MISS HANSEN WINS PRAISE FOR SONGS

Miss Anne Hansen, of The Dalles, pupil of J. Adrian Epping, who was here in a concert of the musical department of the Woman's club on Wednesday evening of last week, won much praise for the excellency of her singing. Although, as is stated, Miss Hansen has studied less than one year, she sings like one who has had years of experience. She modulates her voice without the hitch that so often marks the amateur, and her enunciation is well nigh perfect. The Dalles may well be proud of its young lyric soprano. Others who participated in last week's musical entertainment were: Miss Grace Gavin, also of The Dalles, Mrs. G. M. Uptegrove, Parkdale, Prof. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Root, L. A. Henderson, Mrs. C. H. Henney, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Wedemeyer, Miss Ruth Howes and Mrs. C. O. Huelat.

AT THE GEM TODAY

One day only, "Love's Lariat." Eight cowboys, direct from the western plains, are transported to New York and established in the Fifth Avenue mansion. After spending their lives on the open prairies they are brought suddenly to conform with the usages of good society. Also "A Million Dollar Smash." An L-Ko two reel comedy. Friday, only, Charlie Chaplin in his latest comedy, "Behind the Screen." Don't miss it. It is a scream. Saturday One day only, "Pro Pratia." A Pathe colored Gold Rooster. Also a Lonesome Luke comedy and Pathe News. Sunday Sunday only, "The Broken Law," featuring William Farnum. Daniel Edmond, an English litterateur, loving the freedom of the open way, joins a gypsy tribe and because of personal worth is chosen as their chief. Edmond has received from his dying father a strange request. Years before the father had betrayed a young gypsy girl and then cruelly deserted her and the baby girl. This wronged woman and child the father commanded Daniel to find. The only clue to their identity is a ring with the Edmond signet, given to the woman by her lover. Strangely enough this unknown girl is a member of Edmond's tribe. Her mother, dying when the girl, Ursula, was a baby, confided her, together with the ring, to a wild, uncouth creature named Gorkikko. One day in the camp Ursula tells the fortune of Lord Dunsen, a profligate and rone of the worst type. Ursula takes his fancy and, without scruple, he brings about the ruin of this wayside beauty. By the contrivings of Gaspar the crime is laid to Edmond and he is branded and cast out of the tribe. Ursula is lsten nigh unto death by her people and driven to the forest to perish. Here, just before the end, she is found by Gorkikko and Edmond, who at last has learned the truth. With her expiring breath she names her betrayer and the new found brother and Gorkikko swear vengeance against him. How the oath was kept and what amunds fate made to Edmond for the cruel crime is told in the truth. With her thrilling and absorbing film dramas ever produced. Monday and Tuesday "The Child of Destiny." A Metro feature with Irene Fenwick in the lead. Also a Sidney Drew comedy. Wednesday Wednesday, Nov. 29, "The Jacobean House," a Vitagraph "Scarlet Runner" picture featuring Earl Williams and Zena Keefe. Also a Pathe drama.

ADDITIONAL SKETCHES OF COUNTY OFFICERS

Prof. L. B. Gibson, elected county superintendent, is a native of Pennsylvania. He was born in 1872. He was a student of Tarkio college, Missouri. After having located in Hood River, he took a leave of absence to attend Stanford University, where he took special courses. Before coming to Hood River Prof. Gibson taught at Brownville. He was principal of the Hood River high school, at the time of his appointment to the county superintendency, succeeding Prof. C. D. Thompson. Prof. Gibson is now engaged in limited teaching at the high school. E. S. Olinger, reelected to the office of constable for this district of Hood River county, is dean of Oregon peace officers. Except for Joe Day, Portland's venerable detective, Mr. Olinger has been longer in the harness than any other officer in the state. Mr. Olinger is a native of Oregon, having been born 28 years ago in the hills near Salem. Before coming to Hood River he was engaged in the ivory business in Salem. Mr. Olinger was for two years chief engineer of the noted Salem volunteer fire department. Chief Justice Barrett was also a member of the department. Justice Burnett and Mr. Olinger were boyhood friends. Mr. Olinger came here with his family in 1880, making his home on the Button farm east of the city. In 1881 he was appointed constable. He has been an active peace officer since that date. A. W. Othank, who succeeds Judge A. C. Buck as justice of the peace next January 1, was born in Chautauqua county, New York, in 1853. He graduated after a four year course at the New York State Normal school. Afterward attending law at the University of Michigan and Chautauqua University. For many years Mr. Othank served as teacher and principal of schools in New York, Connecticut and New Jersey points. Later he filled positions of chief of police and served in other official capacities. Mr. Othank came to Hood River in 1903, engaging at once in the real estate business and insurance. In connection with his business duties he studied law, and at the age of 60 was given his degree in law. Despite the age of 63, Mr. Othank declares that he feels as young as ever.
