Literally speaking, the town of Hoed River is fairly bursting with apples. The cold rooms of storage plants have been filled to capacity, and sisles and areaways have been piled to the ceiling with tier after tier of bulging boxes. Every available vacant space in the city is being loaded with fruit. The basements of business blocks, empty amusement halls and storerooms and a vacated parley of a funeral director. vacated parlor of a funeral director have been turned into apple receiving stations and now give forth the fra-grant aroma of the Spitzenburg, the grant aroma of the Spitzenburg, the Newton and the Northern Spy.

And still the wagons of growers in long files daily unload their burdens of luscious fruit. Practically every section of the town's business district during the daylight hours and until late in the evening presents scenes typical of the produce and commission quarters of large cities. Store fronts, the windows of which may display tobaccos or candies, socks or shirts, or the product of a grocer, are partially obscured at times by the piled up heaps of fruit boxs. Business men, merchants and professional men are assisting in every manner in the protection of the great manner in the protection of the great apple crop. The Apple is now truly King in Hood River.

King in Hood River.

Even at this late date the estimiates of the 1916 yield of fruit coninues to swell. The Hood River apple crop is now conservatively placed at 1,500,000 boxes of fruit, and officials of sales agencies say that at a minimum figure of 1,200,000 boxes of commercial varieties. ies and grades have been packed for

The magnitude of the 1916 Hood River apple crop may be grasped when it is announced that a total of more than 5,000 men, women and children were needed in the harvest. The great quantity of fruit may be further comprehended when furher statistics gathered on the material used in packing the fruit, is digested.

While the minimum quantity of apples loaded on a refrigerator car is 630 boxes, because of shortage of freezers this season, an average of approxi-mately 700 boxes will be shipped in each car. When the season is ended, it will have required 1,714 cars to handle the apple crop. A refrigerator car, ments for the 1916 crop.

Figuring six feet to the box, a total of 7,200,000 feet of lumber were used in making apple boxes this year. Each box requires in the making 32 cement nails, of which there are 39,000 to the keg. Approximately 1,000 kegs, or 40 ton of these nails were driven into figured at an approximate 20,000 cars, or 14,000,000 boxes. Statistical data on the entire crop may be obtained, approximately, by multiplying Hood River figures by 17.

Opposition to uniform grading rules applying to all parts of the state was voiced by George Biehn, of North Yakima, who declared that the growers of and poor farms will be discussed and the Yakima valley objected to the color requirement for Jonathan apples, be-cause sales in the early part of the season, before the apples had taken on season, before the apples had taken on full color, were prevented. A. P. Bateham, of Mosier, Ore., and A. C. Allen, of Medford, Ore., protested against relaxing standards, Mr. Allen declaring that a district which could not grow an apple meeting standard requirements should drop that variety. Mr. Ross asserted that it was ridiculous to speak of uniform fruit laws for four states.

four states. "You can't have uniform grade and pack laws for Wasshington alone," he said. "It is ridiculous to speak of putting the Wenstchee district into the same class with the islands of Puget Sound or Yakima in the same class with the Palouse. The horticultural commissioner should be allowed to establish different standards for each district. Federal regulation only will give practical uniformity." On a standing vote the motion for uniformity in state laws was declared carried, 33 to 21.

OVERLANDERS TO EAT HOOD RIVER APPLES

The distribution of a big block of Hood River apples will be a feature of the national convention of Overland motor car dealers to be held at Toledo in early December. C. F. Gilbert and Harry T. DeWitt, local dealers of the motor car company, are supervising the packing of the apples, each of which will be enclosed in a special wrapper bearing the imprint of an Overland model.

Messrs, Gilbert & DeWitt will leave Hood River for Toledo next Saturday.

THIS IS FIRE LADDIES' DAY

FOOTBALL AND DANCE CHIEF EVENTS

Thanksgiving Annually Devoted to Making Merry With Volunteer Department and Helping Raise Needed Funds

In Hood River one never thinks of Thanksgiving without at the same time giving mental recognition to the Hood River Volunteer fire department. Thanksgiving day is annually given over to activities of the fire laddies. On the afternoon of every Thanksgiv-ing day the football teams of the Hood River Volunteer fire department and the Hood River high school meet in serious conflict at Columbia park. Thanksgiving night Hood River people en masse turn out and trip the light fantastic with the firemen, their wives and their sweethearts. Everybody goes to the firemen's ball, and everybody has a good time, and incidentally everybody helps raise funds much needed by the fire boys in replenishing each year the funds of their depleted treasury.

From last night, when the bonfire on the Hartley block lighted the ancient fir trees and the oaks, relics of original forests saved from the axe of the city builder, the annual fireman's celebra-tion began. The serpentine was gaily danced by beardless youths of the high school and the bewhiskered members of the fire department. Chief Morgan, as grimly sreious as Greene at the Battle BERCULOSIS

The game last season ended in a tie 7 to 7. From the merits of the two teams this year, according to their respective supporters, the result of this season should be slightly closer. At a meeting of the athletic committees of the high school and fire department, it was decided to appropriate the money 60 per cent to the high school and 40 per cent for firemen. A new pigskin will be used. The ball is now n display in the show window of the Franz Hardware Co. The winning team

An appeal is made by the students of the high school to have valley orchard-ists turn out for the ball game. The students turned out and assisted in harvesting the apple crop, and the boys and girls are believers in reciprocity.

HOOD RIVER BANKS SHOW MATERIAL GAIN

Local bank clearances and deposits re heavier at the present time and how a more pronounced prosperity han at any time for the past four total deposits River's three banking institutions show deposits more than $175,000 greater spite the fact that heavy demands have been made in paying off the numerous transient laborers who have participated in the harvest of the bumper apple crop.

Maximum figures taken on dates between November I and the present time, show an increase in deposits of approximately $100,000 for the Butler Banking Co.; $40,000 for the First National Bank, the deposits net, showing no expansion of loans; and $38,000 for the Hood River State Bank. The total deposits of the three institutions, on date of maximum figure for November, reach the sum of $948,748.46.

UNDERWOOD DISTRICT BONDS ARE SOLD

A bond issue of $8,900 floated by the Underwood irrigation district, was sold here last week through Geo. R. Wilbur, attorney for the district, to the Butler Banking Co., a price of par having been paid for $5,000 of the bonds and 97 cents for the remaining $3,000.

R. W. Rea, enigneer for the Underwood district, who is also handling as engineer the big $1,000,000 project at Prineville, estimates that the proceeds from the bond sale will be sufficient to complete construction work, a half of which is already finished.

A total of 328 acres will be watered by the new system, covering what is known as the Underwood Flat orchard district. The water will be drawn from the White Salmen river a short distance below the giant dam of the Northwestern Electric Company. One hundred and four feet will be taken down stream for a quarter of a mile. Only four feet of the water, however, will reach the irrigable area, the remainder being required to drive the hydraulic pump that will be installed. inderwood fruit growers, whose places will be watered by the new system are: G. E. Hussey, H. C. Lowden, W. B. Rine, G. A. Cooper, A. B. Brooks, E. C. Goddard, Mrs. H. R. Hedrick and W. F. Potter.
