THE NEW YEAR

The New Year approaches. Let us look forward to 1918 with stout hearts and full of courage.

The past eight months of the year that is passing has taught us many valuable lessons. As we of the small community of Hood River have felt that grasp of a unification of ideals...

THE FIREMEN'S DANCE

Next Monday night the members of the Volunteer fire department will be hosts at their 13th annual ball.

The department is an organization that Hood River should be proud of. Eleven members are already away at the front in their country's service.

The fire department is maintained to protect the property of all Hood River men and women, and therefore the organization should at this time have the full support of every man, woman and child in the town.

AS TO CARS

Entitled, "Wanted, Volunteers to Shorten the Shortage" the Public Service Commission of Oregon, F. J. Miller, H. H. Corey and F. G. Butcher, have sent out the following appeal:

You have bought a Liberty Bond; you have contributed to the Red Cross; you have donated to the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., but unless you load cars heavily, deliver speedily and release promptly you are derelict in your duties to your country...

Remember cars are not warehouses. Consign no cars without bona fide sales. Buy from and sell to your nearest market.

Accumulate material sufficient to load cars before ordering. Load and unload on day received regardless of free time limit. Notify railroads of release immediately, in advance if possible.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

The people of Hood River should be grateful that they have an organization like the Commercial club. For the past year we have heard little of the Commercial club. Activities of patriotic organizations have overshadowed those of the commercial body.

The British army has marched in triumph into Jerusalem, the Holy City. The birthplace of Christianity, after some six centuries, is again in the hand of Christians.

struction of cathedral after cathedral. Such is the way of the German madness, but the march to Berlin will differ from that of the investment of Jerusalem.

However deep a snow may pile up, however much it may rain, some old time resident always comes forward and upsets the dope as to a record. The recent flood that swept out Hood river bridges was thought by many of us to have been the biggest freshest the Hood river had ever had.

Not overburdened with the usual non-sense and bizarre decorations that characterize such issues of the country weekly in many cases, but its 22 pages filled with a record of the achievements of its home town citizens and those of Deschutes county and an expression of bright hopes for the future, the Christmas number of the Bend Press has reached us.

The Christmas issue of the Portland Spectator came to us week before last. The Spectator each week is well worth while, but the Christmas number was especially good. Numerous articles, filled with valuable information and pertaining to subjects particularly interesting to thinking Oregonians were published.

We thought that Hood River people had agreed to abide by the decision of the State Highway Commission in the matter of locating the highway between here and Mosier.

The Red Cross women who conduct the classes in sewing should remember that the soldiers in the trenches have to fight the weather what it may.

Get out the old book of good resolutions, dust it off and make your annual entry.

The Land of Large Families. In his article on the winter life of the French Canadians in Harper's Howard E. Smith tells of the extraordinary large families of these simple folk.

"Soon the twilight grew to night, and the large lamp on the table cast its orange glow over the room and the long table filled with steaming dishes. 'You have a large family, madam,' remarked, as they gathered about the table.

"Oul, monsieur, we are sixteen. It is a good gift to be bon Dieu, n'est-ce pas? she said, turning toward the cure. 'C'est vrat, mon enfant. It is there is no better gift than that of another child to his kingdom.'

The most distressing of facial deformities, rhinophyma, which is characterized by a much swollen and reddened tip of the nose, making this look like a huge strawberry or a piece of cauliflower that has been dipped in beet juice, may be cured by a simple operation. Sir William Milligan of the Royal Infirmary, Manchester, England, describes this in the London Lancet.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Hood River. The United States National Bank of Portland, a corporation, and J. C. Ainsworth, Plaintiff, vs. Geo. W. McCoy, Defendant. By virtue of an execution, judgment, decree and order of sale issued out of the above entitled court in the above entitled cause to me directed and dated the 26th day of December, 1917, upon a judgment and decree rendered and entered in said court on the 14th day of December, 1917, in favor of Plaintiff and against the defendant for the sum of $4,472.57, with interest on said sum at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 20th day of December, 1917, and with interest on $75.72 thereof at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the 20th day of December, 1917, and the further sum of $22.45 costs and disbursements, and the costs of and upon this writ, commanding me to make sale of the following described real property situated in the County of Hood River, State of Oregon, to-wit: The southeast quarter (82 1/2) of Section twenty-five (25) in Township Two (2) North, Range Nine (9), East of the Willamette Meridian.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a writ of execution in foreclosure duly issued by the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Hood River County, Oregon, dated December 22, 1917, in a certain suit in said Court wherein Lenaora True, et al. are plaintiffs, and John E. Kettering and Rebecca J. Kettering are defendants, wherein plaintiff recovered a judgment and decree on December 30, 1917, against said defendants for the sum of Four thousand dollars with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent per annum from November 1st, 1914, less the sum of $28.11, for 22c as attorney's fees and for the costs and disbursements of said suit taxed at $12.50, which said writ of execution commands me as sheriff to make sale of the real property described in said decree and herein-after described to satisfy said sums and the expenses of sale, notice is hereby given that I will at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon on the 26th day of January, 1918, at the front door of the County Court House in the City of Hood River, County of Hood River, Oregon, to-wit: Lots numbered two (2) and three (3) and a strip of land forty (40) feet wide by 21 hundred sixty (260) feet long, more or less, on the west side of and adjoining the said lots two (2) and three (3), in the Town of Belmont, as per duly recorded plat thereof; or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment and decree and the accruing costs. Said property will be sold subject to confirmation and redemption as provided by law. Dated December 24, 1917. THOS. F. JOHNSON, Sheriff of Hood River County, Oregon. First publication December 27th, 1917. Last publication, January 24th, 1918.

THE TYPEWRITER IN THE HOME

- Some think of the Royal Typewriter only in connection with office work. Perhaps its first appeal was to the office, where it has certainly efficiency a thousand fold. But the Royal Typewriter is quite as much needed in the Home. Writing, the putting of thoughts on paper, has become an integral part of modern life. Every pupil should learn to prepare lessons, essays and examination papers on a Royal Typewriter. It teaches spelling, it puts thoughts into writing quicker than any other means; it eliminates the clumsy, childish scrawl for perfect printing; it makes the child neat, exact, accurate—qualities that will serve him the rest of his life. The Royal will equip the pupil with a useful accomplishment. After a little practice, composition on the Royal becomes much easier than writing with a pen. More than that, it becomes fun. The child gets a taste of craftsmanship, and that means the translation of work into play. There is nothing your loving care can provide for your children which will do more towards increasing their joy in school work, and remain of greater use to them throughout life, than a ROYAL Typewriter. Its action is more springy, its printing letter perfect. It is the best machine made. It does not get out of order. It loves rough usage. It will wear for years.
