CANNERY ATTITUDE GIVEN BY MR. SIEG
 Editor of the Glacier: From the item that appeared in your paper and the Oregonian, I am very much afraid that you have not the right understanding as regards to the attitude of the Association toward the Hood River Cannery Company.
 In the first place let me say that it is the desire of the Association to promote in every way possible the interests of the cannery. They are producing an excellent product which ought to add to the fame of Hood River, and being an institution that employs labor, it is our purpose to aid them in every way we can. The purpose of the Association is to find a market for the product grown by the shippers of this valley and upon the proper returns for this product, depends the future of the valley.
 The ideal situation would be to have the cannery take all such fruit as can be delivered to them and have the Association refrain from handling a single package of cannery fruit, but unfortunately, our cannery has not as yet reached the point where they can absorb the entire product grown in this valley.
 Using the strawberries as an example: We have here in the neighborhood of possibly 120 tons of field pick berries. In the year 1914 our cannery used about 50 tons of these, which we supplied them with, but in order to protect the entire interest of the valley, it was necessary for us to find a market for the remaining 70 tons, which in total figures amounted to close to $6000.
 In 1914 we offered to withdraw from handling field pick berries and let the cannery handle them exclusively. The only assurance we wanted was that they should take every berry brought to them. We offered them our warehouse facilities for any surplus and we were to load at the actual cost of labor, but as they could find no outlet for their surplus, they made arrangements for their surplus through us and we sold the balance of the output to others.
 In making our contracts for this year, we first considered the interest of our local cannery and figured to supply them with all the berries they wanted, giving them the full preference on all our receipts, which proposition offered to the cannery was not accepted, and to protect our growers we had to close a contract outside for the field pick berries that we were to handle.
 In making our contract with outside parties originally, it was made on the feeling that the cannery would continue the same relations with us that they had last year, and it was very embarrassing to the Association to have them not accept the proposition and depend on us for their supply. The field pick berries are the by-product and it means considerable money to the grower, but no cannery is in a position to use them unless they are assured of regular daily receipts, and so the embarrassment has been quite pronounced because we could not assure our people any regularity. This is one fact for the future that our growers must take into consideration, that is, when we commence to handle field pick berries, delivery must be made daily so that we can show daily deliveries to the cannery we are working with. We are trying to serve two masters. Regularity of supply is the most important assurance we can give a cannery and the Association is under present circumstances in the best position to give this.

 It is our wish to work just as closely with the cannery as possible and to supply them with stock in proportion to their needs and give them all possible preference at the same prices as are paid by all others, but it is our duty to see that the market is furnished for every pound of product that our shippers grow.
 We make this statement because we do not want to have our position misunderstood and we want our very keen interest in the cannery known.
 Yours sincerely,
 Apple Growers Association,
 Wilmer Sieg, Sales Manager.

BILLY SUNDAY TAKES A REST
 grain was grown, along with the boosting the O. W. R. & N. Co. has given corn culture, has been effective in causing hundreds of acres of corn to be planted in the orchards of the valley.
 In touching on financial conditions Mr. Sunday declares that Hood River people ought not to be depressed. "Any community must expect a touch of what the orchardists have been passing through," he says. "The conservative old communities of the east have been hit." He declares that he believes in the valley not only because of its beauty and healthfulness, but because of its financial possibilities.
 The evangelist and his wife journeyed to Parkdale Sunday, where there had been a warning in of all the clans to head the message he had to bring them. Next Sunday he will preach at Pine Grove.

Fish Magnesia.
 Chemical analyses of starfishes, sea urchins and crinoids collected from all parts of the world show that the skeletons of these animals contain much magnesia. The percentage of magnesia is highest in those specimens that lived in tropical waters and lowest in forms from the icy seas of Greenland and the antarctic, with a regular gradation between which even shows the local effect of cold ocean currents upon life at the sea bottom.

Anthony's Nose.
 Anthony's Nose, at the northwest corner of Westchester county, N. Y., reaches an altitude of 1,228 feet above the Hudson river. The scenery from this point just at the entrance to the famous Highlands has been described as the most beautiful on the globe. This particular point has brought worldwide fame to the noble Hudson, the Ribine of America—Magazine of American History.

The Meanest Man Once-More.

WEDDINGS
Bullard-Nickelsen
 When service at the Asbury Methodist church was over Sunday evening, William Ellsworth Bullard and Miss Margaret Leona Nickelsen went before Rev. W. B. Young, who performed the ceremony that made them man and wife. The news of the wedding here Monday was the cause of much interest among the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bullard, who had left for Portland, the home of the groom's parents, on a honeymoon trip. They will return here and make their home at 606 Twelfth street with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Nickelsen.
 Mr. Bullard is a pharmacist at the Kresse Drug Co., and is one of the city's most popular young business men. Mrs. Bullard, who is a member of the choir at the Asbury church, has been engaged here for a number of years as a trained nurse, in which position she was known for her efficiency.

Beers-Miller
 At 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jeannie Fox Miller, in the Frankton district, Monte Park Beers, who has been ranching in Idaho, was married at Miss Ruth Belle Miller, Rev. H. A. MacDonald, performing the ceremony. Only members of the family and relative were present.
 The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white silk.
 Mr. and Mrs. Beers after a wedding supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kay W. Sinclair, left for a short honeymoon trip. They will return here and be at home to their friends after July 1.

Dean-Smith
 The social surprise of the season occurred last Thursday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Stranahan, when Mrs. Ila F. Smith became the bride of Roy F. Dean. The news traveled quickly, and a large crowd of the friends of the popular couple were at the 9:35 O. W. R. & N. westbound train to give them an ovation as they left on a honeymoon trip to Portland.
 Both bride and groom are popular with Hood River people. Mrs. Dean is owner of the Vogue Millinery on Oak street. Mr. Dean is an employe of the Pacific Power & Light Co.

Harvey-Isenberg
 Beautiful in every detail was the wedding of Miss Pearl Isenberg and Guy Harvey on Sunday, June 13, at the home of the bride's mother. The parlor had been made a bower of beauty, a large arch of pink and white roses encircled the double west windows, and green branches, bows and jardiniere were filled with the beautiful and fragrant blossoms. The dining room was decorated with white Shasta daisies.
 Preceding the ceremony Mrs. J. H. Woodcock sang in her sweet voice, "I Love You Truly." Miss Neva Harvey at the piano. Promptly at two o'clock, to the strains of Lohengren's wedding march the bridal party, led by Mrs. Howard Isenberg, as matron of honor, came into the room and took their places beneath the arch. The groom was attended by Howard Isenberg. The solemn and impressive words of the ring service were spoken by Rev. W. B. Young of Asbury M. E. church, and
