THE RIGHT WAY

On Friday of next week the Bend Press will appear as a weekly, the field it has chosen as the proper one in which to render the best service to the city and to Central Oregon as a newspaper.

Any paper to have an excuse for existence must render service.

The field for rendering this service is not to be found in the daily field, where six wild-eyed reporters rush hysterically about, covering the congested district of the city, about six blocks, in search of the latest bit of news, which will travel faster by word of mouth than through the evening paper, and farther, too.

It does consist in a faithful account of the news of the community merely as a permanent record of the event. It does consist in telling the hopes and aspirations of the people of the city, in order that others may be inspired to greater action.

This service the Bend Press will have time to render.

With this issue the Bend Daily Press passes into history.

Living with it has been an active exercise.

The above is the editorial explanation, in the Press itself, of the cessation of publication of the Bend Daily Press. It conforms to our own beliefs. Because of its value as a direct confession, we reprint it in full.

OUR SENATOR

Geo. R. Wilbur, who represented Hood River and Wasco counties as joint senator in the recent session of the legislature, made a record of which his constituents are proud.

Some few, when Senator Wilbur was a candidate, opposed him because of his political affiliations. But all join today in expressing the opinion that Hood River and Wasco counties and the state of Oregon could not have been better represented than by Senator Wilbur.

LET SENATOR LANE RESIGN

"If the people of Oregon do not want me to work for them, I will quit." Such is a quotation from Senator Harry Lane in a Washington news dispatch. It seems that it should be evident to the filibuster that he is no longer wanted.

The protests against Senator Lane are marked by their general spontaneity and unanimity. He is called a traitor and devoid of patriotism. His constituency expresses disgust and anger, and their United States senator is repudiated.

With words changed to express a significance of weather conditions, the laconic report, "Off again, on again, gone again," made by one Finnegan, might well be used in describing the past month's freaks of the elements in the mid-Columbia district.

The people of Hood River may soon be aroused to a pitch of patriotism, more profound than any hitherto expressed, by a call to the members of Company 12, Coast Artillery Corps, to mobilize.

The Association distributes another $90,000 in apple money. The total payments on the 1916 crop have reached almost a half million.

Better education seems a most interesting topic for the Hood River valley. Next Thursday the Oak Grove people will vote on the high school question.

Join the Belgian Children's Relief Association and save from starvation some little tot of that beleaguered land.

OFFICIALS EXPRESS OPINIONS ON BONDS

While both say that they desire to make a more thorough study of the road bonding act recently adopted by the legislature and referred to the people at the special election of June 4, before they decide finally to support or oppose the act, County Judge L. N. Blowers and Commissioner Edward Hawkes at present express themselves as favorably impressed with the bonding bill.

"At first thought," says Judge Blowers, "the bonding act seems to me a good thing. While I have not given it the provisions a thorough consideration, it does not seem to me that the sum of $6,000,000 is any too much for the state of Oregon to use in the construction of highways, and we have a need for better roads."

"I am wondering," he says, "where we are going to get the money to continue the further construction of roads after the bond issue gives out. How far will the $6,000,000 go toward constructing the roads proposed? I do not think the sum near sufficient."

Gibson on Salaries Hood River, Ore., March 7, 1917. To the people of Hood River county: The genial editor has asked the writer his opinion on the present county salary tangle and he has donated a bit of space for an answer.

There is a little word—DEMOCRACY—with which some of us toy at our leisure. It means that the people at large shall determine public officials, public salaries and public policies.

Then, with the fifth brick in hand, go rapidly from one point to the other, exchange bricks at every point and say nothing to any one.

BARNUM MADE IT PAY.

When He Mixed Charity, Mystery and Humor With Business. I thoroughly understood the art of advertising, boasted P. T. Barnum in his recollections of his museum days in New York.

"Now," said I, "go and lay a brick on the sidewalk at the corner of Broadway and Ann street, another close by the museum, a third diagonally across the way at the corner of Broadway and Vesey street by the Astor House, put down the fourth on the sidewalk in front of St. Paul's church, opposite."
