3% ON SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

4 per cent Interest

SAVINGS DEPOSITS will bear 4% interest after June 1st. This increase in rate is made to encourage systematic saving. Every dollar deposited before June 5th, will earn you interest at 4% per annum, payable September 1st. Everyone should carry a savings account in a strong bank. It teaches the child a valuable lesson in saving. It provides a reserve fund for the man or woman who would become independent. We are at your service and invite your deposits.

Combinations in restraint of trade are not uncommon, but mutual agreements in the opposite direction are infrequent enough to be interesting.

It is therefore a pleasure to us to join the other banks of Hood River in announcing that effective June 1st, we are raising the rate of interest in our Savings Department from 3% to 4%. Accounts now opened in the Savings Department will bear interest at 3% until June 1st and thereafter the rate will be 4% compounded semi-annually on September 1st and March 1st each year.

By this change we voluntarily increase the earning power of customer's savings thirty-three and a third per cent, with a corresponding increase in our cost of operating this Department. We were not prompted in taking this step by any Utopian motive, however, and we assure you that we expect to increase our volume of business enough to warrant the raise in the interest rate. We are steadily increasing the number of our Savings depositors and the new rate will no doubt bring us new customers and stimulate the old ones to greater activities.

When we were children, we used to say—

"If you your lips would save from slips,
Five things observe with care,
Of whom you speak, to whom you speak,
And how and when and where."

Paraphrasing this couplet:

"If you yourself would save your self,
These things keep well in mind,
A Savings Account that continues to mount,
Will ne'er let you get behind."

PRIMARY DRAWS SMALL VOTE

REPUBLICANS CHOOSE WITHYCOMBE

Smith Leads Bennett for Democratic gubernatorial Choice—Shoemaker Gets Clerkship Nomination

No election in the history of Hood River county has been more quiet than last Friday's primaries. Usually on election night the streets are crowded, and crowds of expectant citizens throng the polling places. A large number of citizens have always heretofore assembled at the rooms of the Commercial club to hear the returns. But on Friday night the streets were pretty well clear, by 10 o'clock and by midnight, except for the lights in the buildings where the elections had been held, and the tired voice of the judge calling off the names of the candidates, no one would ever have known that an election had been held here. A light vote was cast throughout the county.

The count came in slowly. The election board of the West precinct at the city hall did not finish their task of counting out until "rosy fingered dawn" was painting the eastern sky.

Hood River county and the state at large gave Dr. James Withycombe a large plurality for the governorship. Moser was second choice of the Republicans with Crawford third, followed by Dimmick, Carter, Geer and Johns.

For Democratic nomination for governor Dr. C. J. Smith led the field, he not receiving a plurality of about 1,500 votes over Judge A. S. Bennett, of the Dalles. Judge Bennett carried Hood River county by the plurality of 36 votes.

The progressive vote, state wide, as so small as to be negligible. Gill received the nomination for governor. Hood River county lost out on the nomination for joint representation for the twenty-ninth district. A. I. Mason received the smallest vote of the four candidates in both Hood River and Wasco counties. Stranahan's vote was heavy in this county, but the pluralities of Kelly and Anderson were so heavy in Wasco county that his local vote could not overcome them, and the two Wasco men received the nomination.

The Democrats, writing in the names, nominated M. H. Hill and Frank G. Dick, the latter of the Dalles, for representative. The Republican nominations for county officers were: Commissioner, Ed Hawkes; sheriff, Thomas F. Johnson; clerk, Kent Shoemaker; assessor, Jasper Wickham; coroner, Dr. H. L. Dumble; surveyor, Murray Kay; justice of peace, A. C. Buck, and constable, E. S. Olinger.

Ralph W. Williams received the nomination for Republican national committeeman. George M. Brown was the choice for attorney general; John H. Lewis, state engineer; O. P. Hoff, labor commissioner; Frank J. Miller, railroad commissioner. H. M. Estery received the Democratic nomination for national committeeman.

R. A. Booth received practically the unanimous Republican vote for United States Senator on the Republican ticket, he having no opponents, and N. J. Sinnott received a like tribute in the second congressional district. Democratic nominees were: County commissioner, J. H. Dunlop, of Cascade Locks; sheriff, Thomas F. Johnson, who won over his Democratic opponent, Hart by a small plurality; county clerk, J. H. Hazlett, Shoemaker, however, receiving a comparatively large Democratic vote; assessor, Sam W. Heppner; coroner, Dr. V. R. Abraham.

MISS NORTHEY ISSUES LIBRARY INSTRUCTION

For the convenience of those making use of the county library Miss Della Northey, librarian, has compiled the following instructions, which she declares she will be glad to further explain to all calling at the desk:

The use of the catalog, reference books or indexes will be gladly explained upon application to the librarian. Books on shelves are arranged in numerical order from 100 to 900 and under each number alphabetically by author. The classification scheme divides all subjects into ten classes which are divided and subdivided decimally, thus keeping all books on the same subject together. The dictionary card catalog is arranged alphabetically by author, title and subject. The numbers in the upper left hand corner represent the numbers on the backs of the books and show to what class the book belongs, and where it may be found on the shelves.

Reader's guide to periodical literature: These indexes bring out the material found in bound magazines and in current numbers and are arranged alphabetically like a dictionary. Lists of books and magazine articles on subjects of debate, topics for papers, addresses, etc., are kept on file and no lists compiled for clubs and individuals upon request.

GROWERS FAIL TO CALL FOR SEED

Several weeks ago the Cloud-Newton Company, the local cannery people, secured contracts from many of the farmers to plant beans for experimental purposes. They agreed to supply the seed and in return to buy whatever seed was raised as a result of these trials. Relying on these contracts the cannery people went ahead and had a sufficient quantity of seed shipped in to meet all demands. Quite a number who had promised to go into this line have failed to live up to their part of the contract and Messrs. Cloud and Newton find themselves with a large quantity of seed yet unaccounted for, and the season already well advanced.

This cannery is just what Hood River had needed for several years, and now that it is actually here and almost ready to begin operations local growers to give it all the support possible. Those who have promised to plant peas and beans for this institution should make every effort to carry out their part of the contract.

Manager Cloud states that he is now looking applications for help for the coming season. Packing operations will probably begin about June 1, or a few days earlier, depending upon the strawberry field picks.

SUDDEN DEATH COMES TO MRS. A. M. HOBSON

Although no one of the Pioneer women of the valley participated with greater animation at the reunion at the home of Mrs. Bert Stranahan last Friday, all were shocked Monday afternoon to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. A. M. Hobson, the mother of Mrs. W. F. Laraway, who was stricken Sunday morning. Mrs. Hobson was apparently in the best of health Saturday night and walked up town with her daughter and Mr. Laraway.

Mrs. Hobson, who was a cousin of Richard Pearson Hobson, member of congress of Alabama, was the oldest registered woman voter in Hood River county. She cast her first ballot at the primaries last Friday.

Mrs. Hobson was a native of Ohio, but removed to Illinois in 1842. She resided for 58 years. She came here to reside a little over a year ago. Up to the time of the fatal attack she had enjoyed the best of health, and her passing was quiet, like a tired child going to sleep.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Bartness chapel. Rev. E. A. Harris conducting the service, after which interment followed at Hillside cemetery.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Laraway, Mrs. Hobson leaves surviving the following daughter and sons: Mrs. Orpha Hales, of Auburn, Neb.; James R. Hunt, of this city, and Charles and Eugene Hunt, of Craig, Colo. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. S. A. Ingham, of Midland, Texas, and Mrs. Emily Tutwell, of Okoboji, Iowa. Mr. Hobson, who was a Civil War veteran and a member of the Grand Army, preceded Mrs. Hobson to the grave a little over two years ago. Mrs. Hobson was for many years a worker in the Woman's Relief Corps.

The pall bearers were L. M. Bentley, S. F. Blythe, D. McDonald, Newton Clark, John A. Wilson and S. Cople.

MISS JOHNSON SITS IN POLICE COURT

Miss Lucile Johnson, deputy city recorder, on account of the illness of Recorder Howe, who underwent an operation at the Cottage hospital Saturday, became police judge Monday morning. The duties devolved on Miss Johnson when City Marshal Carson called at the office announcing that he was holding Pete Couver, an Indian half breed, on a charge of drunkenness. Miss Johnson was unshaken by the necessity of pronouncing sentence, and proceeded at once to the city hall, where the Indian was brought before her. After administering a fine of $8 she gave the prisoner a sharp lecture, admonishing him to leave alone fire water. "If you come before me again," she said, "your fine will be doubled."

This is the first instance in the state where a woman has presided over a police court.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF GROWERS MAY 23

A meeting of the growers for the purpose of nominating a board of directors of the Apple Growers Association and to perfect the bylaws of the cooperative organization will be held at the Commercial club next Saturday, May 23, at 2 p. m.

Attention is called to the importance of considering the bylaws with the greatest of care before their adoption. This is the most important matter to come before the growers and it is hoped that every grower will be present and take an active part in this meeting. All the apple pools have been closed and reports on all the leading varieties will be read at Saturday's meeting.

Johnson Corrects Erroneous Rumors

In statements made yesterday Thomas F. Johnson, nominee of three tickets for sheriff, sought to correct erroneous rumors that have been circulated since recent campaign meetings before the Friday primaries. "From remarks that I made in answer to questions propounded to me at Pine Grove," said Mr. Johnson, "rumors have emanated to the effect that I had reflections on Judge Derby as county attorney. Such a meaning was foreign to my mind, when I stated that I could do nothing toward bringing guilty parties to justice unless aided by grand juries and the district attorney. It must be remembered that I have served under four different district attorneys and three deputies during my three years in office. Judge Derby has only been in office for two meetings of court, and I have always found him ready to do his utmost toward the upholding of the laws and bringing guilty parties before the court."

Japanese Plays "Possum"

An overload of sake caused a Japanese boy to play "possum" by the side of Portland Way in the Oak Grove district Sunday. The Oriental, apparently lifeless, was discovered by a number of boys. A call was put in for Undertaker Bartness. While the crowd held a wake, awaiting Mr. Bartness, the Jap turned over and grunted. After the mourners recovered from their scare, Mr. Bartness was recalled and a physician summoned. An emetic was administered and the Jap recovered.

Northwestern Drives Logs

The Northwestern Electric Co. last week completed a drive of logs and debris dumped into the White Salmon river at the time of the construction of their huge dam about two miles from Underwood. The logs jammed in the narrows just below their dam and after a great deal of work the jam was broken last Saturday. The logs were made into a raft and taken to Cascade Locks, where they were sold to the Wind River Lumber Co., while the slashings were beached at Underwood for cordwood.

APPLE ESTIMATES MAY BE REDUCED

STRAWBERRY OUTLOOK EXCELLENT

Seig Will Manage Portland Office of Distributors—Re-Organization Meeting of Association Saturday

The Northwestern apple crop may not be as large as early estimates have placed it, according to Wilmer Sieg. The fruit is shedding in all districts and the early estimates will in almost all fruit centers be cut. The Hood River valley according to Mr. Sieg and others who have looked over the orchards will be doing well to pass the million boxes. However early estimates placed the crop conservatively at 1,250,000 boxes.

Oscar Vanderhill, Chas. Castner, W. B. Dickerson and Mr. Sieg have just returned from Spokane, where they attended a conference of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors on grading and packing rules. "The rules will remain very similar to those of last year," says Mr. Sieg. "But many small details, on which misunderstandings could be based, will be eliminated and the rules, which will soon be issued, made plain to everyone."

Hood River strawberries will begin to roll in carload quantities next week. The strawberry market is showing considerable strength proportionate to quality," says Mr. Sieg. "The over-lapping of California berries caused a little weakness in some of the markets, but the California fruit will be entirely cleaned up this week. The local berries should begin to roll next week, and we expect extremely good values, on account of the quality of the fruit."

The Apple Growers Association has closed its pools on last year's apple crops and a report of final returns will be made at a meeting called for next Saturday. The final steps in the process of reorganizing the Association along more closely cooperative lines will also be consummated at this meeting. According to the plans of the Association, under the reorganization, growers who are affiliated with the concern will have a direct membership representation and in addition a representation based on tonnage. All elections of officers and settlements of problems confronting the organization must carry both a majority membership and tonnage vote.

Directors will be nominated Saturday and by laws for the reorganized cooperative association discussed. At the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Distributors at Spokane the first of the week it was definitely decided to establish an office in Portland. Mr. Sieg, who will have charge of the handling of the local strawberry crop, will take charge of the Portland office.

The Portland headquarters will be connected with and receive the benefit of the exhaustive selling machinery already established by the Distributors in 38 states of this country and 10 foreign lands.

When the shipping season is started Mr. Sieg will be in receipt of hourly information as to where the fruits of western Oregon are in demand. At any hour of the day he will know at what price and of any grade or of mixed fruits may be secured.

The meeting of the trustees concluded the first year of business of the organization. Reports submitted show that it had during the year 1913 a total of 3858 cars of fruit and that it paid the growers of Washington, Idaho and Oregon $3,069,935.51 for the fruit. Outside of Hood River the most of the money has gone to Washington and Idaho growers. Hood River sold 620 cars of apples through the Distributors during the last season. The average price to the grower for apples was $1.25 per box.

Arrangements were completed also for financing Oregon growers and practically the same. J. B. Robbins was reappointed general manager. The officers are H. F. Davidson, Hood River, Ore., president; W. N. Yost, Meridian, Idaho, vice president, and H. C. Sampson, Spokane, secretary. All members of the board of trustees whose terms had expired had been re-elected by the respective district or subnational organizations. D. W. Rodrick, of Wenatchee, was added to the executive committee.

FESTIVAL STUNTS TO BE SPECTACULAR

The eighth annual rose festival to be held in Portland June 9 to 12, inclusive, will be the most elaborate and entertaining celebration on the Pacific coast this year. For thrilling novelty the spectacular "conflagration" in which an eight story factory building, new and costing $550,000 and occupying an entire block will be theoretically "destroyed," with hundreds of living people actually saved by fire drills, use of life nets and other life saving apparatus, will be one of the most picturesque events ever produced. The entire fire department of the city will be called out, the building treated with chemicals, red fire and other materials to give the proper effects and the whole spectacle will be supervised and conducted by a professional stage director. This amazing "stunt" will be held in the heart of the city. The fire department will be called upon to save 300 persons from the fire through various modern methods employed in such emergencies.

Second Good Roads Day Postponed

On account of the early maturity of strawberries, eliminating the work that would be done by the rural residents of the city, the Commercial club good roads committee has postponed indefinitely the city's second good roads day, the date of which was today. The business men, professional men and merchants of the city will probably not work the roads again until after the busy summer season has passed.
