A HURTFUL IMPRESSION

The impression that has somehow gained report here during the past several days, that the luncheons that have been held by leaders of the Red Cross movement were being paid for by funds that have been raised by the Chapter, has been very hurtful. It is injurious to the Red Cross and hurtful to the public spirited, patriotic men who are donating their time to the great humanitarian work.

The Red Cross men find that they can accomplish the work they have planned most easily by meetings. They gather at luncheons, or dinners, where problems are threshed over. The men themselves pay for their dinners. These meetings are characterized by their very seriousness.

The charge, too, has been made that too much of the Red Cross fund is spent in needless extravagances. This is far from the fact. The cost of administration will be phenomenally small. While the Red Cross is chartered by Congress and its books are audited annually by the War Department, the cost of administration would be much heavier were it an official branch of the government. As it is a large percentage of the big tasks of the humanitarian organization are done out of public spiritedness and whole-hearted patriotism of some of the nation's leading men and women.

TWELVE CENTS

Provided you purchase a season ticket this will be the cost for each one of the 22 entertainments that will be provided during Chautauqua Week, July 5-10, inclusive. All of the numbers are of the high class that customarily demands an admission price of 50 or 75 cents, or $1 at metropolitan playhouses.

The chautauqua committee will place the season tickets on sale next Thursday. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The way of the transgressor is a hard one—if not here, hereafter he will receive his proper mees. The automobile driver who burns up the streets during the late hours of night and further offends his fellow men by constantly sounding a siren pitched to a ridiculous note is most assuredly a transgressor. And if you happen to be awakened some night by his foolish activities you will be at once definitely convinced that St. Peter will say, "nay, nay," when he drives his noisy motor to the gates of gold. It is said that the arch fiend has a sense of humor, and when the man who has tormented ceaselessly during mortal moments by tooting his motor siren is once within the bounds of hades, Satan will evolve a punishment fitting the crime. And there will be no police officers to stop the Devil. The victim will be feasted and glutted with meat and drugged wines, just enough to bring on a feeling of delicious drowsiness, and then when he is lying on a soft couch just ready for the embrace of Morpheus, his sleep will be held forever from him by the combined braying of a jackass, the hoot of an owl and the cry of a peacock.

A place of honor awaits the young men of Hood River valley in the ranks of Twelfth Company. Why not send out this company as an exclusive Hood River organization? Twelfth Company needs 35 recruits. Local men within the age of the selective draft have the privilege of volunteering and joining the artillery organization. We hope that the officers of Twelfth Company realize their expectations and recruit the full quota before they are called out on July 15.

Numerous Hood River families had to forego their Clark Seedling shortcake last week, when the total of the available supply of the fruit was shipped to central distributing points. Isn't it a fine pot of pickles when the Hood River strawberry has become such an aristocrat that it cannot associate with home folk? Yet that seems to be the case this year. It takes a pretty well burdened pocket-book to keep company with a crate of Clark Seedlings.

You see what kind of a man the chairman of the State Highway Commission is when you hear of his Sunday trip. S. Benson dropped off the train here Sunday, just a timid looking ordinary man. He went up to the Mount Hood hotel and greeted his old friend, C. A. Bell, and then he took a train to Mosier and walked all the way back over the O.-W. R. & N. tracks, inspecting the canyonside where the east extension of the Columbia River Highway will probably go. Mr. Benson is a worker, and an earnest one.

Take an inventory of what you have and then do your best for the Red Cross. Your contribution may be small, but remember the widow's mite. And because some one you may know isn't giving all you think he should, don't allow that to interfere with your giving. Give all you can afford and have a clean conscience when this week is over.

Inconsiderate drivers are going to continue their speeding over the Columbia River Highway until they injure themselves or, still worse, make victims of some innocent and careful tourists over the scenic highway. Some effective curb to the fast driving ought to be brought to bear.

Won't the kids have the time of their lives the first week in July—first the circus and then the Glorious Fourth.

One of the town's greatest needs just now is a band. Musicians, heed the call to your patriotism, and everybody give the band good backing.

ANOTHER CAR DAMAGED ON HIGHWAY

Following another bad accident Monday afternoon at the top of Ruthton hill grade on the Highway, automobiles have petitioned that a large sign be placed on the Highway just east of a bad turn in the road overlooking a steep precipice. The car damaged Monday belonged to Mr. John Kister, of Ritzville, Wash., who with his family was motoring to Portland. The road at the east approach to the Ruthton hill grade is in fine shape, and tourists, not knowing of the sudden bad turn, are accustomed to take the stretch at a good clip. Mr. Kister was not aware of the right angle turn until it. He applied the brake with the result that his car skidded into the fence and barely missed going over the grade.

A sign placed near the dangerous grade is said to have been obscured by growth of bushes. County Judge Blowers declares that authorities will take precautions to prevent a repetition of the recent serious accidents.

JAP MAN WORSTED IN FRESHET BATTLE

The battle of T. Matsumoto, a Japanese lessee of the fertile lowland acres of the F. H. Button ranch, against the Columbia river freshet was lost Tuesday morning, when the stream broke his dikes and flooded 10 acres of truck garden. For the past month Matsumoto has been pumping out water that seeped through his dikes with a battery of gasoline engines, driven night and day.

F. H. Button, the Japanese man's largest estimator, estimates the damage at $2,000. Mr. Button says the river is now higher than it has been since 1900.

The river, after reaching the highest point since 1900 night before last, began to recede. The Bailey Gatzert, because of the freshet closing the Cascade locks, was forced to lay off yesterday. She is expected to come up the river on her usual trip today.

Highway Commissioner Here

Returning from Condon, where he and Eastern Oregon Commissioner Thompson had been to award a road contract, E. J. Adams, southern Oregon banker and member of the State Highway Commission, paid his first visit to the valley yesterday. With Leslie Butler, Mr. Adams motored up over the temporary east extension of the Columbia Highway between here and Mosier. In commenting on the road Mr. Adams said: "It needs a great deal of fixing."

Runaway Horse Kills Self

One of the animals of a four horse team used in road work met death in a sensational manner on Ruthton hill last week. Frightened by a passing automobile and running away, the animal dashed into a fence guarding the cliffside. One of the pickets penetrated the animal's breast to a depth of 20 inches.

Apples Drop Heavily

A severe drop in being reported by all Lower Valley orchardists, and from present indications the crop of the coming fall will be far below estimates made at the time of the heavy bloom.

In the Upper Valley, where the bloom was later and more sunny days prevailed during the blossoming period, the drop of fruit is not so severe.

Miss Grace Edgington, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Edgington, who for the past year has been a member of the staff of the Eugene Register, has been appointed an assistant in the University of Oregon department of Journalism.

John W. Allen, who has been attending the University of Washington, at Seattle, will return home soon. After an eight day visit, Mr. Allen will return to Seattle, where he is a member of a Washington company of the Coast Artillery.

Lynn Young, who for the past two years has been residing with his father, E. J. Young, at Washington, Pa., arrived Saturday for a visit with the family of his sister, Mrs. A. J. Derby, and to look after local property interests.

Thirty-two young men, members of the Portland Y. M. C. A., will spend their outing vacation for the next three weeks engaged in the Dee Flat strawberry harvest. The men secured their positions in the berry fields through the local free employment agency of the Portland office of the United States Bureau of Immigration.

H. R. CANNING CO. SEEKS COOPERATION

With the opening this week of its fourth season in canning Hood River strawberries and other fruits, the Hood River Canning Company, operated by Messrs. Cloud and Larkin, seeks the cooperation of Hood River people in making this local industry successful. Arrangements have been made this season whereby any member of the Apple Growers Association desiring to deliver his canning berries to the cannery can do so by securing a release from the Association. When berries of this grade are delivered to the Association, it is likely that they may be shipped to the cannery at The Dalles and the local factory calls the attention of local ranchers to the fact that by delivering their canning berries directly to the Hood River Canning Company that enterprise will be encouraged and the money for labor, etc., will be kept at home. Messrs. Cloud and Larkin hope that there will be sufficient local help to operate the factory during the present season. It is their policy, they state, to employ all local help. It is only when this impossible that they look elsewhere for employees. The group of cottages which have been erected this year will be used only in case it is found necessary to secure employees from Portland or other outside points.

For the convenience of local employees, a bus will be run again this year from the factory to the baseball park and back both morning and evening.

The management is making it as comfortable and pleasant for their employees as possible and they have this year installed a number of comforts and conveniences with a view to making it a pleasant place in which to work.

It is planned this year to pack strawberries, cherries, blackberries and raspberries (if they can be secured in sufficient quantities), string beans, prunes and Bartlett pears.

Woolpert Talks Apples
White Salmon, June 19, 1917.

To the editor: Your statements in the Glacier last week reciting my announcements relative to shipments of apples by Dan Willie & Co. would mislead your readers. We do expect to import apples into England this fall under a permit issued by the Board of Trade as all other English importing firms do. England recognizes fruit as a food, as well as Mr. Hoover, and must have a necessary amount of it. We also will export apples to Australia, South America and the Scandinavian countries, where we have contacts. We will also export to the United States, but in addition to our English markets.

Very truly,
Dan Willie & Co., Ltd.,
By A. E. Woolpert,
Northwestern Representative.

W. W. Stephenson Passes
The funeral services of the late W. W. Stephenson, who was a member of the Federal Union at Mosier, will be held here this afternoon in charge of the Masonic lodge, interment following at Hillside cemetery. The mind of Mr. Stephenson, who was a member of the lodge, became affected a little more than a year ago and he was brought here, where his fraternal brothers could look after him.

Several months ago his mental aberration became so pronounced that it was necessary to send him to the Eastern Oregon hospital at Pendleton, where he passed away.

Miss Danforth Visits Home Guard
The 106 Hood River members of the Girls' National Honor Guard made last night, when the organization's state leader, Miss Lucille Danforth paid an official visit, a red letter event. Miss Danforth inspected the large potato tracts being cultivated by the local girls and saw the girls engaged in military drill.

Miss Nell Blowers, daughter of Judge L. N. Blowers, entertained for Miss Danforth yesterday afternoon.

First Forest Fire Burns
A fierce forest fire was raging Tuesday afternoon in the forests of Skamania county between the Little White Salmon and Wind rivers. The strong wind blowing up the Columbia has carried the cinders within a half mile of this city.

So dense was the smoke from the burning timber that the sun has been obscured here.

Federal Biologist Visits Parkdale
Accompanied by H. G. Miller, of The Dalles, assistant field superintendent of the agricultural defense council of Oregon, R. A. Wainwright, federal Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, visited Parkdale Monday evening when he delivered a lecture on "and demonstrated methods of killing gophers. These field pests are said to be ruining orchards and damaging hay fields in the Upper Valley country.

Business Booms at Sonny
With the opening of the Mitchell's Point Lumber Company's mill located on the range just south of the station, Sonny, six miles west of here, is one of the busiest points in the county at present. The lumber concern will employ about 60 men. A 40 by 60 foot store building is being erected to supply the loggers and families and surrounding residents.

The lumber company has won the gratification of Columbia River Highway tourists by installing a gasoline supply station. The new store is near the foot of Ruthton hill, where many motorists, caught without sufficient fuel in their tanks, are put to much inconvenience before they can make the steep grade.

Hood River Flag Flies in France
From "Somewhere in France," Armand Patreau, Jr., who was recently here visiting his parents, residents of the Mt. Hood district, announces in a letter to his brother-in-law, Alex. Ronson, that he has been back in the front trenches three weeks.

Young Patreau tells his brother-in-law that the entrance of America into the war and the sending of American troops is putting a new spirit into the French soldier. When Patreau, who is a member of a machine gun company, left here a silk flag was presented by Mayor Dumble on behalf of the citizens of Hood River. This emblem of France's newest and greatest ally, according to his letter, has aroused impressive demonstrations whenever and wherever exhibited.
