The Hood River Box Nailing Press

Do you know that no time saving contrivance for or-chardists has ever become so universally popular as this box nailing press? These presses have been shipped to Siberian orchardists, all over the United States and to the far away fruit districts of Australia. The reasons are simple. The cost of the box is but normal when compared with the saving made by the efficient service it renders.

OU'LL call it a lucky day when you find the satisfaction there is in a small chew of W-B CUT Chewing. With most chewers the flavor of rich tobacco is a genuine surprise party. There's another surprise—you keep your jaws quiet and restful, for the salt brings out the flavor without so much chewing and spitting. You think it queer how so small a nibble does the trick and lasts so long—but it's rick tobacco, that's it. In 10c. pouches, at enterprising dealers.

Instead of starting Monday morning as planned, the packing of the Mosier prune crop was not commenced until Tuesday noon. The work of organization among the packers and C. J. Sinsel, who has the work in charge, besides packing 205 crates was the first day's work. Many of the packers had never worked with prunes before. On Wednesday 480 crates were packed out in half a day.

Up to the time of going to press there seemed some hope that the railroad strike would be averted by the passage of an 8-hour law, with the present 10-hour wage rate and pro rata for overtime at a joint session of Congress. Until the strike has been settled one way or another it is probable that growers will leave the fruit on the strike. Other means of disposition of the crop will be made should a railroad tie-up occur.

CHILD DROWNED IN IRRIGATION FLUME

IRRIGATION FLUME

The two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Warner was drowned Friday afternoon in an open irrigation flume in front of the Warner home, in the Barrett district. No one saw the child fall in the flume. When found the lifeless body was held to the bottom of the structure by protruding nails.

The water in the flume, though not very deep, flows swiftly, and it is thought that the force of the stream caused the child's clothing to become so entangled in the nails that he was unable to extricate himself.

Despite his two years of age, the little boy's parents had never formally stated and other points.

Delays were caused as the fruit had not ripened fast enough to be brought in, even though it is being shipped a trifle green. By Thursday morning 605 crates had been loaded in a car which was finally secured, to be routed via Spokane and then over the Canadism Pacific on account of the impending strike. Another car was promised provided it could be loaded by 6 o'clock Friday night. This was guaranteed by Mr. Sinsel and with everyone doing their utmost the task will be completed, assures Mr. Sins el.
