SWIFT WRITES OFF COAST OF FLORIDA

To all friends at Hood River, through the columns of the Glacier let me say that I have recently made the escape from what seems to me to be a fire furnace located in and about Tampico, Mexico. The entire community around that city is riddled with musketry and much else, that makes a man think of desolation and death near the other world.

Out in the sea large battle ships are seen by the score, and that array of fighting monsters present a fearful view, not only dangerous but beautiful and one thinks after sitting round such a scene for some days and then some more that if they would all break loose at one time there would be doings right now.

The trip across the gulf is one of perfect beauty and all the way one can sit out on deck, and even sleep out there and listen to the waves roll and lull. This old ship has stood on both ends since starting, not both at the same time by the way, but it has done some hard trying, and you believe me we have enjoyed every minute of that rolling, and the more the better. I have learned to have a lot of faith in the ship and her crew, for they do certainly know their business. This is a German ship, about as good and much more safe than anything I have seen in the United States, but what do we need to care, we are sailing over the sea.

Rounding up the west side of Florida headed for New Orleans is a trip not soon to be forgotten. Such scenery, I tell you people that it is nearly as beautiful as the scenery of your state, Oregon, and if these folks would visit Oregon and find out how to make money, they would soon have as great a state as you have there.

Without any mishaps we will be in Orleans in about six hours, but the captain said that we would be late tonight, so I am going to bed and wait until morning for further writing.

Dec. 1, just breakfast time, and I am as hungry as though I had climbed Mt. Hood but there are a lot of fellows that will not eat much this morning for they got too much salt water yesterday. I am all O. K. yet and the only thing I lack is a good tumbler in the sea and then plenty of fresh oysters about as big as one of Ed Holman's 40 cent steaks and only one half dozen is enough too. I feel like I could stand it until dinner as it is nine now.

After a visit and some business in the Coliseum for two nights I think we will go either across land to Savannah or to the frozen north. We have not made up the trip as to which way we will go the last of this week, but we will be going some place. I noticed about 50 boxes of Yakima apples on board yesterday and a lot of empty boxes from Colorado and they reminded me of Hood River and I thought that if these men knew as much about Hood River apples they would not be fooled by purchasing any other kind at any price, but I did not dare tell them so I let them drift along in their ignorance.

The weather for some time has been very wet and muddy, but to those that never saw Mexico mud you cannot appreciate the condition of the ground that thousands of soldiers had tramped to jelly about the feet deep. The pleasure that the boot had in that country is great. Boys, go to Mexico but take your Blacking along. Hundreds of men string along the roads, if you can get them roads, with their clothing, if you can call it clothing, smeared with that mud paste to their knees and more. They look like the last rose of Oregon production. My God, friends, that sight was simply beyond man's description. God only knows the misery there is among the people. Starving and being starved is the seeming disposition. There is some missionary work to be done over there but I pity the missionary.

Well, friends, if I land on the Atlantic or in the frozen north I will send you some more news of the travels and with the compliments of the season. When you read this remember us as those that would like to spend Christmas with Hood River people, but not this time.—J. H. Swift.

O. A. C. BAND MAKES BIG HIT

The cadet band, composed of 34 students of the Oregon Agricultural college, gave a concert of very high class on Wednesday evening of last week. Although the Heilbronner hall was not completely filled a good crowd turned out, considering the fact that the concert was given on Christmas Eve.

The first number, entitled "King Apple" (in honor of Hood River county) started off loud and snappy. A great variety of music was played—everything from brilliant overtures to humorous pieces.

The saxophone quartette, which is a new addition to the band, gave a well rendered number entitled "Visions." Ross Johnson, who is a member of the O. A. C. glee club, rendered a tenor solo, "Shubert's Serenade," with remarkable ability, being encored twice. One of the best classical numbers played by the band was "Anvil Chorus" from Il Trovatore. In this number the lights were turned off and blacksmith's anvil was hammered, keeping time with the music. Big sparks flew from the anvil, which made a very pretty and touching effect.

A very novel humorous selection, "What's the Matter With Father," made quite a hit with the audience. They portrayed "father" as going out with a bunch of college boys. He proved to be a good sport and later he staggered home. He caused a big commotion in the house as he entered when his wife rushed out and cried, "What's the Matter With Father."

The band boys were entertained in the afternoon by the Hood River O. A. C. club and in the evening after the concert an informal dance was given.

Orchardists Find Dairying Profitable

The Board of Trade of Vernon, B.C. orchardists, agriculturalists, merchants and investors are congratulating themselves on the year just ending. Those who have given attention to poultry and small crops between trees, to bees, grapes, ducks, chickens, turkeys and geese are reaping a harvest, for Vernon district has been benefited greatly by mixed farming, dairying, poultry and sheep-raising.

Heartburn, indigestion or distress of the stomach is instantly relieved by Herbine. It forces the badly digested food out of the body and restores tone in stomach and bowels. Price 50c. Sold by Chas. N. Clarke.

A French Comedy.
When John Rudyerd was building his famous wooden Eddystone lighthouse he was much harassed by the depredations of French privateers. Thus on one memorable day all his men were surprised while at work and borne off in triumph to France as prisoners of war. The captors thinking they had done something very smart. But Louis XIV. did not approve at all and promptly ordered the men's release. "Their work," he said, "is for the benefit of all nations. I am at war with England, not with humanity."—"Lightships and Lighthouses."

Little Mattle Sew into the house one evening very late for nursery tea and hurried to her mother's chair. "Oh, mother," she cried, "don't scold me, for I've had such a disappointment! A horse fell down in the street, and they said they were going to send for a horse doctor, so, of course, I had to stay. And after I waited and waited he came, and, oh, mother, what do you think, it was only a man!"—New York Globe.

Bringing It Home.
"I was wending an—aw—account of a woman being gored to death by a beastly cow, doncher know," remarked young Dudleigh. "Well, I can't imagine a more howrible affair, can you, Miss Caustique?"
"No, Mr. Dudleigh," replied Miss Caustique, with a mighty yawn, "unless it is being bored to death by a calf."—Pearson's Weekly.

DEMURE AND QUAIN ARE MANY OF THE STRAIGHT LINED FROCKS

At one of the recent openings several of the smartest street frocks were fashioned of striped velours. This material would be especially appropriate to 1914, rendering its simplicity still more effective. The required touch of brightness could be introduced in the broad girle and the trimming bands on the skirt and blouse. There is just a bit of fullness on the shoulders and at the waist-line. In size 36 this design may be copied with 5 yards of 42 inch velours.

Frills and furbelows that crush and soil easily have no place under the heavy winter coats that must seem make their appearance. A simple frock of serge will be found most agreeable. An excellent model for that dull blue serge which is still so popular is 7442. The drop-shoulders and the small revers are sufficient trimming. A mesh or girle of bright satin or silk would be effective and give the desired touch of contrast. Size 36 requires 6 yards of 36 inch material.

No. 7440—size 34 to 42.
No. 7441—size 34 to 42.
Each pattern 15 cents.
