Mrs. Joanna Davis, from Newberg, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Daisy Pape, this week.

Mrs. John Klots, from Portland, Sunday morning here, the latter will soon leave for their home in Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Sonnemans and family returned Monday evening.

Apple Day is Nov. 30—the birthday of the writer. May it be celebrated with becoming grace and dignity, not on account of the birthday, but because the apple is a wholesome industry and edible.

The following sonnet may show that by using apples more freely the high cost of living will be greatly reduced beside assuring health.

Apples red and apples yellow, Apples white and apples black; With the many kinds of apples Our country never needs to lack.

LOCAL PEOPLE MAY HAVE OWN CORN MEAL

If one of the old grist mills of the county is put into commission, local people may have their own corn meal this year; for numerous tracts of corn have been harvested.

The valley formerly produced a good deal of grain, and grist mills have operated in different sections.

The building of one old mill now stands near the home of J. W. Hinrichs. Another was operated on Neal Creek.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

A GOD-FEARING BAD MAN. Numbers 22:1 to 23:10—Nov. 2.

AFTER Israel had entered Canaan and were fully recognized as God's holy people, apparently all dealings between God and the Gentiles were discontinued.

Before that time, men of faith in God were recognized by Him; for instance, Abraham, Job, Melchizedek and Balaam, the central figure of today's lesson.

Balaam lived on the Euphrates. He was known far and wide as an oracle.

The king of Moab perceived that Israel conquered all with whom they battled, and feared them, although they had not molested Moab.

After conferring with the ruler of Midian, King Balak sent four hundred asses to get Balaam to come to curse Israel, and offered a considerable reward.

Balaam inquired of the Lord whether to go on this mission. The reply was, No; Israel was blessed of the Lord, not cursed.

Balaam then sent messengers of higher station, insisting that he receive a reward.

The Lord of the subject, but coveted the rewards of unrighteousness.

In response to his second inquiry, he obtained permission to go.

It was on this journey that Balaam was reproved by his ass.

An angel of the Lord stood in a narrow place where the ass, seeing him, could not pass.

The ass, being beaten, remonstrated. Even this did not stop Balaam's money lust.

Received by King Balak with honor, Balaam directed that altars be built and sacrifices offered to God.

He would have a form of godliness, even while desiring to do contrary to the Divine will, which he already knew.

Then he began his prophecy, which was really a blessing, the words being Divinely inspired.

As St. Peter wrote, "Holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit."

The disappointed king took the Prophet to another viewpoint, and urged the curse of at least this much of Israel.

Altars were built again, and sacrifices offered. Again the hoped-for curse did not come.

The angry king insisted, and led the Prophet to another standpoint. Again the results were blessings upon Israel.

A Double-Minded Man. Balaam's double-mindedness was abundantly manifested by his course.

He wished to speak the Lord's word, and also to have riches and honor.

Right and wrong, God's way and the way of riches—both were before him. He chose neither, but tried to have both.—2 Peter 2:15, 16.

Alas, how many in every age have had the Balaam spirit!

Jesus warned against this spirit, saying, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

How many have found that God rejects those who regard iniquity in their hearts; and who, if they would not serve it, at least would love its rewards!

Let us remember that God looketh on the heart.

If, overtaken in a fault, Balaam had started on the journey, hoping to gain the evil reward, he should have been thoroughly aroused by the incident of the ass.

Even an ass knew better than to attempt to go contrary to the Higher Power. Evidently humanity's greater reasoning power and courage may be disadvantageously used.

Balaam's heart was wrong. The professed man of God grieved in the mire of sin in his desire to obtain wealth.

He sold to King Balak, the only way to bring a curse upon Israel would be by tempting them to disobey God.

King Balak commended with the Midianites and urged that their wives and daughters should apparently fall in love with some of the Israelites, and introduce them to Midian's sensuous religious rites.

God Permitted the Lesson. The scheme was successful. Some of the Israelites were attracted to adultery and idol-worship.

Forthwith a plague started among the Israelites, according to the terms of their Covenant. Then, under Divine direction, Moses called for an army out of the tribes, and completely wiped out Midian as a nation.

Including Balaam, who evidently remained to oversee the iniquitous work. In His last message to the Church, our glorified Redeemer foretold that some of His followers would imitate Balaam, and, for earthly advantage, put a stumbling-block in the path of the brethren.

The intimation is that the heritry and false worship would be on a higher plane than that which stultified Israel—as everything in this Christian Dispensation is antitypical—Revelation 2:14.

Several passages in Balaam's prophecy are striking. Every nation which has dealt harshly with Israel has received chastisement. The Scripture did rise out of Israel. Messiah is of Jacob's posterity, according to the flesh.

County Has Many Fair Hikers

The city has a number of fair hikers, who could probably stave the Mazama club of Portland a few tricks as to hiking.

Sunday the following young women crossed the Columbia and walked to the top of Underwood mountain: Misses Mae Davidson, Mina Halverson, Ruth Miller, Madge Otis, Flora Wilson, Virginia Johnson, Iris Markley and Nettie Allen.

However, the record is probably held by Miss Ada Hart, the teacher of the Parkdale school. She hiked into Hood River last Friday night after school.

This is the third trip Miss Hart has made since school started. Miss Hart is a great home lover and says she is can do better school work when she spends the week end with her parents; so she intends to walk in every Friday as long as the weather is nice.
