THE VALUE OF BRANDS

E. L. Goodsell, who recently addressed Hood River apple growers, will find that his views as to advertising apples are at variance with the most of local fruit market men. Mr. Goodsell says that brand names are of value with respect to dealings with jobbers and retailers only. He says that the says dressed Hood River apple growers, will Northwestern fruits should be adver-

THE ESTIMATE

the crop estimater usually gets busy. Bumper yields will be predicted from many sources. These prophesies are too often taken for real estimates of coming production, and as a result serious injury is experienced. When you make an estimate of your crop, be careful. In fact, it is impossible to make any accurate prediction at the present time. You may say that the crop will be such and such, if certain weather conditions prevail and other elements are normal. But remember guarded with modifications, for many things may happen before the harvesting season. Still, if your crop is cut in half, the marketing world will cling to scale and if neglected will serve as instigated by Mrs. L. F. Henderson. your previous talk of bumper yield.

I want a man who knows Hood River and its vicialty - to handle a popular, widely advertised line of eight cyclinder motor cars, I have an excellent proposition for an Al salesman; an opening that will enable a thoroughly capable man to make big money. I want a man who knows himself, a man who can and will stand on his own feet, a man who can get the maximum automobile sales out of his territory. We will give such a man every possible assistance in developing his business. He must own his car and be able to produce results as our direct representative. This is an exceptional opportunity for the right man. There is such a man here in town, I am sure-I am hopeful he will read this advertisement-and then sit right down and write fully about himself and his qualifications. I don't want a professional job hunter-1 Want a Man! Address your letter to Factory Representative. 724 Northwestern Bank Building. Port-
