HOOD RIVER, OREGON

FRANKTON.
Dan Garrabrant and W. A. Mack went down to Yiento to spend a short vacation fishing.
The Frankton folks are thankful that there is no fire records to chronicle this week.
J. I. Moreland and wife are up at the Post Canyon mill running the boarding house for the company.
Rev. Frank Spaulding has sold out. Sorry to lose him and his family from Frankton.
County School Superintendent Gibson was in Frankton one day last week and on business connected with the school work.
Earl Noble and family were visiting at Clifton one day last week with his father, M. R. Noble.
Miss Helen Cowgill, from the O. A. C., gave a food canning demonstration at Frankton Friday of last week. Miss Cowgill endeavored to make the canning process very plain and her work here deserved a larger attendance.

J. J. Mortimer and wife, former residents here, but now living at Cashmere, Wash., visited in this neighborhood several days last week.
Mell Foley has joined the rambling gang. It's a Ford and M. J. and his family are enjoying it to the full.
Mrs. C. C. Jacobs and daughter, Isabell, and Mrs. Franklin Hahn and daughters, Neelia and Eleanor, of Portland, have been week end visitors at Mary Mack Lodge, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mack. The latter is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Mack and Mrs. J. R. Phillips. The visitors are well pleased and are enjoying the motor sightseeing.
Word received from some of our Artillery boys "somewhere in Oregon," state that they are doing fine, have good quarters to stay in and Uncle Sam is feeding them well.
Mrs. Florence Byerlee McLane died in a Portland hospital one day last week. Mrs. McLane was a former resident of Frankton and was dearly loved by all who knew her. Her many friends here were shocked to hear of her death and in the flower of young womanhood, too, but such is life. Its the road we will all have to travel sooner or later.

ODELL
Mr. and Mrs. Alloway and their two children are now at Netherby, the property recently purchased by Mr. Alloway. This family will receive a cordial welcome in Odell, where we believe they will find a pleasant home.
The following residents of Odell have purchased cars within the past two weeks: W. C. Ehrck, a new Maxwell; L. A. E. Clark, a used Cadillac.
Miss Opal Callison, of Pendleton, stopped over Monday for a short visit at the home of her friend, Mrs. Dane Kemp. Miss Callison, who has a position with an automobile firm in Pendleton, is now enjoying her vacation. She expects to visit friends in Portland and Willamette valley points.
The following party went to Cloud Cap Inn Saturday and returned home Monday: Misses Olga Plog, Edna Plog, Alice Clark, Messrs. John Plog, Chas. W. Gunn, Will Haskins, Z. O.

Annala, W. P. Kemp, Mrs. W. P. Kemp, Miss Eleanor Haskins, Miss Eva M. Gunn and little Miss Eloise Gillette. Those whose names appear first in the list made the ascent of Mt. Hood and came through in fine condition.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Masiker burned Sunday morning with part of its contents. Mr. and Mrs. Masiker expressed their appreciation of the splendid response of friends who hurried to the scene and removed many of their household effects so quickly and with so little breakage and loss from handling. Efforts were made first to save the house, but that was found impossible. Mr. and Mrs. Masiker have suffered loss from fire twice within a short time and they have the sincere sympathy of all who know them.
Don D. Crosby, the local barber, went to Portland Sunday via motor-city over the Columbia Highway. He left Odell very early Sunday morning and returned home that afternoon.
O. M. DeWitt has now a fine matched team of big horses. After several months' search he found a horse very nearly like the one he had in color, general appearance and only fifteen pounds difference in weight.
The sound of saw and hammer is heard in Odell with four buildings in various stages of construction and more to follow. A well known commission house of Portland will build a warehouse here, we have been informed, and we expect work to begin on this latest warehouse soon.
L. A. E. Clark bought the barn which was the property of the Consolidated Mercantile Co. and with some changes this building will be a converted into a garage.
Eunice McLean went home to her parents at Ostrander, Wash., Sunday, after having been here for an extended visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davis.
Members of the Red Cross will meet at the high school Friday at 10 a. m. for sewing and a good attendance is urged, as important work is waiting and should be done. Think of the men at the front and then act. Even though you believe you are busy, try to plan to give this day for this work. First aid class will meet Monday at 2 p. m., as usual.
Mrs. Sarah E. Tousey returned to her home in Portland Tuesday.
The Cutler Fruit Grader Co. has now a payroll numbering about 30 men. The plant is working full capacity filling orders for graders.

Monday morning auto stage for Portland. More work for the dentist.
Mrs. Jennie M. Madden and her sister, Mrs. Robert Loudon, came up from Portland the middle of last week to go fishing. They said, "I'm a fish."
M. S. Smith, of Underwood, was down for over night one day last week.
A. O. Adams is batching while Mrs. Adams is at Springfield. He says he is living off the top of the milk.
R. Woodward lost a valuable cow, which was found dead in the woods.
R. W. Stales, of Stevenson, was over last week buying fat cattle. Randall keeps track of the birth of calves and knows just when they are ready for market.
Miss Cornelia Hutchinson, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Adams, returned to her home at Springfield Thursday.
Rev. Eugene Burr delivered his fourth address on "The Reason for Christianity," Sunday evening to a full house. His subject was "The Where of Christianity." He proves what he says from the Bible.
Horace Chandler, of Atchison, Kas., called upon Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Adams Sunday. Mr. Chandler is a cousin of Mrs. Adams.

For Years Orchardists Have Been Waiting For The Great Little Money-Saving

BEAN TRACKPULL

6-Horse Tractor

And these are 18 reasons why Orchardists who have seen the new invention, put on the market after years of experimentation and the most rigid tests possible, give it their O. K.:

1. Pulls instead of pushes itself over the ground.
2. Can be "gee-ed" and "haw-ed" out of holes and soft places like a team.
3. Has full power pull on turns as well as on the straight-away.
4. Turns clear around in a 10-foot circle.
5. Plows or harrows as close up in the corners of fields as a team.
6. Plows as close to vines and trees as a team.
7. Makes little difference how far off center you hitch.
8. Goes under branches of trees that no horse can get under.
9. Works any number of hours overtime on any kind of soil without getting tired.
10. Eats only when working and is a light eater. Costs nothing when idle.
11. Runs stationary machinery up to 10 h. p. when not plowing.
12. Weighs less and costs less to run than wheel-type tractors of same power.
13. Pays for itself in what it saves.
14. Backs as easily as it goes forward.
15. Light weight on long track surface.
16. Cultivates 10 to 20 acres in 10 hours.
17. Plows from 4 to 7 acres in 10 hours.
18. Little power required to pull tractor—power all goes to pull.

Get in touch with us right away. The company is turning out as many of these great little tractors as present facilities will admit, but there is going to be a bigger demand every day as more and more farmers and fruit growers learn about this machine. If you want a BEAN TRACKPULL TRACTOR, have it reserved right away.

Harvey Humphrey has left for Pasco where he will assist the Pacific Power & Light Co. in some construction work, which will take him away from this city for several weeks.
J. F. Joyce, a civil engineer of Stevenson, was in town the latter part of last week surveying the site for the new concrete building to be erected by H. L. Douglass. Mr. Joyce informed the editor that the federal government expected to start work on the State Highway No. 8, between Stevenson and Cooks, on the part which is in the forest reserve, early this month. He also was of the opinion that work would be started on the Reckers point road which will be part of the North Bank highway, either the latter part of August or early in September.
Flocks owned by Klickitat sheepmen are now fattening on the summer grazing grounds of the Columbia National Forest Reserve, around Mt. Adams, and sheep owners believe that the price of lambs this year will reach $10 a head. Klickitat lambs fattened on the Mt. Adams ranges have the reputation of being first class mutton. Several shipments have been made from Goldendale of early lambs turned off the range in the Simcoe mountains. These brought the owners from $8 to $8.50 a head at the Goldendale yards.

CASCADE LOGS.
The air is full of rumors of road grading. We hope to soon see the dirt fly.
We are pleased to see the thermometer registering about 60 in the morning and 70 in the afternoon. This weather pleases us much more than 90 and 101 of last week.
We note that C. C. Hon has traded his Ford for a brand new Chevrolet.
Mrs. A. O. Adams, Sr., a cousin, Mrs. Ellen Cox, of St. Charles, Minn., and Mrs. Cornelia Hutchinson, returned to Springfield, Ore., last Thursday. A. O. Adams, Jr., drove the car.
W. V. Tomkins was a Portland visitor Saturday. We expect he brought Mrs. Tomkins back with him.

FORMER LOCAL WOMAN DIES IN PORTLAND
News of the death last Saturday morning at the Good Samaritan hospital, in Portland, of Mrs. W. E. McLane, formerly Miss Florence V. Byerlee, of this city, came as a shock and brought grief to a host of Hood River friends. Mrs. McLane was generally beloved because of her inherent thoughtfulness for others and her sweet disposition.
Dear followed an operation performed on Tuesday, July 31. While it was of a most serious nature, because of her strong vitality, Mrs. McLane had rallied and hopes for her recovery were entertained, when the collapse came. On Saturday morning, Mrs. G. H. Lynn, sister of Mrs. McLane, received a postcard written the afternoon before which told of hopes for recovery. Within a very few minutes after she read the hopeful message, a telephone message told of the death, and Mrs. Lynn left immediately for Portland.
Florence V. Byerlee was born in Grand Island, Neb., February 7, 1889. She came with the family to Portland in March, 1898, to Hood River the following September. Most of her school days were spent in Frankton. Later, moving to Portland, with her family, she was married March 20, 1910, to W. E. McLane, a former Hood River schoolmate. They had made their home in Portland since then.
She is survived by her husband, W. E. McLane, little son and daughter, Allen Wiley and Minnie Annabelle; mother, Mrs. R. B. Byerlee; sister, Mrs. R. E. Moore; brothers, W. E. Byerlee and Davar A. Byerlee, and their families, all of Portland; her father, D. N. Byerlee of Oswego, and Mrs. G. H. Lynn and family, of Hood River.
Of a lovable disposition, she made hosts of friends in Hood River and Portland. She had been a faithful and consistent member of the Christian church for 13 years.
Just the Thing for Diarrhoea
"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know that it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere.

BIDS WANTED.
Bids for 27 racks of fir or pine and for three cords of oak wood, to be delivered in the woodshed at the schoolhouse, will be received until 6 p. m. on August 15, by the Board of School District No. 13. The Board will also receive bids for the painting of the interior of the schoolhouse, bids to be opened at same hour and date of wood bids. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.
By order of the School Board, District No. 13. J. O. Cameron, Clerk. a9

PARTY ENJOYS TOUR OF CENTRAL OREGON
Despite the unpleasantness of traveling stretches of very bad roads, some bad spots of dust and a scorching sunshine, the following party of local men returned home Sunday afternoon from a tour of Central Oregon and fishing along the Deschutes, declaring that they had had a wonderfully enjoyable trip: C. Dehman, O. H. Rhoades, C. E. Copple and A. D. Moe. The journey was made in Mr. Moe's Reo. The party left here at five o'clock Friday morning and before the sun had grown hot were well on the way toward their goal.
Saturday night they stopped at Madras, county seat of the new county of Jefferson. Here they met Vine W. Pearce, editor and publisher of the Madras Pioneer, who also active in various enterprises in the Central Oregon town. Among them Mr. Pearce is purveyor of the county seat's entertainment, operating the moving picture theater. The Hood River men formed a theatre party at Madras, attending the show as the guests of the proprietor.
At Madras the local men saw Horace Greely Kibbee, formerly publisher of the Mosier Bulletin, and well known in Hood River, where he frequently visited.

The country is showing the effects of the very dry summer and the wheat fields look very bad, many fields being so poor that they are hardly worth cutting. The irrigated country around Bend and Redmond looks much better. While the season is fully three weeks late, the hay crop, which is the principal crop on the irrigated lands, is good as a rule. The city of Bend is one of the most prosperous looking cities in the state. New buildings are going up everywhere, the growth of the town being largely due to the establishment of two large sawmills in the past two years. Sales of irrigated lands have been very active, but since the war have quieted down somewhat. Frost a week ago killed or injured many fields of potatoes and ruined gardens, but in some districts little harm was apparent.
The roads are of all kinds and conditions, from excellent to very bad. From here to The Dalles the grades are heavy and in some places very rough and rocky, but on the whole better than last year. From The Dalles to Dufur the road is badly cut up in places, but rather fair on the whole. From Dufur south to the top of the Tygh grade they are good, a steady climb most of the way, but easy grades. The Tygh grade is four miles long, mostly 7 per cent, but fairly good surface. Good climb out of Tygh on a 5 to 7 per cent grade takes one over the ridge to Maupin over a fair road. Crossing a good bridge and then another climb of about the same grade for several miles to the top of the ridge toward Shaniko, a fairly good road is encountered until within several miles of that town, when it gradually gets worse. There are but few road signs, and one has to guess which road to take. A few dollars and a little time would save many a tourist the trouble and extra mileage caused by getting off the road. From Shaniko to Antelope the road is more or less rocky and rough. Leaving Antelope for Madras, a distance of 40 miles, the first few miles are good. The Antelope canyon of two miles is very rough, rocky and generally bad. From there to Madras it is fair except for numerous chuck holes and places of deep dust and sand, with stretches of very good dirt road. From Madras south to Bend about half the road is good, the rest fair mostly, but with numerous rough places. More or less rocky spots are encountered in the road as well as chuck holes.

ILLNESS BRINGS ABOUT A REUNION
The illness of Miss Anna R. Luce, an early day elocution teacher of Oregon and entertainer of national note, at the Upper Valley home of Miss Grace Allen, brought about a reunion between the pioneer teacher and Miss Abbie J. Mills, one of her students at Willamette University. Miss Mills, who is now a local nurse, was called to attend Miss Luce, who has reached her 80th year. Until she entered the sick room she did not know that the patient was her old teacher, whom she had not seen for 35 years.
"The joy of the reunion was pleased for me and for Miss Luce it seemed as great benefit as medicine," says Miss Mills.
Miss Luce, who has made tours of every part of the United States and who has entertained audiences of thousands, was taken to Portland by Miss Mills. She has recovered from her illness, a severe carache, brought on by the high altitude to which she was unaccustomed.

An inspection will convince you that the service of the Palace Hotel, Portland, Oregon, Washington and Twelfth streets, is second to none. Convenient to shopping and theatre districts, cleanest rooms in city for 50 cts. and up. 111f
