When subscribers desire a change in address this office should be notified promptly, and a week before if possible. Always give old address as well as the new. Also, Hood River subscribers should notify this office at once when changing their address from one rural route to another, or from city delivery to country delivery, or vice versa.

POOR ADVICE

A. H. Harris, who addressed members of the Oregon State Horticultural Society in session here last week, posed as a newspaper man. The pose is authenticated. But Mr. Harris, by his remarks on publicity, by his indirect suggestion of community news censorship, marks himself as a rare and peculiar type of newspaper man.

On the whole, Mr. Harris' talk was timely and worth the fruit grower's consideration. His recommendation that home people be educated to consume greater quantities of Oregon fruits and his suggestions that larger proportions of the ever increasing apple crops be conserved in canned products, were obviously good.

And we all agree that it is at least unfortunate that the elements are taking a toll of Hood River's apple crop. But Mr. Harris, while citing the item telling of a bad condition, failed to tell of the 101 stories in the Oregonian from Hood River that deal with the good things that have happened to Hood River orchards.

Mr. Harris, as we recall it, had some glowing remarks about newspapers of character. And what do newspapers of character, such as the Oregonian, demand for their news columns? They want the facts of all news from day to day. Those items dealing with prosperity, good things and happenings that are gratifying, are more desirable than items telling of losses, but the bad things must be handled as they break.

And as a newspaper man Mr. Harris ought to know that all square newspapers, "newspapers of character," look with suspicion on items from a community known to suppress bad news. Such communities may "get away with" such customs for a time, but eventually the secret is out and gradually the ruining hook, in a newspaper office the blue pencil, it will be found, is cutting more and more of the heart out of boosting articles.

If fruit men follow the suggestions of Mr. Harris, they will soon find that it will be difficult to get as wide dissemination as might be desired of publicity that will boost the fruit game, and eventually the public will turn from a glut of "sunshine."

LEST WE FORGET

Christmastime should be the happiest time for all people of all the year. True happiness is brought to individuals as a kind of reflection of the happiness that those same individuals have made possible for others. The giver of gifts, he who makes a sacrifice and does not give for selfish purposes, is often much happier than the recipient of the present. The true spirit of Christmastime, and the one that brings the truest feeling of happiness is one of giving rather than of receiving.

The Christmas spirit touches all of us. The man or woman who has given no thought of dispensing some bit of Yuletide cheer is to be pitied. And we do not believe there is such a one in Hood River. All of us are thinking of our families and our friends. But while we are busily engaged in making selection of some toy or some tempting sweetmeat for the little boy or girl up at our home, let us not forget the appeal that has been made by the Associated Aids for appropriate foods to be placed in baskets that will be distributed in Hood River on Christmas day to poor families. Hood River is fortunate in having but a small proportion of poor families, but we have a few. Our Associated Aids, however, tell us that they are going to lack provisions for Christmas dinners for these few. Let us not be so selfish as all this. Or rather let us not be so thoughtless—that word selfish was ill-chosen. We are not selfish; we are too busy thinking about the happiness of our own little ones. But let's make the Christmas cheer general. Call some member of the Associated Aids and tell them that you will prepare some article of food for those Christmas baskets. The charitable organization does not want fancy articles—just something good, tasty and solid. They say that canned fruit will be most acceptable, or if you desire, a good apple pie will make a mighty fine article for the Christmas basket.

The aggressive spirit of the people of Bend, new county seat of Deschutes county, Oregon's youngest county, is to be commended. Things are humming along over at Bend just about as fast as, or maybe a little faster than in any other part of Oregon at the present time. The two weekly papers of the thriving central Oregon metropolis, the Press and the Bulletin, are getting out daily editions. It sounds well—having two daily newspapers in a new town. But we wonder if those publishers won't find the venture an expensive one. To get out a daily paper in which the people of the Bend community will take a pride is going to cost a lot of money.

Remember that a lot of the decorations used for Christmas trees and the boughs and twigs themselves, of the young fir are decidedly inflammable. If you find that you have to use candles on the tree, be mighty careful. We don't want any tragedies to mar the pleasures of Christmas morning.

Over in England Mars is causing legislative enactments that limit the courses of any one meal. Here in America it is not necessary to adopt prohibitive legislation. The high cost of both staple and fancy articles of food forms prohibition enough.

Success of the plan in Multnomah leads Hood River county to declare for a roadmaster with vested authority. Hood River people are progressive.—The Oregonian.

Hood River school children last night were presented with a most acceptable Christmas present, the new brick school buildings.

Somebody is going to awake to the fact Sunday that he has not done his Christmas shopping.

Bring all the kiddies down for the Christmas tree next Saturday.

A dozen fresh eggs will make acceptable Christmas presents.

Hurrah for that Christmas apple money!

Mrs. Castner Will Give Talk

(By Hazel B. Smith) Mrs. Chas. H. Castner, president of the Federated Woman's Council, is listed among the visiting lecturers during Farmers' Week and Homemaker's Conference at the Oregon Agricultural College January 2 to 6, inclusive.

A particularly good list of lecturers has been secured for the conference this year from the Oregon educational leaders and in addition to these, a series of lectures will be given by Miss Alice Ravenhill, who has risen to world-wide distinction through her work on sanitation, hygiene and child development. She is a Fellow of the Royal Sanitary Institute, the only woman who has received this recognition.

The School of Home Economics has put forth even a greater effort than in former years to add to the interest of the conference and large crowds from every part of the state are expected to share in the benefits of the week.

Mrs. Castner's address on "Woman's Place in the Community" will be given on Wednesday, January 3. Excursion rates are offered by all railroads.

Council Officers Elected

At the annual election Tuesday the Council of Royal and Select Masters named the following officers for 1917: W. F. Laraway, formerly Grand Master for Oregon and Grand Commander of Oregon Knights Templar, illustrious Master; J. K. Carson, R. I. D. M.; A. P. Howes, P. C. G.; E. O. Blanche, Treas.; E. C. Smith, Sec. The election of officers followed work in the S. M. degree. The meeting was brought to a close by an oyster supper.

G. K. Marshall and A. B. Moe have been appointed respectively to the offices of C. of G. and C. C.

Installation will be held jointly on the night of Tuesday, January 2, with the Comandery, Knights Templar.

Congregational Church

Friday evening at 7.30 the Sunday school will have their tree and program. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Sermon at 11 a. m. Subject, "The Changeless Christ." Special music by the "old quartet." Christmas music at 7.30 p. m. given by the "old quartet" and other local talent. The old quartet: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Henny, Mrs. P. S. Davidson and Geo. E. Wilbur. Hans Hoerlein at the organ. Everybody should go to church next Sunday. M. L. Hutton, Pastor.

Christian Church

Bible school 9.45 a. m. The lesson is "For and Against Him." Communion 11 a. m. C. E. 6.15. "Helping to Accomplish the Purpose of Christ's Coming." A Christmas meeting. The Christmas program will be given at 7.30 p. m. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

Unitarian Church

"Shall We Keep Oregon Dry?" Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The address will be given by the Associated Aids for appropriate foods to be placed in baskets that will be distributed in Hood River on Christmas day to poor families. Hood River is fortunate in having but a small proportion of poor families, but we have a few. Our Associated Aids, however, tell us that they are going to lack provisions for Christmas dinners for these few. Let us not be so selfish as all this. Or rather let us not be so thoughtless—that word selfish was ill-chosen. We are not selfish; we are too busy thinking about the happiness of our own little ones. But let's make the Christmas cheer general. Call some member of the Associated Aids and tell them that you will prepare some article of food for those Christmas baskets. The charitable organization does not want fancy articles—just something good, tasty and solid. They say that canned fruit will be most acceptable, or if you desire, a good apple pie will make a mighty fine article for the Christmas basket.

Methodist Church

Services at the Asbury M. E. church will be held next Sunday at the usual time. Rev. Elijah Longbrake, the new minister, who formerly has been in charge of a church at Lewiston, Ida., will fill the pulpit next Sunday.

Apples Sell High in Chicago

L. J. Phebus, of Seattle, here last week on business, had just returned from Chicago, where he stated he had paid 25 cents for three Hood River apples, of the size of 100 to the box. According to this figure a box of Hood River apples is selling on the Chicago retail market at $6.50.

"Because of my loyalty to my own state," said Mr. Phebus, "I tried to buy Washington apples, but I was unable to find any of the fruit from my home state in the market."

Fostoffice Appropriation in Bill

A general omnibus bill to be introduced in congress soon carries the appropriation for the proposed new post-office for Hood River. The sum of the appropriation is $60,000.

LOCAL STATION TO BE MADE PERMANENT

While the proposed plans will be handed up to a certain extent by the recently adopted tax limitation amendment, according to A. B. Cordley, director of the Oregon Experiment Station, here to confer with the advisory board of the Hood River branch of the station, efforts will be made at the coming session of the legislature to have a continuing appropriation of $5,000 a year made for the local institution. To supplement this aid from the state, Hood River county will offer to raise for the next three years an amount of $2,000 to be used in the purchase of a permanent experimental farm and the construction of proper buildings thereon.

Heretofore the local station has never been on any permanent basis and has been hampered because of lack of assurances that appropriations will continue. C. A. Reed, chairman of the advisory board, composed of orchardists, states that the policy of apple crop insurance has been a large degree to the work of the experimental station representatives. It is estimated that a 10 acre plot of ground and buildings can be secured for the local work for a sum of not to exceed $5,000, and it is likely that options on proper locations will be secured early next year.

Geo. R. Wilbur attended the conference between Director Cordley and the advisory board and gave the men the assurance that the state is likely to secure appropriations from the legislature that would put the local branch experiment station on a permanent basis.

CONVENIENCES CHARACTERIZE STUDEBAKER

Foust & Merle, the Hood River distributors of the new automobile, are proud this week over the arrival of a new model Studebaker, one of the series of 18. The big vehicle is on display at the local auto store and has interested numerous motor car admirers who have called there.

The new Studebaker, while its dimensions are practically the same as the car of last year, because of deft touches by the designers it appears to be longer. The added length appearance gives the car more of a trimness. The new Studebaker is characterized by convenience. The machine is a five passenger one, but may quickly be turned into a commodious seven passenger car by pulling out the disappearing auxiliary seats that nestle out of sight under the rear seat. Just like a reversible chair of a car, the right hand front seat may be turned over and face the direction the passenger desires.

CORPS PRESENTS COE SCHOOL WITH FLAG

The most impressive ceremonies attending the formal programs of dedication of Hood River's new primary school and high school annex occurred yesterday afternoon when the members of Canby Corps, W. R. C., formally presented Coe school with a handsome American flag, five by eight feet. Following the presentation by Mrs. H. J. Fredrick, patriotic instruction by the Relief Corps, the 450 little boys and girls of the grades of the city schools saluted the new colors, and then the children sang "America."

Other numbers on the program were: Talk by Mrs. Alma Howe, and response to Mrs. Fredrick's presentation speech by Miss Frances principal of the Coe school. Mrs. Howe also read a letter from Mrs. H. C. Coe, of Portland, who expressed an appreciation of the honor accorded her father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Coe, for whom the school was named.

Rights of Way Desired

In order to facilitate immediate construction work should the State Highway Commission decide early next year to open the stretch of the Columbia River Highway between the Mitchell Point tunnel on the Edgar Locke place and the top of Ruthton hill, local citizens are circulating petitions to the county court to have the rights of way between these two points established. While the reports are not official, Hood River men believe this section of road will receive immediate attention next year.

The survey for the Highway west of town was made in 1914 by Engineer J. A. Elliott, but no rights of way have ever been secured. J. W. Morton, owner of land over which a part of the new route extends, is opposed to the survey, and condemnation proceedings may be necessary.

Wid-Branch

Justice of the Peace Buck, who for the past eight and a half years has served on the justice's bench here, yesterday afternoon officiated at his 54th wedding ceremony, speaking the words of the made Archibald W. and Miss Dixie Brannon, both of this city, man and wife. Mr. Wold is an employee of the spray factory.

The Greatest Weather Prophet

Rev. Irl R. Hicks, of St. Louis, the greatest and most successful of weather forecasters, died on October 12, 1916, after a short illness. Before he took sick he had entirely completed his work on the great "Hicks Almanac" for 1917 and had read the proofs of all his weather forecasts for a year in advance. The noted Almanac is now ready and a fine specimen of Almanac making. Prof. Hicks' portrait was painted by a leading artist of St. Louis in May, and this portrait printed in colors makes the frontispiece of the 1917 Almanac. Prof. Hicks' monthly Magazine, Word and Works, will also be continued by the publishers. Word and Works will have with the Hicks' Almanac is one dollar. Send 5c for a sample copy of Word and Works. Address Word and Works Publishing Company, 3401 Franklin Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

TWO HOGS BRING CHECK FOR $96.04

"Chester Whites are money makers," declares P. H. Mohr, of the Honanza Fruit & Stock Farm of the East Side, owned by Mr. Mohr and his brother. Mr. Mohr made the remark as he exhibited a check for $96.04, the returns on two hogs of the Chester White breed, just shipped to Portland by W. E. Sherman in a lot of the latter's own animals. The hogs were both two years old and were of the stock of Improved Chester Whites, of which Mohr & Bros. make a specialty.

Gibson Proposes School Change

A change may be made in the customary schedules of Hood River county schools, in order that the students may participate in the harvest of apples. County School Superintendent Gibson has made the suggestion to members of school boards of districts in which the apple harvest reaches its peak during October, that schools open on August 20 and be continued until October 5. Then, according to Prof. Gibson's recommendation, a vacation would be declared until October 29. During this time the annual teachers' institute would be held. The plan is receiving favorable comment among the residents of the apple producing sections.
