

Royal Venetian Band Coming to Chautauqua

Band Which Delighted Thousands at Newport Beach to Tour West

THE Royal Venetian Band, conducted by Signor Joseph Lo Zito, famous Italian Director, gives two concerts on the fourth day of Chautauqua, one of the most liberal band contracts ever made.

Last summer the Royal Venetian Band played during the entire season at Newport Beach, R. I., one of the most exclusive pleasure resorts in the world. The Newport Beach Association says of Signor Joseph Lo Zito and the Royal Venetians: "They furnished the music at this resort the past season to the unquestioned satisfaction of the Association and its patrons. Their concerts were attended by larger audiences than have patronized any band concerts heretofore given at this Beach by any organization."

Mary Adel Hays, American prima donna soprano of New York, has been specially engaged as soloist for the evening concerts. She has been described by "Musical America," the great musical authority, as "having a voice of beautiful quality, marked technical skill, excellent style and taste."

The Military Girls at Chautauqua

THE Military Girls' singing orchestra, novelty drill, drum corps, melange of irresistible femininity, are to give two sparkling programs on the third day of the Ellison-White Chautauqua this summer. There are six of these bewitching girls, and they are glowing with first honors from one of the largest of the Eastern Chautauquas last season. The Military Girls are rated very high as an orchestra.

The Military Girls just bubble happiness; that's all.

FREE LABOR AGENCY BRINGS MANY PICKERS

Despite the panic that existed here two weeks ago over an anticipated shortage of harvest hands, the government employment bureau has furnished growers with approximately 1,500 pickers and packers, most of whom were brought up by boat from Portland. Relatively few of the berry pickers have been using the trains, hundreds arriving overland by wagons and automobiles.

The action of the O.-W. R. & N. Co. in giving a special rate of a fare and a third to berry hands, however, may effect a quick transportation of harvest hands needed on short notice, and the inauguration of the special fare has aroused expressions of gratification from shipping agencies.

Berry harvest will be at its height by the middle of next week, for the fruit of the vast tracts around Parkdale and in the Dee Flat district will begin ripening at that time.

Visits of growers' representatives to the Warm Springs Indian reservation resulted in the arrival here, Friday, of about 100 Redskins who will remain for the balance of the picking season.

WEDDINGS

Montgomery-Maloney

Announcement of the wedding last Thursday evening of James E. Montgomery, commercial superintendent of the Coos & Curry telephone, and Miss Marie Theresa Maloney at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hall, at Marshfield, was received here with utmost surprise. Indeed, the wedding was a surprise to the friends of Mr. Montgomery and his bride at the Coos Bay city, but few knowing of the plans of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery until they were off on an automobile trip for San Francisco.

Following a visit in San Francisco, where Mr. Montgomery will take an examination for a commission in the Signal Reserve Corps, he and his bride will call at Stanford University, of which institution the groom is a graduate, and go from there to Indiana and Michigan points for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Montgomery has been teaching at Marshfield for the past several years. She has won a large circle of friends in the coast town. Mr. Montgomery, who has a host of local friends, has been in Marshfield for three years. In addition to his position of responsibility with the Coos & Curry Telephone Co., he is vice president of the Bank of Southwestern Oregon, one of the largest financial institutions outside of Portland in the state.

The Glacier joins with the local friends of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery in wishing for them all of the happiness that happily married people can have and that their union may be one blessed with health and prosperity.

Anderson-Waltz

The wedding of Harold C. Anderson, home from Fort Austin, Tex., on furlough, and Miss Verda Waltz, was solemnized in Portland Saturday, Judge Bell officiating. Mr. Anderson is in the aviation corps of the United States army. The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Cash, of this city.

Chapman-Nealeigh

Traveling in a new motor bus which the bridegroom will operate in the Deschutes country, Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Chapman, the latter formerly Miss Mary Nealeigh, of this city, whose wedding occurred the night before at the Baptist parsonage, left Saturday for Deschutes.

Rev. J. L. Allen, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated at the ceremony.

Billy Sunday Helps Red Cross

"Red Cross dividends" amounting to $1,065,000 declared by four corporations Monday brought the total New York city contributions to the $100,000,000 war fund up to $12,033,913. Included in this amount is $58,000 received from Rev. Wm. A. Sunday, who divided between the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. the "free will" offering of $116,000 given to him Sunday at the close of an evangelistic campaign in New York city.

HOOD RIVER TEAM PLAYS GOOD BALL

The Hood River baseball team, Pat Lindsay, manager, and Carl Kent, captain, is playing phenomenally good ball this season. All of the games that have been played here have been close and snappy and the fans in attendance have received their money's worth.

Last Sunday afternoon the local boys met the Miller-Tracey team, of Portland. The game resulted in a score of 4 to 3 for the Portland boys.

Next Sunday the locals will play the fast Honeyman Hardware team of Portland. The game will be called at Columbia Park at the usual time.

Have you ever said, "I will roast to death if I have to stand over that old range another day?" We have a "sure cure" for that kind of a slow death.

The Florence Wickless Automatic Oil Stove

This stove has started work in over fifty households in Hood River this spring. Every day it gets the meals for these fifty families at one-fourth the cost of any other fuel, without smoke or smell, giving an intense heat on the utensil without transmitting it to the room.

Come in and see one at work.

A Sure Thing.

As sure as can be—Tires are going to go up. We have harped this dong now for two weeks. But just the same up they will go. It may be today; it may not be for a month. How could you save money any easier than to buy your season's supply now.

Why are they going up? They are going up because the government has declared a 20 per cent duty on crude rubber. And this tax is small in comparison to some others that may be levied in the future for the protection of our country during the war.
