Friday afternoon Mrs. S. R. McDonald was the happy victim of a genuine birthday surprise party. Gathered among the pine trees and on the school ground near her home were 50 ladies waiting to give her a royal reception. At 1 o'clock Mrs. McDonald accepted a kind invitation from friends to take a ride in their car, and when she arrived at the grounds and saw a body of women in full view she began to have suspicions some deception had been practiced. Her belief was not groundless, for she soon discovered she was the object of attention. Being of a forgiving nature, however, she freely yielded to the circumstances of the occasion. It was a community gathering, all sharing in the pleasures which such ever brings. Mrs. McDonald was the recipient of several beautiful gifts. Just before the presentation a seat little room was read by its author, Miss Eula McCully, which was significant of the esteem and appreciation in which she is held by all who know her.

President Wilson Endorses Chautauqua

THE WHITE HOUSE Washington 14 December, 1917.

My Dear Mr. Flower: It has been on my mind for some time to thank your organization for the very real help it has given to America for the struggle that is concerned with every fundamental element of national life. Your speakers, going from community to community, meeting people in the friendly spirit engendered by years of intimate and understanding contact, have been effective messengers for the delivery and interpretation of democracy's meaning and imperative needs. The work that the Chautauqua is doing has not lost importance because of war, but rather has gained new opportunities for service.

Let me express the hope that you will let no discouragement weaken your activities, and that the people will not fail in the support of a patriotic institution that may be said to be an integral part of the national defense.

Cordially and sincerely yours, WOODROW WILSON.

Mr. Montaville Flowers, President, International Lyceum and Chautauqua Association, Hotel LaSalle, Chicago, Illinois.

the trip overlaid in his Studebaker. His brother-in-law, Mr. Warren, accompanied him on the journey. He had previously arrived by train. They will occupy the E. A. Race residence, in town.

S. Pruitt and family arrived this Wednesday morning from the Chicago Tribune, N. Y. Herald and London Daily Mail (Paris editions). There are often many Oregon items in the London Mail, the other day a little paragraph from Hood River about the Carson family rising to the tune of the Star Spangled Banner.

Following from Richard, in Liverpool, to his mother, written May 25: "Dear Mother—At last I am up and out. Today is the first time I have been outside for six weeks. To think of it, it seems like an age, but the time has gone very fast. I have had a fine time today. The Cunard Steamship Line entertains the soldiers from the hospitals here with a river trip once a month, down the Mercy river. They provide everything imaginable for entertainment. I'll enclose you a program. As we were going down the river the seaplanes came flying up. They are the first airships I had ever seen in flight. If I was a scribe I could tell you some wonderful things. Just think of it, 14 miles from here is a town called Chester, built by the Romans when they invaded England. There is a stone wall all round the town just as it was when the town was first built. There is also a very old Roman church there. While on our trip our boat ran close to shore so we could see the scenery. The towns are certainly beautiful, so picturesque and old fashioned. Today is Sunday and quite a contrast from last Sunday. It was a beautiful day last Sunday and today it is raining. During the week we had thunder storms every day and ended up with a terrible storm; worse than any we had on the coast."
