EASTERN GROWERS WILL USE BOXES

Leading apple growers of Nebraska will pack their first grade apples in boxes. They used the barrel pack exclusively up to this date, but were shown by the county agricultural agents that the box pack is superior. Apples packed in boxes bring from 50 to 75 cents a box more than the same fruit packed in barrels. The added cost of box packing is about six cents a box. How will this change in packing affect western growers who are operating in eastern markets with a handling of from 25 to 40 per cent transportation charges? This question was referred to Prof. C. I. Lewis, the O. A. C. horticulturist, who replied as follows: "While eastern growers are endeavoring to get their cream apples into box packs, western growers are doing their best to find a way to dispose of their second and third grades without packing them at all. With the cheaper grades profitably cared for in by-product slugs at home, the eastern markets will not suffer an over supply of first grade fruit from the eastern box packs. The west must produce extra quality fruit, grade it accurately, and send back only the best grades."

FINS, FURS AND FEATHERS

Residents of the Central Vale and Odell district have been up in arms hunting a cougar, the cry of which has been heard over that district recently. Matters finally came to a climax. The shrill, piercing scream of the big beast, as it was thought, was heard early one morning. At about ten o'clock one of the sturdy citizens of that neighborhood, who is noted for his sharpshooting, buckled on his revolver and slung his rifle across his shoulder. He was accompanied by neighbor who has won fame as a hunter of big game in the northwest. The cries seemed to have come from woods back of the Dunbar place. And there they expected to find "Hog" cougar. With eyes searching ever taut of grass they approached the coupe. Suddenly a big rabbit jumped from a bed of dry leaves. His leaps over the dried underbrush made what seemed a terrible racket to the hunters, one of whom climbed a tree. It was learned later in the day that the cries had been made by a new whistle that had been placed on the well digger in operation on the Dunbar place by O. H. Hill.

"Bobwhite" is Farmers' Friend

"The bobwhite quail is a splendid combination insect trap, weed killer and game bird, and as a booster protection his cheerful whistle is unequalled," writes Dr. Clifton Fremont Hodge in the January number of the Oregon Sportsman. Dr. Hodge is professor of social biology at the University of Oregon, where time is occupied wholly in traveling among Oregon communities, speaking and instructing along popular biology lines.

"The annual damage to agriculture by weeds is estimated at nearly $500,000,000," says Dr. Hodge. "Nearly 50 per cent of the quail's food is weed seeds, and of the 120 weeds it is known to destroy, many are the worst we have—among them beggar's ticks, bindweed, Canada thistle, burdock, curled dock, wild mustard, ragweed, pigweed, lamb's quarters, parsley, sorrel and witch grass. In a single day's ration a bobwhite has been found to eat amounting insect trap, weed killer and game bird, and as a booster protection his cheerful whistle is unequalled."

"The list of 135 different insects which the bobwhite has been found to eat includes many of our most destructive pests. The quail is so large in comparison with many of our insect eating birds that the quantities taken are interesting. The following are among the records: "Two table-spoonful of chinch bugs from a single crop; 5000 aphids at a meal; 1,350 house and stable flies in a day; 1,283 rose slugs in a day; 1,532 miscellaneous insects, about 1000 of them grasshoppers, in a day; 568 mosquitoes in three hours. For the year a credit about five pounds of insects and 5,125,000, or nearly ten pounds of weed seeds."

Several hundred squirrels have taken possession of the big apple house of A. I. Mason. The apple house up to a month ago was the scene of packing activities, but after the boxed apples were moved out was closed, excepting that part used as a stable, located in the basement. One morning this week Mr. Mason's manager found the squirrels in possession of the other parts. Where they came from or when they will move out is a question that Mr. Mason cannot answer. He says that as they are doing no damage he will await the results with as much interest as the boys of the neighborhood are showing. Mr. Mason will afford them every protection.

Dr. Waugh has the largest dog that Hood River people have ever had the privilege of seeing. Monday, while the doctor was taking lunch at Parkers, his dog was lying at his side. One of the pieces of the city and her little daughter came in. "Can I pet the dog?" asked the intelligent little girl. She was told she could, but on approaching the huge fellow, which arose to greet her, she rushed back to her mother and said, "Oh! oo-oo! It's a moocow."

Upper Valley Favors Bonds

Pursuant to a request of the county court a meeting of the taxpayers of the Upper Valley was held in Isaac's hall, Parkdale, on Wednesday of last week. About 80 attended the meeting. W. S. Gribble was elected chairman and requested the secretary to read the object of the meeting. C. P. Johanson was then elected a delegate to the advisory board and was instructed by unanimous vote to favor a bond issue of $200,000.

You Save Money

When you buy Foley's Honey and Tar Compound because just a few doses will stop the cough and heal the cold, one bottle lasts a long time, and the last dose is as good as the first. Mrs. S. S. Van Buren St., Kingston, N. Y., says: "Father had lagrippe and his cough was something terrible and he couldn't sleep. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stopped his coughing, but it brought my voice back to me after a severe case of bronchitis and laryngitis." Sold by Chas. N. Clarke.

The Dalles Prepares For Rodeo

The Dalles Business Men's Association is already making preparations for a big Rodeo and Round Up to be held on July 2, 3 and 4. The wild west show will have the usual events of rope tying contests and bucking bronchos. Judd S. Fish, secretary of the association, is already booking contracts for novelty performances in the neighboring city on this event.

LOCAL WOMEN AGREE WITH STAGE BEAUTIES

Of all women in the world, probably those of the stage are most particular about their personal appearance, and especially in the care of the hair; and when such leading stage beauties as Ethel Barrymore, Elsie Ferguson, Natalie Alt, Louise Dresser, Rose Coghlan, Laurette Taylor and many others are so enthusiastic about Harmony Hair Beautifier as to write in praise of it, that is certainly evidence that it does just what they say it does—that it, beautifies the hair. There are many women right in this town, and men too, who regard it as indispensable, because it makes the hair glossier and more silky, easier to dress and make stay in place. Sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

NO ACTION TAKEN AT ROAD MEETING

No definite action was taken at the road meetings of last Saturday, the last of which, a mass meeting of citizens, was held Saturday night at the assembly hall of the Commercial club. The advisory committee appointed at the request of the county court met at the court house Saturday morning and afternoon. It was composed of A. J. Adams, Cassius Lockwood, C. P. Johanson, of the Upper Valley; James K. Forden, of Belmont; J. A. Moore, of Odell; A. I. Mason, of Pine Grove. L. A. Henderson, appointed by Mayor Reed, represented the city.

"A general discussion took place at the meetings," said County Judge Stanton, "but we arrived at no definite conclusions. The citizens of different districts learned the wants of those of other districts and all of them, I think, found out that they could not get all they wanted. No date was set for a further deliberation of the committee with the court."

An interesting and instructive address was delivered at the Saturday evening meeting by Murray Kay, county engineer, on the methods of road construction. Mr. Kay called the attention to the absolute necessity of having roads properly located before permanent improvement work is begun. It is hard to expend too much money on proper surveys, he said. He commended the action taken in having the survey of the Columbia river highway made through the county. He pointed out that a good portion of the many thousands of dollars that had been expended in past years in the valley had been wasted.

Mr. Kay is opposed to the hardening of too great an extent of highways. He called attention to the sand clay roads of the valley, those built by B. F. Eadleman, on Portland Way, and those under construction by Roy D. Smith in the Barrett district. But first of all the county engineer urges the county to prepare a definite outline of future construction.

"If we had $40,000 to expend tomorrow," he said, "we would not know how to begin. We haven't even a trail census here."

Prof. Skelton, of the Oregon Agricultural College, who came here and made an inspection of the county highways Saturday morning, endorsed every statement made by Mr. Kay. "Location and drainage," he said, "are among the chief factors in road building." He also called attention to sand-clay roads. "I made a trip to Georgia last year just to inspect the roads of that character, called top soil roads, that they have there. Where the proper ingredients are to be had, such highways are in the best of condition."

Prof. Skelton's talk covered all the technical points of road building. "A road should not have too much crown," he said. "If the sides are too steep, all vehicles will follow the center and trackage will result."

CARLOT RATES MAY BE WITHDRAWN

"We have received information," says Wilmer Sieg, "that the Interstate Commerce Commission will refuse to confirm the tariff of the express companies on carload shipments of fruit from northwestern districts."

The rate of the new tariff was from 12 1/2 to 25 per cent in excess of the old rate and would have worked an almost irretrievable hardship on the berry producing sections of the states of Oregon and Washington. White Salmon and Underwood joined the local association in sending protests to the Interstate Commerce Commission and to the representatives of Oregon and Washington in congress.

"W. H. Paulhamus, too, has been one of the most active of northwestern men to engage in the fight," says Mr. Sieg, "and consumers from North Dakota, where many of our berries are used, have helped us out. We based our fight on the fact that we are already paying as much as the berries were merely put to the expense of carting them to the market. We have every reason to believe that, from our strong protests and that of the representatives in congress from the two states coupled with the facts on our side, the express companies will have to withdraw the tariff."

LEMMON & THOMPSON FORM EXCHANGE

Crawford C. Lemmon and C. Claude Thompson have organized the Hood River Produce Exchange, which will occupy the old office building of the Apple Growers Union on Railroad avenue. The organization will supply the local need of handling produce of all kinds grown in the valley. "We will handle vegetables, potatoes and small fruits," says Mr. Lemmon. "We will sell the surplus products of this kind to grocers and will do a general commission business, operating in bananas, oranges, lemons and such goods."

The new exchange has arranged with the Apple Growers Association for cold storage facilities. "We have been assured the cooperation of local merchants," says Mr. Lemmon. "We will be ready, too, to handle Hood River butter, when the creamery is going."

The Best Cough Medicine.
"I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since I have been keeping house," says L. C. Hames of Marbury, Ala. "I consider it one of the best remedies I ever used. My children have all taken it and it works like a charm. For colds and whooping cough it is excellent." For sale by all dealers.
