An Orchard Necessity

The Hood River Box Nailing Press

Do you know that no time saving contrivance for orchardists has ever become so universally popular as this box nailing press? These presses have been shipped to Siberian orchardists, all over the United States and to the far away fruit districts of Australia. The reasons are simple. The cost of the box is but normal when compared with the saving made by the efficient service it renders.

THE GOOD JUDGE FINDS MEN ARE APPRECIATIVE.

JUDGE, AS A COMMITTEE OF MASTER CARPENTERS WE PRESENT A SILVER CUP TO SHOW OUR APPRECIATION OF YOU TELLING US ABOUT W-B CUT TOBACCO—RICH TOBACCO FLAVORED WITH SALT AND CUT FINE, SO A SMALL CHEW LASTS AND SATISFIES.

ONCE you've got started on W-B CUT Chewing you will understand perfectly why tobacco lovers can't keep quiet about it. It's a happy surprise to get the flavor of rich tobacco for the first time. And the salt brings out the taste and satisfaction without the grinding and chewing—and keeps it coming. A small chew does it—and lasts twice as long as a big wad. In air-tight pouches 10c. at your dealers.

BELMONT CANNERY IS GROWING FAST

Began last year as a home enterprise, whereby Mr. Newton and members of his family planned to keep busy during the year packing the product of their own ranch, John H. Newton and his son, Leon, installed a small cannery on their Belmont place. The cannery this year has assumed commercial proportions, and already Mr. Newton and his son have packed 600 cases of strawberries, 300 of cherries and 300 of beans. The plant for the past few days has been busy with sugar corn, and Mr. Newton states that all of the tomatoes he can secure from adjoining ranches will be canned.

The elder Mr. Newton is by profession a canner turned rancher. He and his son last winter began their experiments by devoting spare time of the leisure winter months to making jellies and orange and grape fruit marmalades. The product was sold to local consumers by personal order. The foods had soon won a widespread favor, and when this summer's canning season is over, the Belmont ranchers plan on turning out as many cans of jellies and marmalades as possible.

Mr. Newton is not worried over the problem of marketing. His fruits are of a special pack, and he receives orders for them in advance. The strawberries and cherries packed the past summer will be eaten by the fastidious householders of far away New England. The vegetables for the most part have already been sold to local people. Mr. Newton's neighbors have found it convenient and economical to dispose of their surplus vegetables to the home canner and in turn purchase their winter's supply of goods from him.

Although it is only a small affair, only 50 by 30 feet, the little cannery plant of the Belmont district is equipped with every convenience of the modern cannery.

During strawberry harvest, the Belmont cannery was the scene of unusual activity for the rural section. At one time more than 30 girls and women were employed in sorting and packing the luscious Clark Seedlings of the district.

In addition to the pack of berries and vegetables, Mr. Newton this summer has canned several cases of salmon for his own and the winter's food supply of neighbors.

ALL CROPS GOOD SAYS THOMPSON

"While persistent rains of the summer months caused no small damage in the Willamette Valley," says C. D. Thompson, county agent for Clatsop county, who with Mrs. Thompson arrived here by automobile last week from Grants Pass. "I have found by the observations of my journey that all lines of agriculture in the parts of the state that I have traversed are in remarkably good condition. Douglas county orchardists are harvesting one of their finest prune crops. Down at Medford I find that fruit growers are in excellent shape. Josephine crops are all good. The Grants Pass sugar beet factory will soon be in operation and will prove, I am sure, a most profitable industry for the farmers of the region. The people have taken hold of the proposition in a manner that will bring success. All are displaying a gratifying interest."

Mr. Thompson, who owns a local orchard, inspected local fruit tracts Thursday afternoon. He declares that he has never seen orchards and fruit in a healthier condition.

A. M. GEARY WRITES MARKET ARTICLES

A series of articles will be published in this paper as advertising which will present the claims of the fruit auction companies upon the box apple business of the Northwest for this coming season. They will be written by Arthur M. Geary, an attorney of Portland who first as a grower and orchardist in Rogue River valley, later as a market correspondent in New York and finally as a paid investigator of the American Fruit & Produce Association in Chicago, has had the opportunity to learn all angles of the present market situation.

Mr. Geary, while a law student at Columbia University, was greatly interested in studying the New York market because of the personal interest that he had in the family orchards at Medford and White Salmon.

As attorney for the Producer's Traffic Service Bureau, an organization that proposes to protect the shippers of the Northwest in all transportation matters and in securing proper returns from consignees and buyers, Mr. Geary, is now making compilation of the laws of the different states that affect the shippers of the Northwest. It is his intention to issue a directory and marketing experience that has had in building up a protective system for shippers and not to be connected with any of the marketing organizations except in a non-partisan way.

Firefight Successfully Combated

"So far as I now know from my recent observations in the valley," says Prof. L. F. Henderson, county fruit inspector, "we have conquered firefight which recently appeared in scattering orchards in the Upper and Lower Valleys. The fruit district will have to be watched closely to prevent the pest from again taking hold, and all growers have been warned to keep on the lookout."

Prof. Henderson was assisted in the work of combating local firefight by LeRoy Childs, acting superintendent of the local branch of the Oregon Experiment station, and Edgar Montell, who was appointed a special deputy for the work. Mr. Montell, has left for Corvallis, where he has accepted a position on the Oregon Agricultural College staff.

Are You Looking Old?

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

MOSIER.

From The Bulletin
A stationary bridge has been constructed by W. F. Baker, local agent for the Taboma, which takes the place of the flat boat used to convey freight to and from the dock.

Mosier Grange is planning a community fair, to be held in Lamb's hall, Saturday afternoon, October 7. The Grange is especially desirous that all Mosier valley help to make this a successful, local fair. Exhibits will include any farm products raised in this section, a display of home-canning and articles of fancy work. The ladies of the grange will serve a cafeteria supper. In addition, a program is being planned for the evening.

W. A. Husbands last week launched his big sail boat, which he has been working on since last winter with the assistance of J. M. Burpee, during leisure moments, which is certainly a creditable piece of craftsmanship. From bow to stern the boat is 16 feet long with a beam of nearly 5 1/2 feet and a displacement of 1 1/2 tons. It is worthy of being a sea-going vessel but has been built for pleasure as a family boat for river sailing and cruising. Painted white, with the name Alice lettered in gold, the boat in place, it presents an imposing sight, and Capt. Husbands is extending invitations to all his friends to accompany him on pleasure jaunts.

It has been the custom in the past to collect and haul away each month at the expense of the city the tin cans and refuse which had accumulated. The city council two months ago ordered that this hauling be done every two months on account of the small amount accumulating during each month. Accordingly on Tuesday of next week J. P. Tryon, local drayman, will pick up and haul away all such cans and refuse, not garbage, which citizens are urged to place near the roadside conveniently for him.

Mrs. T. Vangasbeck and family returned Thursday to Blalock after visiting with their friend, Lee Evans, who usually spends a portion of the fall goose hunting in that vicinity. Mr. Vangasbeck, who owns a big wheat ranch near Blalock, will be here next week with the view of locating. He will dispose of his holdings there as soon as possible on account of the ill health of his son. On numerous goose hunting trips Mr. Evans has visited with these people.

Owing to the fact that this has been the first week of school, thereby making it impossible for the teachers in the various districts to organize and put into shape properly the various exhibits for the industrial school fair been set for Tuesday, September 12, the date of the fair has been postponed until Tuesday, October 3. However, exhibits will be prepared for the county fair to be held next week at The Dalles. The change of date will enable the various districts to cooperate in holding a big local school fair here next month.

Mrs. Wm. Johnson and children, Thelma and Bert, returned Wednesday afternoon on the Bailey Gatzert after an extended visit in Portland and Hillsboro with friends and relatives. Bert, whose hand was pierced by a nail while working here, is now getting along fine. It was necessary, stated Mrs. Johnson, to lance the hand twice on account of the infection and that now it is the doctor's belief that there will be no complications.

Forrest Isom and Leo Nichol were the hosts at a number of a number of their friends Friday night. It was to have been a lawn party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shogren, but on account of the rainy weather, a retreat was made to the apple packing house of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. where the evening was spent in dancing and playing games. Two automobile loads of friends were present from Hood River.

Dr. H. L. Dumble was called up from Hood River Monday to attend to Roy Duval who has been suffering from appendicitis. The latter is now considerably improved and made a trip to Hood River Wednesday. It is now thought that an operation will not be necessary.

Fred Evans for the past week has been deer hunting with old schoolmate Henry G. North and his brother in the vicinity of the latter's ranch north of Vancouver, Wn. He is expected home the last of the week.

Leo Nichol motored Sunday over the Columbia River highway to Portland where he is visiting with friends. He left for Portland on Friday night of this week. During his absence, Ben W. Veatch is assisting in the store of Nichol & Co.

The Misses Grace and Gladys Blackburn, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Butterfield, left Tuesday night for Nebraska where they expect to make their homes, the former in Lincoln with her grandparents, and the latter in Council Bluffs with her aunt and uncle.

Mrs. F. A. Allington, who has been convalescing since her recent illness in the hospital at North Yakima, where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. F. P. Dunn. Mrs. Allington has been improving fast and states that she now feels much better than on her previous trip recently to North Yakima.

Dr. P. E. Hale, who is the junior partner with Dr. A. Macrum in the practice of medicine in Portland, was up Sunday visiting with the latter and other friends. He returned to Portland Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Scharf, of Portland, were Sunday guests of L. J. Merrill, the party motoring to points in the valley, at Hood River and The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Root, Leslie Root and W. A. Husbands expect to leave today for a short trip to Portland over the Columbia River highway.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Butterfield were in Stevenson, Wash., last week for a short stay on their ranch.

The Ladies Aid Society were entertained Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Jas. Pierce's home.

Mrs. John P. Ross and her sister, Miss Bishop, spent Monday in Hood River.

Miss Ellen Carlson was a Hood River visitor Tuesday.

Tom Hughes went to Portland the first of the week where he will attend school.

Miss Marie Shogren was a visitor Tuesday in Hood River.

Mrs. E. Simmons was in Hood River Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilcox were Hood River visitors Tuesday.

Orren Osborne spent Tuesday in Hood River.

John Elder was in Hood River Monday on business.

James Carroll was in Hood River on Saturday.

Chris Hage spent Saturday in Hood River.

TRAVELING MAN HAS VARIED EXPERIENCE

W. J. White, known to the paper trade of the Northwest as "Bill," and who makes Hood River for the Pacific Paper Co. every two weeks, has been making his usual rounds the past summer in a Ford automobile. Bill's visits have always had a stimulating effect on the entire Glacier office force. He has a geniality all his own, and his conservative way of joshing a man has won Mr. White many friends.

But many and entertaining are the stories he tells since he purchased that Ford. Last summer Mr. White lost a passenger out of the rear seat while going over a rough road. He is such a careful driver and devotes such attention to the wheel and the road ahead that he had traversed four miles before the absence of the passenger was noted. His latest thriller was near St. Helena week before last when he collided with a large dog.

"It was probably a breed of wolf hounds," says Mr. White. "He seemed very eager to attack me, and I made every effort to avoid him. After much jockeying on the rough road we finally struck the big dog a square broadside, bowed him over and both wheels passed over his body. I was on a sloping roadside and the machine gently turned turtle. While I was extracting myself a German woman rushed down the road and volubly demanded my name."

"Dot's a valuable dog," she cried, "and I must bat her name. Der dog belong to Mr. Williams and I will not pay him."

But Mr. White was diplomatic as usual.

"First, Madam, let me have your name," he demanded. That dog had no right on a public thoroughfare. He ran into my car and has caused me $20 damage. I must have redress."

"OJOOO—," the woman shrieked, "Would you take monies from poor folk, and she headed up the road. Mr. White says that never saw any more of her."

Last week Mr. White was in Silverton when the prominent hop speculator of that place became crazed over religion and started to heaven in his Ford. The man cranked up his car in the garage. Piling into the machine he broke through the closed doors. Out on the street he released the steering wheel and standing on the front seat called to the world to tell him good bye, since he saw himself headed straight for eternity. Instead the car, running at full speed landed in a large oak tree. The line man was taken in a badly damaged state to the asylum.

New Packing Plant in Barrett

With the largest membership of any of the half dozen community packing systems that have been organized in the valley during the past several months, the Barrett Packing Co. will begin operation within the next few weeks. The new community concern will handle probably 15,000 boxes of fruit this season.

The members of the new organization are: W. H. Goodenough, Harold F. Tucker, W. J. Knight, J. W. Palmer, H. K. Arnold, S. G. Oxborow, Harry B. Steele, H. G. Hutchinson, W. J. Enschede and A. Dechler.

O.-W. R. & N. Schedule Changed

The time of two of the O.-W. R. & N. passenger trains was changed last Friday. Eastbound Oregon-Washington limited will hereafter pass through Hood River at 12:01 p. m. instead of 11:58 a. m. The westbound Pacific Coast express, formerly passing here at 9:25 a. m., will hereafter leave at 9:05 a. m.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is a medicine that every family should be provided with. Colic and diarrhoea often come on suddenly and it is of the greatest importance that they be treated promptly. Consider the suffering that must be endured until a physician arrives or medicine can be obtained. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has a reputation second to none for the quick relief that it affords. Obtainable everywhere.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty. It is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. No alcohol in Scott's. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.
