Food provided for the family table deserves the careful thought of every housewife. Do you use thought when buying baking powder?

The quality of cake, biscuits and all quickly raised flour foods depends largely upon the kind of baking powder used.

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar derived from grapes. It is absolutely pure and has proved its excellence for making food of finest quality and wholesomeness for generations.

Royal Baking Powder contains no aluminum phosphate.

FRANKTON.

The next is Christmas, only 18 days away.

The whooping cough has about run its course, if we have had any.

M. R. Noble is not even bating now, but is stopping in town for a short time.

Miss Josephine Poole, of Roseburg, was a week end visitor at E. J. Cooper's and family. Miss Poole visited the Frankton school Monday. Miss Eloise Copper, her cousin, is teacher in the primary department.

Mrs. Patton, of Husum, visited part of last week with her sister, and family.

Roy Rash, principal of the Frankton school, is helping shelling installed in one of the rooms to better care for the large number of library books and other papers belonging to the school.

Mrs. E. J. Nicholson, school clerk for the past several years, secured leave of absence from the school board and will go east to spend the winter with her husband, who is doing railroad work in Minnesota.

The Parent-Teacher meeting scheduled for last Friday night was a failure, but half a dozen coming out; one teacher and no president or other officers. Oh, yes, the treasurer was there. What is wrong with Frankton? We have and can do better than this. If we expect to make a success of the school we should all pull together and help the good work along.

Warren Miller and family, of Frank-ton, accompanied by Uncle Billy Boorman and wife, of Hood River, took their Thanksgiving dinner with F. C. Sherrieb and family at Barrett. Mr. Boorman, one of the oldest residents of Hood River valley, sat at the head of the table and returned thanks for the many good things which his daughter, Mrs. Sherrieb and Mrs. Miller, knew only too well how to prepare.

Elmer Strom, of Seattle, a brother of Mrs. A. W. Labell, stopped here Tuesday on his way home from Hermiton, where he spent Thanksgiving with friends and relatives.

Florence Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Carson, came up from Portland, where she is attending business college, to spend Thanksgiving with the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sumner met with quite an accident last week when going down town in their auto. As they were nearly down to their place of business Mr. Blagg came round the corner at a rapid rate of speed, running his car into them and damaging their car, as well as his own, quite badly. Mrs. Sumner was thrown to the bottom of the car, but fortunately no one was injured.

Miss Hattie Floyd is suffering from a very bad cold.

Mrs. Alida Shoemaker, son, Kent, and wife, entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Anderson and little son Thanksgiving day.

FOOTBALL

(By Earl Weber)

Sing a song of football On Thanksgiving day. Four and seven fremen Said that they could play. But when the game was finished The bugs began to shout "After this 'Now wasn't that a heluva team The high school put to rout."

Once again the dope sheet was upset and spilled all over Columbia field. Once again with class written all over every member of their team, the fremen under strict orders of Chief Morgan to quench every spark of fire left in the high school eleven, hid themselves to the gridiron brimful of confidence and doubting not in the least that they would bring home a victory.

Lee pauding, prognosticator extraordinary, predicted that the H. S. would win. Two or three members of the H. S. eleven backed that prediction with coin of the realm, but these members would bet their hats even if they were going to play Oregon, and Lee always predicts the H. S. will win, so the people who really conceded the blue jerseyed boys a chance were a mere handful.

But their rooters were more than a handful. Close to 500 people paid admittance to the grounds and their rooting was divided between the teams as near 50-50 as is possible.

At 2:15 the fremen kicked off and following an exchange of punts and a fumble, the ball was soon on the fremen's nine yard in possession of the high school. After three vain attempts to penetrate the fremen's line, Nickelsen stepped back and placed a drop kick between the goal posts for the game's only three points.

Mrs. R. E. Bachman spent the week end with Mrs. S. G. Emilio.

Mrs. N. M. McAllister, of Hood River, who is a sister of Mrs. Harry Whiteley, presented her husband with a 98 pound boy last Friday.

After spending Thanksgiving with Mrs. and Mr. Shannon, Miss Doris Jensen returned to Estacada Sunday to resume school work.

Andy Anderson, an office employee of the Oregon Lumber Co., is busily engaged after office hours in the construction of a handsome cedar "Hope" chest.

John Wierick has leased the strawberry patch of S. G. Emilio, who is employed at Bingham Canyon, Idaho.

Supt. E. H. Green, of the Oregon Lumber Co., spent Sunday afternoon cleaning his dress necktie, preparatory to Yuletide festivities. Green's black tie had turned grey, chromatically speaking.

Miss Doris Emmett went to Portland Wednesday to do Christmas shopping, returning Sunday.

Thanksgiving day was pleasantly observed here by a number of families, the community warehouse idea, presumably, having been extended and subjected to Turkey Day, as several families joined together in the celebration and feasting. Mrs. R. A. Collins and Mrs. E. N. Bachman joined forces and menus at the Collins bungalow, the "diet squad" consisting of Messrs. John E. Edgar, C. B. Compton, Rory Collins, E. N. and E. L. Bachman, A magnificent turkey with complete trimmings, sumptuously served, graced the festive board.

At the home of Mrs. S. G. Emilio were gathered Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whiteley and daughter, Eleanor, and J. O. Curtis, where a tender turkey formed the center of attack. Mr. and Mrs. Walker West entertained a full gathering of their immediate family and relatives at their residence, and the Dea hotel a superb turkey dinner was served to a number of invited guests including Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Green. The Emmett and Romney families dined elaborately at the Emmett home.

Word has been received that Mrs. H. Meyers, grandmother of Mrs. John R. Edgar, died in Brookfield, Mo., one week after the arrival there of Mrs. Edgar. Mrs. Meyers was 83 years of age and had been in failing health for several years.

Jack Eccles returned to Corvallis Saturday after several days' visit with relatives here.

The beautiful new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Romney near the Dea station, was the scene last Saturday of one of the most pleasant occasions which has graced the community in many months. Owing to the impending departure of the Romneys for Ogdin, on a visit which will extend beyond the Christmas season, Mrs. Romney invited all the little children of the neighborhood to be her guests and after a merry hour or two had passed all the children were presented with toys and candies and other reminders of holiday cheer. The affair was greatly enjoyed and appreciated by the kiddies.

Word has been said about the fremen and their rushing the ball, but they were out played by the high school for all that, and the victory of Monkies' boys was a well deserved one. They were in much better condition than the fremen and there was better team work and more cohesion of play shown by them. Henderson, in the backfield for the first time, played a fine defensive game and Nickelsen was at the signal calling station where he had not played since last year.
