"The boundary line of time makes us look back at things we ought to have done, then a Bank account is your friend."

Read about the lives of rich men and you'll find as a rule the statement "he started a poor man."

No man, who exchanges his labors for money, is too poor to have a Bank account. Wealth depends upon what you save,—not what you earn. If you will not save, you will not have. Having is the result of saving. Begin with $1 and we will help you.

THE WISE MAN always prepares for a run of hard luck. Anybody can get along when prices are high, when work is plentiful, when crops are good, when business is brisk, then it is all easy enough.

But the prudent, conservative, careful man looks into the future and steadily piles up a balance at the bank to be used as a reserve in case of disaster. Rest assured that the weather will not always be fair. We invite you to keep your reserve with us.

BIG SYSTEM NEEDS FUNDS

A SPECIAL ELECTION IS CALLED

East Fork Irrigation District will Vote on Bond Issue and Question of Special Levy

While the big ditch, with the size of the main lateral greatly increased since last year, has been in excellent working order and while for the main part the distribution of water has been good, still because of the increased demand for water among the landowners whose places are under the big system it will be necessary to secure, either by special tax levy or by voting additional bonds, further funds, in order that the business of the East Fork Irrigation District may be properly administered next year.

The great reason, apparently, for the increased demand comes from the fact that land owners now have to pay for water, whether they make use of it or not. Since they are charged for it, they are planting cover crops and are calling for their water. This demand has resulted in an increased construction of small laterals. The increased planting of cover crops, clover, alfalfa and grain, the gain in the value of the land, and the fact that all been instrumental in creating a demand for more water.

On September 7, the date set by the board of directors, an election will be held in the five precincts of the District to determine whether an additional $50,000 bonds shall be voted. The property owners will also vote on the proposition of levying a special tax of $10.000 for the coming year.

Geo. R. Wilbur, secretary and attorney of the irrigation district, states that it will be necessary that the property owners of the District to avail themselves of one or the other of the alternatives, vote both or face a deficit of $5,000 at the end of this year.

Under the existing law the district cannot vote a general tax greater than that of the preceding year plus six per cent. Such a tax would amount to $2.65 per acre, and would bring in a sum of $23,425.

"If we take care of our bond interest and the bare salaries of superintendent and gaugers next year, with the sum above mentioned, we would have but $4,360 next year for every other expense. This will not be enough for bare maintenance. Thus we are bound to have a deficit next year without doing a single foot of new work. Nor will any provision be made for a possible contingency of a washout or broken pipes."

The $30,000 deficit mentioned will consist of $5,250 bond interest and an estimated sum of $24,750 for the remainder of this year's maintenance.

According to figures procured from Mr. Wilbur, the tax levy of last year produced a sum of $27,000, of which $12,000 has been collected, and the balance will be collected in September. But that balance has been anticipated, and registered warrants are at present outstanding against it.

At the beginning of last year the board of directors deliberated as to how much money they would spend on new construction. However, patrons of the system began to come to them in great numbers, urging that laterals be built, and they decided on a policy of first come first served. The result was that a great deal more was spent on construction than they anticipated and had funds for.

The tax levy of last year was not big enough. However, it was as large as the board of directors thought the people would stand for. The directors hesitated about any large expenditure in view of the case brought by the Oregon Lumber Co. and then pending. Since the favorable decision by Judge Bradshaw, giving them about 6,000 inches of water about which they have heretofore been in doubt, the directors have given a great degree of confidence, and while making no canvass in behalf of the proposed bond issue or the voting of a special tax, since some such course is necessary, they have made it possible for the people to themselves to vote the funds necessary for a successful administration and maintenance of the District's affairs the coming year.

BILLY SUNDAY WILL POSITIVELY PLAY

As the noted evangelist has pursued the sinner and saved him from perdition he home within that country the climate of which he hesitates to contemplate, so have local fans been on the trail of Billy Sunday, and at last the former center fielder for the Chicago White Sox has been signed for a baseball game this afternoon, when local ministers will again put forth their prowess against that of the bankers. Billy Sunday will positively be on the diamond at Columbia park at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon. He will play the position of left field. Other positions will for the most part be played as in the former banker-minister game, when the former were defeated after a comedy of errors by a score of 15 to 12.

C. H. Vaughan has sworn a vendetta on the goat of the ministers, and has vowed to cut more tally notches in his score stick than Rev. Macnamara.

Jim Rimmer is dreaming baseball. If the bankers are defeated today it will be home within that country the climate of which he hesitates to contemplate, so have local fans been on the trail of Billy Sunday, and at last the former center fielder for the Chicago White Sox has been signed for a baseball game this afternoon, when local ministers will again put forth their prowess against that of the bankers.

The proceeds of the game will be given to Mrs. Alma Howe to be used in local charitable work.

CREAMERIES CAN NOT DISCRIMINATE

Discrimination in the price paid for cream by creameries of Oregon is prohibited by law. The local creamery has received the following communication, covering this point, from J. D. Mickel, state dairy and food commissioner:

"I would respectfully call your attention to Section 1, Chapter 344, of the laws of 1915, in reference to the purchasing of milk and cream within the state of Oregon which reads as follows: 'Any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of buying milk, cream or butter fat for the purpose of manufacture, either by himself or another, who shall, with the intention of creating a monopoly, destroying the business of a competitor or restraining in any manner an open competition in said business, discriminate between the different sections, localities, communities or cities of this state by purchasing or offering to purchase such commodity at a higher price in any one locality than is paid or offered for the same commodity by such person, firm, or corporation in any other locality after making due allowance for the difference, if any, in the grade or quality, and in the actual cost of transportation from the place of purchase to the place of manufacture, sale or storage, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punished as hereinafter provided."

"We have been asked for an expression as to our interpretation of this section of the law, also what position we might be expected to take in regard to its enforcement.

In reply to this question, I will say that this office will insist upon a strict compliance with the law. It is our understanding that where any person, firm or corporation buys milk or cream at different points within the state, the price for such milk or cream should be based upon quotation offered f. o. b. the creamery or, at the place of purchase minus the actual cost of transportation to the place of manufacture.

"Complaints have reached this office that the law is being violated as follows: 'A' owns a creamery at Newtown and quotes a price of 29 cents per pound for butterfat f. o. b. his creamery. 'B' has a creamery at Oldtown and pays 29 cents per pound for butterfat at his creamery. 'A' goes over to 'B's' territory and buys cream paying 29 cents per pound for butterfat and does not deduct therefrom the expense of gathering or of transportation to Newtown. This is clearly in violation of the law, as 'A' is practicing discrimination by paying more for fat at Oldtown than he does at Newtown. It makes no difference whether the means of transportation be by rail or wagon haul."

"Complaint has reached us that some creameries purchasing butterfat where there is no competition, are grading cream and paying a differential for first and second grades, while at other places, where there are competitors, these same creameries are accepting all cream as first grade and pay for it accordingly. We consider this practice also in violation of the law and will deal with it accordingly wherever we can obtain evidence to prove it."

"Cream that reaches the place of manufacture in such a condition that it cannot be made into a marketable food product without renovating or mixing with good cream will be deemed unfit for use and will be condemned."

"Under Section 7 of the same law every creamery, shipping station, milk factory, cheese factory, ice cream factory, condenser, or any person receiving or purchasing milk or cream on the basis of the butter fat contained therein, shall be required to hold a license and also to employ a licensed tester."

PARK PROPOSAL AROUSES PROTEST

The proposed site of the civic committee of the Commercial club to provide conveniences for traveling automobilists at the city park has aroused strong protests from residents in the district of the park.

"As an individual who resides close to the park," says Mrs. C. H. Castner, "I want to voice my protest. I do not think this is any place for such a park. I do not think people will want traveling motorists camped at their very back yards, nor do I believe this will appeal to the travelers."

The city council, which on Monday received a communication from the Commercial club relative to the use of the city park for autos, referred the communication to the public property committee for further investigation.

The council members, while favoring the proposition in general, voiced a protest against making the city park available for such purposes. A movement is on foot to beautify the park by the planting of shrubbery, and it is considered too small for the use suggested.

SWIMMING POOL ATTRACTS MANY

Those who busied themselves in the campaign to obtain funds for the swimming pool that is now completed on the city park just west of Twelfth street must certainly have felt proud of the finished place of recreation as they watched the boys and girls sporting in the pool Sunday. From mid-morning until late in the evening, even until darkness settled down, the pool was full.

Houses for both men and women have been constructed beside the swimming pool. A spring board has been erected at the west end, where the water reaches a depth of nine feet.

The swimming pool, indeed, is now the scene of much safe pleasure for the small boys of the city. And many young sons from the valley are allowed to go swimming in its protected waters.

OREGON LUMBER CO. HAS NEW HIGHLINE

The Oregon Lumber Co., which has completed a section of logging road in the heavily timbered district along the Lake Branch and West Fork of Hood river, has installed a 2,200 foot highline for transporting logs cut on the west side of the West Fork of the river. Monster fire, felled in the forest on the west bank are hauled over the heavy line to the railway. The line is about 400 feet above the stream.

The Oregon Lumber Co. has a crew of about 175 men in the woods. "Our plant at Dea is kept busy this summer," says Chas. T. Early, general manager of the company for Oregon. "The lumber is being shipped, as fast as cut, for construction work on the Ogden & Idaho electric line."

Smith Grows Large Peaches

W. L. Smith, of the Heights, has exhibited at the Glacier office the record peach of the year. It is of the Crawford variety and weighs just exactly one pound. The diameter of the peach is four inches and it is 10 1/2 inches in circumference.

SEIG BACK FROM CHICAGO

APPLE BUYERS SAID TO BE BULLISH

Export of Fruit will be Limited Because of War—Hood River Takes Honors at Green Fruit Exhibit

"Apple men are just a little bullish at the present time," says Wilmer Sieg, who returned last Thursday night from Chicago, where he attended the annual convention of the International Apple Shippers' Association. "There is a spirit of optimism among the trade that is really running a little ahead of the general financial conditions of the country."

Mr. Sieg says that not much is expected from the export trade this year. Practically the only shipments abroad will go to England. Whatever fruit reaches the Continent must go by way of Holland or into the North Sea, and the risk and cost will be so great as to preclude most of such cargoes of apples.

"From the present outlook the New York market in England will be fair," he says. "However, this market must not be fed as generously as on former seasons. The British government has ruled absolutely against reshipments from stragglers to Holland, ports on the North Sea, and if the market is glutted, the price will slump, for there will be no way of unloading the excess fruit on the Continent as on former years."

"Last year a good quantity of the apples shipped from Hood River to England were reshipped and ultimately found their way to German markets."

"We will have to take the chance of having our shipments to England reach their destination in poor condition if climatic conditions are unfavorable; for we will not be able to secure cold storage space. All such space will be used for shipments of meats and other perishable foodstuffs, and the rate charged is far heavier than apple shipments could bear, even if the space were available. Any fruit that is liable to neutral ports in neutral ships is to be delayed for inspection. We had trouble of this kind last season or so."

While many purchases of fruit are being reported from other districts, Hood River has sold but 20 cars of early apples, the fruit to be shipped to South American ports.

"I notice that the growers of Wenatchee," says Mr. Sieg, "who are not organized as we are here, where our Association, controlling a large portion to the tonnage, is able to put it to the markets gradually, are selling their fruit rapidly at from $1 to $1.25 per box. Because of the long delay in receiving poor returns last season, this real money looks good to them now. But we here at Hood River are going to wait and read the market before we make any heavy sales."

Mr. Sieg says that the pear market over the country is in rather poor condition. "Large volumes of poor fruit are beginning to roll to central markets," he says, "on account of a slump in the canning business. However, we are expecting Hood River pears to bring in fair returns, for our Bartlett is never of better quality. Our Bartlett are now rolling. We have shipped out about five cars so far."

Mr. Sieg says that Hood River growers are to be congratulated on their local terminal facilities. "I know of no district in the entire country that is better able to take care of its product from Hood River," he says. "This feature appeals to me more forcefully every time I go away and see the conditions of other districts. Hood River with her enormous storage space is able to hold her apples advantageously."

Hood River green fruit shown at the convention by Mr. Sieg took second prize. The first prize went to Wagner & Co., of Wenatchee, who made a special display. Hood River's prize was really first in the district class. Wenatchee's proper was third prize, thus being second for the districts.

CITY MAY NOT OWN STEAMBOAT LANDING

It was brought out at Monday night meeting of the city council that it was possible that the city did not have street property extending to the water line of the Columbia. On complaints recently of some of the river boatmen, who claimed that competitors were endeavoring to monopolize wharf space, the city offered to grant to each of three lines a third of the frontage of a street that was thought to penetrate to the water. Since an investigation of deeds, it seems that the street does not reach the water's edge. The matter is now in the hands of the city attorney, Geo. R. Wilbur, for a thorough investigation.

"PITCHFORK" TILLMAN SEES C. R. HIGHWAY

Senator Benjamin R. Tillman, the pitchfork orator from South Carolina, and party spent last Thursday viewing the scenes along the Columbia river highway. They arrived here Thursday afternoon by automobile and returned Friday morning on an O.-W. R. & N. train. Thursday night was spent here at the Mount Hood hotel. The party consisted of Senator and Mrs. Tillman, Miss Tillman, a daughter of the senator; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hughes, his son-in-law and daughter; and two little daughters, and H. W. Hughes, all of Portland.

"Because of the long ride over the rough road," said Senator Tillman Friday morning, "we were pretty tired, but we are glad we took the journey; for we will remember the Columbia river gorge. It is the grandest stream I have ever seen. And you folks out here ought to be powerful proud of that highway."

Senator and Mrs. Tillman, who have been on the Pacific coast for several weeks, and who have been spending a good share of that time with the family of their daughter, left Saturday on the return to South Carolina. The journey east will be made by way of the Grand Trunk line through Canada.
