N.W.F. EXCHANGE MEN DISCUSS SKOOKUMS

Representatives of the important districts devoted to apple growing met in Portland last week at the Northwest Fruit Exchange headquarters to discuss ways and means for taking care of the rapidly growing demand for Skookum apples. Peshastin, Cashmere, Hood River, Rogue River and Mosier were represented by the following members: M. W. Starks, president Peshastin Fruit Growers Ass'n.; J. F. Sgrue, president Cashmere Fruit Growers Union; S. V. Beckwith, manager Rogue River Fruit and Produce Ass'n.; R. D. Chaffield, manager Hood River Fruit Growers Ass'n.; J. C. Skinner, manager Hood River Fruit Growers Exchange.

The first half of the day was devoted to the reading of reports and a general discussion of the foreign market. The export problem is more readily worked out by close cooperation with resident agents in the foreign countries. The forming of the Exchange has tended to systematize the apple situation. By the inter community system of shipping, waste and loss of time is eliminated, with the result that consumers in foreign countries get a uniformly better and higher grade product and are willing to pay a better price than under the old style of handling the business.

REPORT SHOWS BIG APPLE INCREASE

The report on the apple crop, issued by the Department of Agriculture, shows crop averages up to July 1, indicates that there will be a heavy production of apples in the United States this year. While the general average for the entire country falls slightly below the average of 1912, the exact difference being 3.7 per cent, yet it is 4.8 per cent greater than in 1913. The report also is of interest because it shows that the crop averages are higher in the big apple producing states, with only two or three exceptions, than either of the two years of 1912 or 1913. It also should be remembered that the crop of last year showed a heavy deterioration on account of a drought after the July crop estimates of that season were issued. These facts should be taken into consideration in estimating and comparing this year's crop.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble
When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stingle, Plainfield, N. J., writes: "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all dealers.

Safro Joins Spray Co.

Prof. V. I. Safro, formerly of the Oregon Agricultural College, who was connected with the local experiment station, has accepted a position as entomologist for one of the large eastern spray companies. Prof. Safro, who was offered work at an experiment station at Montevideo, South America, will conduct a kind of clearing house between growers who use the spray and the company. He will visit the different districts in all parts of the country and assist the growers in the application of the spray materials by studying their conditions and making experiments.

"I hope to be in Hood River several times each year," said Prof. Safro, while here last week.

It is also good for rheumatism, sore throat, chest pains and sprains. You don't need to rub—it penetrates. Mr. J. R. I used Sloan's Liniment for two or three nights and I haven't suffered with my head since." Get a bottle today. The Interpreter

It is to be expected, perhaps, that babies will become brighter as the human race progresses in intellectual development. "He is such a clever little dear," the fond mother explained. "He had never been told what flowers were, but the moment he saw them he said, 'bwohs.'"

NUNAMAKER CO. DIS-PLAYS NEW SIZER

J. R. Nunamaker & Co. have placed on exhibition one of their new sizer machines, "The Pride of Oregon." Invented this winter by J. Nunamaker, at the store room formerly occupied by Kelly Bros. on Fourth street. With Mr. Nunamaker is associated J. L. Velstrorf and Geo. W. Dimmick.

The new machine, which distributes eight sizes, two grades at once, is one of the most simply constructed sizers ever placed on the market. The apples are placed in a groove between slats and move on an endless chain. The fruit passes beneath a set of boards which take the apples off, distributing them in bins for the packers, the big apples first. The small fruit is passed off at the end of the chain, to be used for cider or whatever other use the grower may have for calls.

The machine is driven by a motor of one-thirtieth of a horse power. It takes about the same amount of energy to operate "The Pride of Oregon," as to operate a 40 seat Masina lamp. The motor is placed out of the way on top of the machine.

Mr. Nunamaker, known as the valley's "cherry king," invented a sizer this winter for the market last year. The new machine, which has attracted a great deal of attention because of its simplicity and effectiveness, is far ahead of the machine put out last season.

"I made the machine this winter when I had nothing else to do in the evening but smoke and think," says Mr. Nunamaker. "I must have got out models for about five machines."

Mason Makes Statements

Hood River, Or., July 16, 1914.
Editor Glacier—I believe the next best thing for us to do is to ask the county court to place on the ballot at our December election a proposition to bond our full limit and improve the roads in our valley for the farmers.

While we who opposed the Columbia river road bonds were defeated, we shall continue to work for the betterment of our community with the same loyal spirit we have always done. To us, we considered the building of this road, before we built the roads over which we must haul our million boxes of apples, was nothing more nor less than a moral crime.

While we were falsely placed before the public by all the daily and weekly press and the advertisements sent out by the bonding committee, thereby causing many wounds to be made between once the best of friends, yet we shall do our part toward forgetting all those who we know were responsible for such. But there has been much said that, if left unspoken, would have left bitter friendship. When a campaign must be made personal and an appeal made to the prejudice of men in order to win, we are then but a step ahead of the less intelligent race of the South Sea islands. You have asked me if I believe in all of us getting together in order to build a greater Hood River valley. I have always, by act, voice and pen done so, and were the papers of our valley inclined to be fair with our citizens and treat all as though they were intelligent beings, and leave out that spirit of tearing down a man's character in order to accomplish some questionable move, we would not pass through such a campaign as we have recently done and leave in our hearts such bitterness. Though forgiven, it will never be forgotten.
—A. I. Mason.

Just Little Stories

A local merchant tells the following good one: "It is about a Jew peddler, an automobile party and a railroad train. The automobile party was attempting to cross the railroad track. The train came along, and the result was three killed and two seriously injured. The train did not stop. It did not even hesitate."

"About a half hour later the Jew peddler hove in sight, walking down the track. One of the injured men was just regaining consciousness.

"What's der matter?" asked the peddler.

"The injured man explained between groans as best he could.

"Has der claim agent been along?" asked the peddler.

"Nobdy has been along, as far as I know," was the reply.

"Vell," said the other, "if you haf no objections I'll dake off my pack and lay down mit you."

A Perfect Cathartic

There is sure and wholesome action in every dose of Foley Cathartic Tablets. They cleanse with never a gripe or pain. P. A. Morgan, Goro, Ga., writes: "I lately had occasion to use a liver medicine, and took Foley Cathartic Tablets. They thoroughly cleansed my system, and I felt like a new man—light and free." Chronic cases of constipation find them invaluable. Stout people are relieved of that bloated, congested feeling, so uncomfortable especially in hot weather. They keep your liver busy. Sold by Chas. N. Clarke.

The Very Idea

Two suburban mothers met on the train one day, and the topic of their conversation was their daughters.

"How did your daughter pass her examination for a position as teacher?" asked one.

"Pass!" was the answer. "She did not pass at all. Maybe you wouldn't believe it, but they asked that girl about things that happened long before she was born."—July Lippincott's.
