers, an attractive cuff and belt.
The novelty fabric, in which many of these coats are made, are in themselves decorative, and few trimmings are required. Twos in new mixtures effectively relieved by plain materials, ratines, velours de laine and the new fur fabrics, by the way, are some of them so much like the real skins that it is difficult to tell the difference. They are light, supple and warm. One of them—broadtail, for instance—could be used with 7983 very appropriately. Here ratine was used with cuffs, collar and revers of broadtail satin. To copy in size 36 1/4 yards of 42 inch material will be needed with 1/4 of a yard of broadtail.
There is something very attractive about the lines of 7978. It resembles closely a suit of Potret, made of bright blue velours de laine with trimmings of black silk braid and touches of scarlet, the buttons were centered with scarlet. The drop shoulder effect, the low belt and the turndown collar are modish and distinctive.
3 1/4 yards of 36 inch velours de laine with 5 yards of braid will be needed to make in size 36.
No. 7982—sizes 34 to 46.
No. 7978—sizes 34 to 42.
Each pattern is 15 cents.

WITH NOTHING TO MAR THEIR CHARMING SIMPLICITY

Nothing is quite as dear to the heart of woman as the dainty negligee into which she slips with such a feeling of luxury in the confusion of her own room. She may revel in its supple fabric, its soft colorings and the grace of its frills and flounces with never a misgiving as to its suitability, for it is one garment that may be as plain or as fussy as the fancy desires without losing its charm.
Printed silks or cotton crepes with quaint, impossible flowers or old fashioned looking designs sprinkled here and there are admirably suited to negligees, and the plain crepes and mulls are dainty, too, offering possibilities for frills and flounces galore.
7957 is a pretty empire model, depending upon graceful lines and the oddly patterned material for effect rather than more elaborate trimmings. The lace butterfly across the front is one of those attractive trifles, quickly and easily made, that do so much to make a garment distinctive.
To make this model in size 36 it requires 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.
No. 7941 is a design that, made up in a softly tinted albatross or eiderdown trimmed with tiny frills of net or ribbon and sashed in a vivid Futurist silk, would bring joy to the boarding school girl. It would also be pretty in a silk or crepe.
Three and three-quarter yards of 36 inch material is needed to copy 7941 in size 10.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. Address Pattern Department.
