ODELL
Mrs. G. E. Bowman is improving though not rapidly, and there are no indications that she will be more eased and every one hopes that this may be the last case and that in proper time quarantine may be safely raised and life may go as before.

E. B. Morse left Sunday for Hudson, Wash., after having been here for a month's visit with his family.

has been during Page & Son's orchards during the past four weeks.
He has had three helpers who are employed by Page & Son on their Standish ranch.

Mrs. Wallace Young is reported improving nicely and her many friends are glad to know that her family expects that she will be able to be brought home soon.

Walter and Margaret Niehans, of Portland, have been here for a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.
Niehans. Mrs. F. A. Massee is home after having been four weeks in the hospital in Hood River for an operation and treatment. Rev. Troy Shelby

Dalles Saturday.

BARRETT
Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney and Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons have been spending the Christmas holidays in Portland.

Mrs. Ida Crapper has rented her house for the winter to Mr. and Mrs.
Marion Miller. Mr. Miller is a brother of Fred Miller. We welcome this young couple to our community.

Mrs. Crapper will spend the winter visiting in various places.

Mrs. Dix and daughter, Madge, are spending a couple of weeks in Portland.

The Christmas program given by the Valley school Christmas for was enjoyed by all and the Philothea class deserve praise for decorating the church so prettily.

The new minister, J. B. Lister, engaged by the Valley Christian church for the coming year, will deliver his first sermon Sunday morning, Jan. 4.

We hope for a large attendance of both members and friends of the church.

At the Gen
Wednesday and Thursday — "The Phantom Signal," an Edison two reel feature; a drama of the railroad; John Graham, a grasping financier, gloats over his dividends while his badly equipped railroad slaughters passengers and train crews. Accidents to his daughter, wife and self do not awaken him, but a terrible vision of the result of his avarice melts the man of iron.

"Broncho Billy's Secret," an Essany western drama featuring G. M.
Anderson.

"A Phony Alarm," a Pathe comedy.

"Their Wife's Indiscretion," an Essany comedy.

"Tommy's Stratagem," an Edison Comedy.

Friday and Saturday — "The escape of Jim Dolan," a Selig western drama in two reels, Jim Dolan, a cowboy, is the reigning favorite at the Wellington's party and his attentions to the daughter, Grace, appear to be reliable not only by the young lady, but by her stalwart brothers. Ed Jones, the cheeky foreman of the Brown ranch, tries to steal Grace from Jim. Brown, the neighboring ranch owner, and his foreman, Jones, ride to Jim Dolan's ranch and insist that he sell out to Brown, which Jim refuses to do.

Thereupon Brown says he will make it too hot for him to remain. Jones attempts to join in with his master, but is quickly silenced. This adds to his hate, and he concludes to get good and even with Jim. He picks several hides conspicuously branded from a bale of green ones back of the Brown corral.
He secretly takes them and puts them under a post in Jim's line fence. The next move is to report "cattle missing." The sheriff is summoned and

hate, and he concludes to get good and
conspicuously branded from a bale of
green ones back of the Brown corral.
He secretly takes them and puts them
under a post in Jim's line fence. The
next move is to report "cattle miss-
attempts to join in with his master, but is quickly silenced. This adds to his
