JUDGE WILSON

It has been a pleasant privilege the past two weeks for the citizens of Hood River to observe Judge Fred W. Wilson on the circuit bench here. Judge Wilson has long been well known to the people of Hood River; they have long respected him and honored him; and now one hears with frequency expressions of admiration.

Cases of the recent session of circuit court have been peculiarly disagreeable ones. Judge Wilson, however, has shown himself possessed not only of the formal legal knowledge, a necessity for such a judicial position, but he is also possessed of an inherent spirit of fairness. His rulings, his appeals and suggestions to attorneys have gone far toward eliminating sensational friction. Judge Wilson, always at ease himself, has the faculty of making those who appear before him feel also at ease, and yet his firmness, and quiet dignity, is a barrier to levity in his court.

And Judge Wilson, although he respects the precedents and precedent of judicial procedure, is bold enough when occasion is serious enough for it, to cut through the trivialities and delays of red tape. In a word, he applies good common sense to rules of law.

To most of us it was a surprise that Judge Wilson would be a candidate at the approaching May primaries. Without stopping to consider legal regulations, we had thought his appointment last June to be for the unexpired term of the lamented Judge Bradshaw. But we believe that the citizens of Hood River will be glad to go to the polls and express by their ballots their faith in Judge Wilson, and approval of his action on the bench.

GETTING THE SLACKER

The very plan of the approaching Liberty Bond campaign will preclude some of the objectionable features of the earlier drives. Their patriotism appealed to, many of our citizens rallied to the call and perhaps, when faced with the possibility of an under-subscription by their community, went beyond their bounds in making numerous instances of such hysteria, a hysteria behind which the slacker remained in hiding.

Under the system established for the coming drive the slacker will be smoked out. While a call will be made on everybody, the demand will be within reason. If it appears reasonable that a man or woman is not able to subscribe for a bond, he or she will not be asked to subscribe, and the solicitation of canvassers will be commensurate with the ability of the citizen asked to give.

It is true that the new plans, in a measure, savor of coercion. Certainly they do, what else will suffice? You may say: "I don't like that form of asking me for a subscription. I do not have to be driven to a patriotic duty."

If you are in this frame of mind, just stop and consider that the government is not after you at all. It is after the man who has been permitting you to do it all, and you will be willing to help smoke out those dollar slackers, won't you?

JOSEPH A. WILSON

News of the death, last week, of Joseph A. Wilson brought a pang of regret and grief to the old time pioneers of Hood River. No man ever did more for the development of Hood River valley and the fruit industry here. No man had more faith in the community than Mr. Wilson. He took the industry, even in the earliest days, very seriously, and no levity concerning it was permissible in his presence. Those of the valley who never knew Mr. Wilson, or the pureness of his faith in their community, have missed something.

While Mr. Wilson had some peculiarities, they redounded to his credit rather than against him. He was a clean, honorable gentleman, chivalrous and kindly. The late W. W. Cotton, beloved attorney, who passed away in Portland last week made the following a ruling maxim of his life:

"Concede to the other fellow the things of right which are his, and then you will be in position to ask for the things of right that are yours."

Mr. Wilson's rule of life was somewhat similar, and like the Portland attorney, Mr. Wilson was fond of mingling with sincere young people, of learning their aspirations and helping them to attain them. In his death, all young men who seek the fruits of life in honest, earnest spirit, have lost a helper, and Hood River valley lost a true friend.

LET HIM BE ELECTED

It transpires that the term of another appointee of Governor Withycombe, Judge L. N. Klowers, expires this year, the appointment being only until a general election. Judge Klowers seems reluctant to announce his candidacy. His term in office, however, has been a most satisfactory one, and the sentiment generally favors his election to the important post. We hope that he will consent to fulfill the duties of the office.

OUR FOOD

If all the food we were to have the coming year depended on our own efforts don't you think we would be doing "Come tall thinking just now?" Let's consider it in that light and get busy.

It would be no difficult task, if we will just apply ourselves, to grow all of the vegetables we can consume this summer and next winter. Still some untouched vacant lots may be seen in Hood River.

The rule may be carried a little further. Hood River ranchers can go far toward raising enough grain to supply the valley. Every orchardist ought to plant enough wheat for his own use. Those with larger tracts may raise a surplus. That wheat and other cereals may be grown successfully here was demonstrated last year.

So hurry and prepare the soil for that spring planting. J. F. Thompson, Mace Baldwin and Lage Bros. are each getting ready threshing outfits, so you'll have no difficulty in harvesting your crops.

START THE THRIFT HABIT

One of the greatest educational campaigns ever waged in the Hood River valley was begun Tuesday, when the hundred or more men and women began to spread the gospel of the little green Thrift Stamp. Many men, women and children have already learned the lesson. Let every one start the habit of avoiding unnecessary expenses this week and of applying the money saved to Thrift stamps.

If you have not purchased a Thrift stamp buy one before Saturday night, and then go to the Red Cross Spelling Bee with a clear conscience.

Do not merely deede, yourself, to go to the Red Cross spelling bee at the high school auditorium next Saturday night, but tell everybody you see. The admission of 25 cents will go entirely to the purchase of Red Cross supplies for use of the local Chapter. Enjoy an old fashioned social and help the noble cause.

Sunday night, March 31, set your clock ahead just one hour and forget about it until the last Sunday night in October, when you will set it back. This new law, adopted by Congress, will bring in another of those old fashioned customs, that of early rising.

We judge from rumblings that Portland has some vacant lot profiteers, owners who would take advantage of the situation to charge excessive rentals for idle lots. Let us hope that this species of human swine does not appear in Hood River.

Lieutenant Polts' letter about the wreck of the Tuscania in this week's Glacier is interesting and inspiring. His story of the calm with which our boys met the danger of the great disaster shows of what mettle they are made.

Now that smelt have grown so cheap, don't try to buy all he market man has. Don't gorge yourself and grow tired of the fish at once. Eat moderately and your taste for the delicious fish will last throughout the season.

BEST SHOWS ARE COMING TO LIBERTY

Art Kolsted, proprietor of the Liberty, made a trip to Portland Wednesday in order to book some of the big features now being shown for his new theatre. He came back with contracts for "The Heart of a Lion" with William Farnum. "Because of a Woman" with Belle Bennett. "Blue Jeans" with Viola Dana. "Sixteen" with William S. Hart. Pictures, Douglas Fairbanks in "Headin' South" and the "Modern Musketeer." "Countess Charming" with Julian Eltinge. "Son of His Father" with Chas. Ray. "The Zeppelins' Last Raid," one of the big Thos. Ince specials fully as great as "Civilization." "The Amazons" with Marguerite Clarke. "Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm" with Mary Pickford. "The Gown of Destiny" with Alma Rubens. "Those Who Pay" with Bessie Barriscale. and "The Belgian" with Walker Whiteside.

These pictures will all be shown, with the exception of "The Belgian," which is booked for a May showing, during the latter part of March and the month of April. Mr. Kolsted claims that this is the greatest line-up of pictures that has ever before been booked in Hood River and is the pick of the features run at four of the best houses in Portland—The Liberty, Columbia, Majestic and Peoples.

MORE BOOKS ARE NEEDED FOR SOLDIERS

Miss Ethel Goudy, county librarian, is making an appeal for more books for American soldiers. This is book campaign week, and all with volumes of good books are asked to leave them at the library. Miss Goudy presents the following statement from the American Library Association:

The wide range of reading indulged in by the men at the army training camps is indicated in the following extract from a letter from Malcolm G. Wyer, camp librarian, Camp Logan, Texas, addressed to headquarters: "There is immediate need for books of live present day interest, bearing on all phases of war: books of travel and history of France, United States, England, etc., mathematics, (arithmetic and geometry); French conversation; automobiles; army engineering; manuals of army organization, service, etc.; poetry of service, Noyes, Mass-field, Whittier, Longfellow and collections of war poetry; inspirational books on modern social and religious questions. You undoubtedly have had calls for such material from all camps where work is in progress, and I should be glad to receive a consignment of books of this character, with titles duplicated from 5 to 15 times. I will have some definite lists to requisition as soon as I can get time, but please send me a shipment as soon as possible. There should be 8 or 10 good war atlases.

FISH, FURS AND FEATHERS

The purpose of the Hood River County Game Protective Association, comprehensively told by J. H. Freidrey, one of the most enthusiastic members and officers of the organization, in commending W. L. Finley at the recent meeting held here. Mr. Freidrey said:

We come before you this evening as the representatives of the Hood River County Game Protective Association, an organization conceived and incorporated under the laws of the state of Oregon. The purposes of this organization are the propagation, planting and protection of fish and game birds; the improving of Hood river at various places so that fish may enter the stream and continue toward the spawning grounds in the upper reaches of the river. One of the first projects we have in mind is the confining of the river at the mouth to one channel, so that the salmon and other large fish can enter. At the present time there are four channels and the water is so shallow the fish cannot cross the bars. Another project we contemplate is a fishway at the Punch Bowl, so that fish may proceed to the upper reaches of the West Fork, Lake Branch and Green River.

Individually we can accomplish some things, collectively we can accomplish much. In order to accomplish effective facts we must organize. Hence the Hood River County Game Protective Association and tonight I want to appeal to all the people of this valley to get squarely behind this organization. Give us your support financially, morally and physically; attend the monthly meetings and give us the advantage of your counsel and experience. The membership fee is one dollar per annum, every penny of which will be expended in Hood River county in improving conditions along the river and stocking the streams of this county with fish fry. These baby fish are given and delivered at stations along the railways by the state. All they ask from us is that the fry be planted in the streams and protected until they have reached legal size and during the closed season. It might be well to state at this particular time, that the funds for the support of the fish hatchery and game farm are not obtained by taxation of property, but are obtained from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses. Thus you will observe that the burden is carried by the commercial fishermen and the sporting fraternity. The revenues, which are not sufficient to run the state Commission to accomplish all they wish to do, therefore they have asked the sportsmen in all of the counties of the state to form organizations, such as Rod and Gun Clubs or Fish and Game Associations, to support the Commission in the distribution of fish fry and game birds.

You have no doubt noticed in the papers and other periodicals that reach your home through the mails, urgent requests made by the government to "plant war gardens," "raise pigs," "don't waste food," and warnings under various captions, all of which should be heeded. We must work and save as never before. We must intensify along all lines of endeavor to increase the production of food stuff and materials for the successful prosecution of the war. America's young men have gone into a foreign land to battle for democracy; have come forth to battle that government by the people and for the people shall not perish. America's young women have gone to the battleground as angels of mercy. All must be nourished and sustained by this great nation. We not only must feed our own army, but must furnish food stuff for the armies and people of the allied nations.

Now let us stop for a moment and make a careful survey of our resources. Our land, if diligently tilled, is made to produce great quantities of food, but we are not overlooking our greatest natural resources? I refer to the beautiful stream, Hood river, and its tributaries. We have in Hood River county and pronounced by experts to be the finest trout stream in the state. I have been told by old timers that fish in this stream years ago were so plentiful they could be taken with hand dip nets, and that the stream was so full of fish that they crowded members of their tribe out of the water. However, it is a fact that fish were plentiful enough that anyone, expert or novice, could pole and line and within a short time catch all the fish they possibly could use. There is no reason on earth, to my knowledge, why this cannot be made the case at the present time. We should not only consider the restoring of our streams, but people who own land upon which spring is located should construct pools or basins and stock them with trout. The trout fry will be given to them by the state, and anyone desiring to stock a pool should file an application with Alva L. Day, the secretary of the Association, who will gladly fill a requisition with the proper authorities for the fry and same will be delivered to those persons who file the application and this our only way.

The eminent state fish car, Rainbolt, visits our valley. The fish car is just shown on the screen a reel of pictures showing you how the fish culture is conducted. You have seen in those pictures a million of fish fry about ready for distribution. The gentleman has explained to you that a salmon lives but four years and spawns but once. He also has explained to you that the life of a trout has not been definitely determined, but conceded to be a great number of years and that they spawn every season. Mr. Finley has explained to you that it is just as easy to raise trout as it is to raise chickens, in fact the trout are less troublesome.

These pictures have been a revelation to us, and the accompanying lecture very instructive and I feel that we owe this eminent gentleman a debt of gratitude for being with us during this meeting. I want to thank the people of this community for coming and bringing the children to view the pictures. I feel that your presence here this evening has amply repaid us for our effort and hope you feel just as kindly toward us.

In conclusion I wish again to appeal to the people of this county to back us up in this work, help us to stock up the streams and get prepared for the coming year, when beyond question, a doubt all of the beef and pork will be shipped out of the country to sustain our armies in the field, and we will be compelled to depend on fowl and fish for our fresh meats.

ORDER EARLY AND BE SURE

City Marshal Carson for several days last week was boarding a beautiful brindled bulldog. Diligent inquiries failed to bring an owner for the animal, and the marshal was beginning to wonder what one of his friends would like such an animal. Then the officer learned that the bulldog was owned in Pendleton. While on a baggage car en route from Portland the dog had slipped a collar. Knowing how the dog was favored by its owner, the baggage man was frantic, fearing the animal had leaped from the train while in motion and had perhaps been maimed or killed.

An inspection will convince you that the service of the Palace Hotel, Portland, Oregon, Washington and Twelfth streets, is second to none. Convenient to shopping and theatre districts, clean, set rooms in city for 50 cts. and up. 114

For Circuit Judge

In June 1917, the appointment was given me to succeed the late Judge W. L. Bradshaw as Circuit Judge. Under the law this appointment holds only until the next general election and this office is one of those which the people will be called upon to fill next November. During the last nine months I have endeavored to fulfill the duties of Circuit Judge faithfully and justly, without any fear and without any favor. It is agreeable to the voters of the Seventh Judicial District, I should like to be elected as Judge Bradshaw's successor and therefore announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Circuit Judge.

I can promise nothing more for the future than I have tried to since last June, except that added experience should bring greater efficiency.

FRED W. WILSON.
