It takes a strong imagination to believe in some of the promises made by some sellers of shoes. Things that you know are impossible are offered as glibly as the most reasonable propositions. We are not selling shoes for our health nor do we believe any one else is. But we know that our prices are as low as honest qualities will permit.

LOCAL FOLK WILL ATTEND FESTIVAL

As on former years, many local people will be in Portland next week to attend the rose festival. The management of the great carnival event, when Portland and contiguous communities are visited by tourists from all parts of the country, are preparing many new and attractive features.

A new rose festival song has been written by Mrs. L. A. Henderson, of Seaside, Ore. "The Whole World Knows the Portland Rose," the new festival slogan, is the title. The poem follows:

Out west the purpling haze lies close
Over wondrous snow-clad peaks.
Out west the gleaming waterfall
In dazzling brilliance leaps.
Out west the sweet, pine-scented breeze
From the fragrant forest blows.
Out west there's a wealth of glorious bloom,
Out west is the Portland rose.

Chorus:
The whole world knows the Portland rose!
Its queenly air, its beauty rare
Within the hearts which all enshrine
No other rose is half so fair.
Its tints the glint of sunrise shows!
Its soft blush glows! It gaily throbs
Its fragrance to the passing breeze,
The whole world knows the Portland rose!

Out west there is wealth for all who come
With a brave, undaunted will.
The orchards yield their perfect fruit,
The streams run many a mill.
There's precious hidden ore to mine,
Golden grain luxuriant grows.
There's wealth in the herds of peaceful kine,
There's wealth in the Portland rose.
Out west the men and women stand
Side by side for all that's fair.
They bravely fight for civic right,
The hardest tasks are theirs to share.
They greet you with their outstretched hands,
With the spirit the west bestows.
Their hearts are as pure, and sweet,
and good,
As the heart of the Portland rose.

Just Little Stories

One of the dressiest men in police circles in the northwest is Superintendent Davis, of the O. W. R. & N. Co., who has often visited in Hood River and who is well acquainted with local officers; that is, on an ordinary occasion. One night last week, however, Officer Davis arrived in Hood River disguised as a tramp. When the train halted in the local yards he pulled his felt hat down over his face, gave a hitch to his ragged pants and with other weary Willies started up town. He had already spotted B. B. Smith, local night officer and planned a little fun.

"Hey, you fellows," called Smith, when he saw them headed for town, "take this train and get out of here!" "Ah, what yer givin' us," sneered Davis, laughing in his sleeve. "Go chase yourself!" The words aroused the local officers' ire, and a stampede of ready to add to moral persuasion with well delivered strokes of his "billy," when Davis realized that an opportune time to make himself known had arrived.

From reports that are going the rounds of the town and that seem very authentic, some of the good housewives of the city are being served such bountiful feasts, when they call at back doors, that they are interfering with the work of the police department. It is stated that some of the women actually cook meals of fried eggs, coffee and biscuit for the hobo camps. The great brotherhood of the unwashed are quick to make the most of such homes and the goodness of such women is quickly abused.

Did Bert Stranahan, when he went to Portland last Monday, see the Sells-Floto circus? Answer, No. And he was the most disappointed man in the Rose City. Mr. Stranahan is ever building over with that great lubricant that oils the paths of mortals, human nature, and he never misses a circus. Last Monday Mr. Stranahan's eyes were bothering him, and he decided not only to go to Portland to have them tested, but to see the stunts at the great circus.

He missed the early morning train, but took the afternoon local. After some business, he hastened to the show grounds, got in line, selected the right coin for the cost of an admission, and gradually moved toward the ticket wagon. But five people were between Mr. Stranahan and the wagon, when down went the window and a sign bearing the following was displayed: "SOLD OUT"

GUERNSEY COWS LEAD IN TESTS

Grade Guernsey cows and grade Holsteins are among the best milkers, according to the New Richmond, Wis., News, one of the owners of which is a son of Dr. M. E. Welch, of this city. Speaking of a recent contest among cowmen, the Wisconsin paper says:

The statistics show that for the third 28 day testing period the grade Guernsey has again a slight edge on its grade Holstein competitor, the profit earned by the Guernsey being $5.83 as compared with the Holstein's $5.64, with the scrub lagging way behind as usual, her profit for the period being $1.95.

The detailed figures for the third 28 day testing period appear below:
Grade Guernsey—Lbs. milk daily, 38.28.
Total lbs. milk produced, 1071.9.
Average test, 33.29.
Lbs. butter fat, 46.3.
Price butter fat, 32 cents.
Value butter fat, $14.77.
Cost of roughage, $3.25.
Cost of grain, $5.83.

Total cost of feed, $8.94.
Profit, $5.83.
Cost of producing 100 lbs. milk, 84c.
Cost of producing one pound of fat, 19 1/2 cents.
Returns for $1 expended for feed, $1.65.
Grade Holstein—Lbs. milk daily, 38.1.
Total lbs. milk produced, 1069.1.
Average test, 33.29.
Lbs. butter fat, 46.3.
Cost of roughage, $3.14.
Cost of grain, $2.47.
Total cost of feed, $5.61.
Profit, $5.64.
Cost of producing 100 lbs. milk, 82.8 cents.
Cost of producing one pound of fat, 16c.
Returns for $1 expended for feed, $2 plus.

The scrub cow—Lbs. milk daily, 38.7.
Total lbs. milk produced, 948.1.
Average test, 31.4.
Lbs. butter fat, 29.86.
Cost of roughage, $3.56.
Cost of grain, $4.65.
Total cost of feed, $7.61.
Profit, $1.95.
Cost of producing 100 lbs. of milk, 80.2 cents.
Cost of producing one pound of fat, 25.5 cents.

Return for $1 expended for feed, $1.25.
All of which again puts the scrub cow in bad. Her feed bill for the month was within $1.33 as much as that of the grade Guernsey, and an even $2 more than that of the grade Holstein. It undoubtedly was every bit as much work and bother to care for her as either the Guernsey or Holstein, and she was an exceedingly poor third when it came to figuring up the results. The scrub cows are not the breed winners nor the marriage life savers. Also again, the better the cow the better the results and the larger the profits.

GEM PROGRAM TODAY

"Lola." A five reel Shubert drama, featuring Clara Kimball Young.

Friday and Saturday

"Poetic Justice of Omar Khan." A Selig two reel drama by James Oliver Curwood.

"The Heart of Jim Breece." A Vitagraph drama with Maurice Costello, Florence Billings, Thomas R. Mills and little Helen Costello in the lead.

"In the Park." An Essanay comedy. A good one with Charles Chaplin.

Sunday

"The White Goddess." A Kalem three reel feature with Alice Joyce and Guy Coombs. The "White Goddess" is utterly different from the average photo play and shows the most beautiful actress in filmdom in the strongest role of her career. Miss Joyce appears as Elsie Farnum, a girl whose life is enshrouded in mystery. Once a year a Hindu appears and pays all her expenses. Later the girl is taken to India, ostensibly to meet her parents, whom she cannot remember ever having seen. But upon her arrival in the Orient, Elsie is astounded to discover that she is regarded as a goddess by the natives. The story which unfolds is a remarkable one. See it.

"They Loved Him So." A Vitagraph comedy.

Wednesday and Thursday

Wednesday and Thursday, June 9 and 10, "Old Dutch." A Shubert feature in five reels, featuring Lew Fields and Vivian Martin. To the millions of motion picture theatre goers who love good acting, this is a gem. It is a probable story, with sincere and convincing acting that goes straight to the heart "Old Dutch" will assuredly be welcome.

There isn't a real dyed-in-the-wool villain in the play. When it was produced a few years ago by the Shuberts it leaped into instant success. Lew Fields the famous partner of Joe Weber had a part that fitted him like a glove; and a story to carry along with him that gets home on account of its humor, its touching sentiment, its charm and its every day aspect. Such things happen.

"Old Dutch," otherwise Ludwig Strauss, is a successful inventor, staying with his daughter under assumed names, to avoid publicity, at a Palm Beach hotel. Thither go Bings & Bings, male and female vaudeville artists, who rob the old man of his money and his name, and take the places of him and his daughter in the hotel, where they are lionized up to the neck, while Ludwig and Violet, absolutely without money, are glad to work for their board. The old man's efforts to prove his identity are defeated again and again, until finally Mr. Rockmorgan, Sr., comes down from New York and rescues his partner from an unpleasant predicament. Then Bings & Bings gracefully retire; Violet Strauss marries Rockmorgan, Jr., and the old inventor is made happy at last.

This is a good story, irrespective of the fact that Mr. Fields and Miss Martin are playing in the film. But a good story plus good acting, plus good directing, plus a strong cast are features of the offering which will endear it to motion picture audiences.

A photoplay free from all severely dramatic or shockingly tragic; a comedy drama of worth. Don't miss it, on Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

KIMBALL ENTHUSIASTIC OVER FAIR

Returning last Thursday from San Francisco, with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kimball, and his brother, Stuart Kimball, Fordham B. Kimball speaks enthusiastically of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

"The exposition as a whole—or take any part—is wonderful," says Mr. Kimball. "One can't put his hands on any one thing that is better than the rest. It is all grand. The architecture of the buildings seems to combine and mingle with all the surroundings.

"Hood River's big apple is a decided hit, and C. N. Ravlin deserves a lot of credit for the manner in which he is handling the exhibit. The big reproduction is surrounded with a display of commercial fruit, not the usual plate and canned stuff, of which the visitor soon grows tired. It is the commercial pack of apples that interests buyers and consumers alike. Great crowds of people are all the time witnessing the apple. And I think if the Hood River people could go to San Francisco and see just what is happening they would never regret the money that has been spent in making the exhibit possible.

"The Oregon building is unique. A feature of its displays that is interesting is the miniature reproduction of the Columbia river from Astoria to Hood River, showing the Columbia highway. The exhibit has been furnished by the State Game and Fish Commission."

The displays of the Hood River Apple Vinegar Co., according to Mr. Kimball, are making a great hit. "It is regrettable," he says, "that the creamery and the cannery could not show some of their products."

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. No alcohol in Scott's.
