When subscribers desire a change in address their office should be notified promptly, and a week before if possible. Always give old address as well as the new. Also, Hood River subscribers should notify this office at once when changing their address from one rural route to another, or from city delivery to country delivery, or vice versa. If you do not get your paper promptly, notify us by mail or telephone and the matter will be investigated.

THE WATER HOG

Irrigation companies complain of water hogs, and the city water department declares that he exists in numbers within the city limits—the water hog, whose grass grows ever green, while that of his neighbors might as well be salted down; for the water superintendent has ordered a cessation of sprinkling.

The precipitation is all that is needed now, but soon June and July sunshine will be on us, and the laws of the city will be calling for copious drinks every night. It is then that the water hog gets in his work. You may pass his residence in the late night hours and you will hear the slow hiss of water escaping from his faucets. The end of the hose is stuck away in an obscure little hole, but a stream flows gently forth and on the morrow that lawn will smile despite the sunshine.

The Hood River municipal water system affords sufficient water for irrigation, if it is not abused. Too many patrons allow the hose to run after hours. The ordinances and rules governing sprinkling should be strictly enforced. In which case much worry will be eliminated, and all residents will be given a fair chance. Offenders should be checked to the limit. They have been dealt with too leniently in the past.

A city ordinance provides that all manure pits be so built that flies cannot find entrance. Yet how many comply with the law? No nuisance in the city is greater. The thousands of flies that worry the babies and tickle our bald heads will continue to exist as long as their breeding haunts are left so undisturbed.

"I did! I didn't! Toot! Toot!" is the little game being played this week by Judge Stanton and the Commercial club. Just a little harmless fun.

Under smiling April skies, let us sing and work; for we will soon be eating as fine strawberries and cherries as ever graced a king's table.

Help a little when you are asked to contribute toward the boys' swimming pool fund.

And now the husbandman may be seen hanging the screen door.

Are you observing clean-up week?

CIRCUIT COURT IS STILL IN SESSION

While jury trials have been concluded with Circuit Judge Bradshaw is still presiding over a session of the court here disposing of equity cases. While no very important cases have come at this term, a number of small cases have demanded the attention of the court.

The grand jury returned indictments against the following: Albert Hirtleman, on a charge of larceny by bailment; D. A. Chambers, charged with non support of his wife, and Dr. J. H. McVay, who is alleged to have unlawfully given a liquor prescription to Geo. Martin.

Hirtleman was tried by a jury. He was accused of having marketed wood belonging to Margulie & Blair, while in the employ of the former, pocketing the money. While the evidence showed that Hirtleman had received the money from the wood, it was shown that he did not have anything to do with the sale of the same, and was set forth in the complaint. Judge Bradshaw accordingly instructed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant.

Chambers pleaded guilty and was placed under bond to care for his wife. Dr. McVay moved to have his case continued until the next term of court. While Martin is alleged to be an habitual drunkard, Dr. McVay states that he came to him after having been on an spree at the Dalles and that the liquor was procured because it was needed by the man in his condition.

Low Railroad Rates and Privileges of Routing Never Before Possible Are Included In the Many Inducements to Visit America's Great Panama Canal Celebration. $50,000,000 Invested; 80,000 Exhibitors Represented.

It is estimated by the traffic experts of the great transcontinental railways that the travel movement westward during the present year, with the great world's Exposition at San Francisco as the goal, will be the greatest in all history. There are but few persons anywhere who have not felt the longing to visit California some time, and with the attraction of the world's greatest and possibly its last universal Exposition to draw them westward those who go traveling in 1915 will "see America first," with San Francisco as an objective.

Some indication of the interest taken in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is found in the pre-Exposition attendance, the greatest in the entire history of expositions, amounting to an average of 10,000 persons a day. These visitors carried away with them to all parts of the country and of the world accounts of the beauties and the marvels they had seen, and as a result the remark has become common throughout the United States and abroad, "It's not a case of 'Can I afford to visit the Exposition?' but 'Can I afford to miss it?'"

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition has more foreign national pavilions than any exposition ever held—in spite of the European war.

No exposition ever was situated as this one is where such a large number of the scenic wonders of the world can be visited at no increase of cost while en route, going and coming, and it is the only great International Exposition to be ready on time! The rates agreed upon by the great transportation companies, of approximately one-half fare for the round trip, with a ninety day limit, have never been equaled.

Certainly not in this generation, and probably not for generations to come, will such an opportunity be offered to combine in one trip visits to the scenic wonder spots of the continent, with the education and entertainment to be had in the dazzling wonderland that has risen on the shore of the Pacific.

Colossal Colonnades of the Greco-Roman Wings to Palace of Fine Arts.

Curving 1,100 feet around the foliaged shores of the Fine Arts lagoon, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, these mighty pillars are reflected, mirrored, in the limpid waters of the lagoon, affording one of the prettiest views at San Francisco's great Exposition.

ATTRACTIVE BOOK ON THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AND PANAMA CANAL MAILED FREE.

A PICTURESQUE book of sixty pages, profusely illustrated in colors and giving detailed descriptions of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to be held in San Francisco from Feb. 20 to Dec. 4, 1915, and of the Panama canal and canal region, will be mailed by the Exposition free of charge to all inquirers. The booklet is intended for prospective visitors and will also contain information concerning the great engineering feat which the Exposition is to celebrate. Write to the Manager, Bureau of Publication, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Exposition Building, San Francisco, for booklet.

REPARTÉE AT THE CARD TABLE

An Amateur Bridge Player "Comes Back" at a Typical Auction Tyrant. JONES didn't want to play cards, never had wanted to play cards in his life, and said so, but to no purpose. His objections, conscientious and otherwise, were waved to one side by the red faced person who was looking for a partner.

Jones took his seat at the card table. Before they had been playing fifteen seconds Jones and the red faced person took a forty horsepower dislike for each other. Then the wretched Jones made his first serious mistake. He of the ruddy complexion banged the table.

"Why on earth didn't you follow my lead?" he shouted. "If there is one man in this world today whose odious example I would not follow in any circumstances you are the man!" retorted Jones, with dignity.

After that the jolly pastime proceeded. Then Jones put his foot in it again, and again the ruddy one banged the table.

"Couldn't you see me calling for a spade or a club?" "Haven't you got a black suit, man?" "Yes, I have," said Jones, rising from the table, "and I'm jolly well hanging on to it for your funeral!"—Haltmore American.

Local Color. Successful Author—Yes, I have been wishing for an opportunity to visit that section of the country for a number of years. Sympathetic Friend—And why, might I ask? Successful Author—Oh, I once wrote a popular novel with the scene laid around there and I want to see how the local color matches up.—Florida Times-Union.

Rare Machine. "I saw young Suburo running a new machine this morning." "Was it one of the latest models?" "I couldn't say." "I thought you knew all about motors." "So I do. But I don't know any thing about lawn mowers."—Kansas City Star.

Hurt His Feelings. "What do you think of this concrete furniture Edison is making?" asked the boarding house lady. "Well, I don't think they can possibly make a bed any harder than the one I'm trying to sleep on," was the boarder's feeling reply.—Yonkers Statesman.

There Was a Difference. Schoolmaster—Now, if your mother gave you a large apple and a small one, and told you to divide with your brother, which apple would you give him? Johnny—D'you mean my big brother or my little brother?—Tit-Bits.

Oh, That's Different. "Your former husband must still love you." "Why so?" "He tells me that he owes a great deal to you." "He's referring to the back alimony."—Pittsburgh Post.

Suspicious. "She's the most suspicious woman I ever met." "So?" "Yep. She even accuses her husband of patronizing a lady barber."—Detroit Free Press.
