FIREMAN TEAM LICKS HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

In what many of the rooters in attendance considered the best exhibition of football witnessed here in many days the team of the Volunteer fire department last Friday afternoon defeated the high school team by a score of 20 to 13. All the stores and places of business in the city were closed for the event and despite the severe weather 3000 people, the largest crowd to see a game this year, were present. The contest was interesting throughout. Just before the game was called Napoleon Moore, who is managing the sale of the Frank A. Crum store, announced that a white sweater would be given to the man making the first touch-down. In less than 10 minutes Walter Ford, right half on the fireman team, had taken Mr. Moore's number and was owner of the fine sweater.

The firemen wanted a game with the high school on Thanksgiving day, but were unable to get a date until Friday. Many sensational plays were made, and the spectators were kept running from one end of the field to the other. Between the first and second half of the game the students of the high school formed a line and gave a serpentine over the field, marching to their warlike cry, "H. R., H. R., H. R. H. S., H. R."

Seven members of the fireman team were alumni of the high school and had formerly played on victorious teams. They had not forgotten the team work of the old days, and their former training was responsible for the victory.

The ground of Columbia park, partially frozen, was rougher than usual, and many of the players were wearing plasters and walking with limps Saturday. The lineup was as follows:

Firemen	High School
Ford	r h l	Coshow
Baker	f b	Stanton
Franz	l h r	M. Button
Osgood	q b	Nickelsen
Carson	r e l	Tollman
R. Moe	r t l	Voehran
Crump	r g l	Vonder Ahe
Ross	l t r	Jacobsen
Dobson	l g r	Lancaster
McGuire	l t r	A. Button
Shay	l e r	Bragg

Substitutions: Shrum for Carson, Bell for Osgood, E. Franz for Dobson. Referee, Weber, Umpire, Thompson.

This game will give the high school a standing again with local people which they in measure lost last year owing to their low standing in the athletic line. Mal Button was probably the most valuable man of the high school, going in time after time and tackling the firemen before they made a move. George Bragg was a peppery game, making both of the high school touch downs. The remarkable feature of this was that Bragg played end instead of the backfield and made both touchdowns on fumbles of the firemen.

The high school line held strong in punches, at times not allowing the heavy fireman line to gain an inch. "Geg" Franz was able to make more yardage than either Baker or Ford of the fire fighters, although the latter played a plugging game and run good interference.

Coch Crites, of the high school, says, "If I could have had Abraham in the game the score would have been different. However, we gave them a good rub at that."

The only "fatality" of the game was two injured fingers for Coshow, captain of the high school team, who played all through the quarter with the two injured members.

GIRLS SUCCESSFUL WITH VIKING CAFE

Miss Selma Carlson and Miss Adelaide Nordskott, who just nine months ago began the operation of The Viking, a delicatessen and luncheonette and supper place in the old library room in the Smith building, have been very successful in their business venture. Their business has increased from the start, and shortly after they began serving their luncheons it was found necessary to include breakfasts also. They recently removed to Oak street and have done a general restaurant business since they opened for business there.

The proprietresses of The Viking have displayed pluck and enterprise, and their efforts have been appreciated by the Hood River public.

"We are not going to serve dinner on Christmas day," says Miss Nordskott, "for that's a day on which everyone wants to eat at home or with friends. We, ourselves, shall take a vacation that day and visit with Portland friends."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy—The Mothers' Favorite
"I gave Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to my children when they have colds or coughs," writes Mrs. Verne Shaffer, Vandergrift, Pa. It always helps them and is far superior to any other cough medicine I have used. I advise anyone in need of such a medicine to give it a trial. For sale by all dealers.

Just Little Stories
A London gentleman, to reward a faithful steward who had charge of his country estate, invited the Scott to the city, where he hoped to show him a good time. He took the Scott to a cafe where the best dinner on the menu was ordered. Champagne was brought forth, and the Scotchman tossed off glass after glass. However, he seemed to get in no wise merrier. Finally he asked very gloomily: "Can't they serve us a bit of whiskey here? This mineral water dinna seem to argue with me."

Sick Two Years with Indigestion
"Two years ago I was greatly benefited through using two or three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Mrs. S. A. Keller, Elda, Ohio. "Before taking them I was sick for two years with indigestion." Sold by all dealers.

Kollas Grows Fine Potatoes
Among the finest potatoes grown in Hood River county this year were produced on the place of Frank A. Kollas at Summit. Several of the big tubers, which were produced without irrigation, tipped the scales at five and three quarter pounds. Many of them weighed as much as four pounds. Mr. Kollas photographed eight of the potatoes, the total weight of which was 38 pounds.

Swellings of the flesh caused by inflammation, cold, fractures of the bone, toothache, neuralgia or rheumatism can be relieved by applying Ballard's Snow Liniment. It should be well rubbed in over the part affected. Its great healing and penetrating power eases the pain, reduces swelling and restores natural conditions. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Chas. N. Clarke.

NICKELSEN RAISES THOUSANDS OF FOWLS

The largest chicken yard in the Hood River valley is owned by J. R. Nickelsen and is located in the Frankton district less than two miles west of the city. Mr. Nickelsen has been raising chickens by the thousands for several years. Last year he hatched 2500 young chicks; and the year before his hatchings numbered 3,000, a number equal to the total population of Hood River.

Frankton district has been divided into lots. Mr. Nickelsen has two lots there. One of them he calls Alderbrook. Thus he terms his handsome country home. The other, on which are the big poultry pens, is called the Hood River Poultry Yards. Both names are registered with the Secretary of State.

At the present time Mr. Nickelsen has 800 fowls. He specializes in White Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, White Holland turkeys and Indian Runner ducks. It requires a ton and a half of grain to feed Mr. Nickelsen's fowls a month. He has 65 young cockerels. In another pen he has 100 Rhode Island Red hens which he is trap nesting, in order that he may determine from which fowls to secure breeding eggs next year.

"I never secure breeding eggs from pullets," he says, "but always use the trap nest on the young chickens, thus finding out the good layers."

While Mr. Nickelsen usually attends the poultry shows, in order to secure good stock, having been in Portland last week, he never breeds for show purposes. "However," he says, "no bird is used in my pens that shows standard disqualifications for any show."

Last year Mr. Nickelsen kept a record of the cost of producing eggs. The food for White Leghorns to produce a dozen eggs cost 11 cents, while for the heavier species, White Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds, the cost was 13 cents a dozen.

"I find that one thing we have to guard against in getting eggs in the winter time is in letting our hens get too fat. I make my hens work for their food. The grain is not thrown out in heaps but placed in straw, and the chickens scratch until dark, and I find them at work when I get up in the morning. When hens are too fat they will lay soft shelled eggs, which may be found upon the roosters."

"I am selling many chickens now," says Mr. Nickelsen. Two pens of Rhode Island Reds from the Hood River Poultry Yards were shipped recently to British Consul Cherry at Astoria. Mr. Cherry will send the chickens to England for breeding purposes.

Mr. Nickelsen says that he and Mrs. Nickelsen have canned a great number of chickens the past year. "My neighbors I find, too, have been canning many chickens," he says. "In the fall of the year, before food gets scarce it is economical to can the fowls. The canned chicken makes mighty tasty eating in the winter months. One day not long ago I killed about 40 chickens to be canned. We put them up in pint Mason jars."

SOUTH AMERICAN MARKETS STUDIED

With the United States Department of Markets assisting, every effort is now being made to find points of the profitable distribution of the northwestern products. The Department of Commerce is contemplating the appointment of a representative to make a thorough investigation of South American countries.

Edward A. Brand, assistant chief of the Bureau of Forestry, who was in Portland last week, made this announcement. Mr. Brand declares that great opportunities await United States growers and manufacturers. However, he declares that representatives must be sent to the South American countries to study the conditions existing. A different credit system must be established.
