END OF THE WAR IS CELEBRATED

GERMANY SIGNS ARMISTICE MONDAY

Local Event Combines Features of Fourth of July and Thanksgiving—
Joy Prevails

"It's true. The war is over." Such was the news that spread with the speed of thought Monday at 11 o'clock on the arrival of Oregonians carrying news of the signing of the German armistice. First news had reached the city at daybreak, but the Portland News reached over the Highways. While citizens hastened from homes in their night clothes to purchase the papers, no preparations for a celebration were made until confirmation by the Associated Press.

With a half holiday proclaimed by Mayor Dumble, all citizens of the city, joined by hundreds from the valley, spent the afternoon celebrating. It was a Fourth of July and Thanksgiving combined. Gathering formally at a prominent business street intersection, with an open topped automobile for a rostrum, Mayor Dumble presided. A prayer was said by Rev. J. D. Lawler. Circuit Judge Wilson, here holding a term of court, delivered an address. J. H. Hazlett, urged an ardent flagging support of the United War Drive. A small organ was hurried to the street corner from the Anderson undertaking parlor by the Transfer & Livery Co., and Mrs. C. H. Sletton and members of the county's Liberty choir sang national songs of allied nations.

Following the formal assembly the populace, in an abundance of joy, spent the afternoon in participating in spontaneous parades. A dead and mellowing cat, tagged the Kaiser, was dragged at the end of a rope from a buggy. Various automobiles dragged effigies of the ex-ruler of Prussia. Bert Stranahan resuscitated from the Fashion Store, an old abandoned, horse drawn hearse. A necessitous team was hitched thereto and an improvised coffin was thrust into it. Kaiser Bill was hauled to a public litter dump on the Columbia lowlands.

The jubilation extended until late in the night. Enthusiastic men and boys early in the evening gathered from store entrances contributions of old boxes, crates and tar barrels. Buckets of gasoline and oil were contributed by garage men and one of the biggest bonfires ever kindled off in Hood River flamed forth to the sky in honor of the victory of right over Prussian might.

Even the weather smiled Monday. No fall day of the 1918 season has ever been brighter. It seemed that an announcement of the glorious news dispelled the mists and fogs of the elements, and when the sun set down the Columbia gorge the sky was cloudless. Hostilities ceased Monday morning on all fronts at 11 o'clock. Paris, Timbuktu, Yokohama, Washington, the American artillerists, however, fired up to the last second. With watches in hand the gunners on the stroke of 11 fired a last salvo, the shell cases being kept as souvenirs of the last shots of the world's greatest war.

Until President Wilson informed congress Monday, the people of America did not know the exact terms of the demands made of Germany in the armistice. The terms, ever more stringent than had been predicted, will not be known until a military conference in Germany is called on to comply with the following terms:

Evacuation of Alsace-Lorraine, Luxembourg and all occupied territory must be completed within 14 days. Germany to be demilitarized and the United States, France, Britain and Italy will keep pace with occupation.

All inhabitants of evacuated territory must be repatriated within 14 days. The German army must surrender in good condition 5,000 guns, heavy and field pieces, 20,000 machine guns, 2000 microweapons, 2000 air planes.

Evacuated territory on the Rhine's left bank will be administered by the local authorities under Allied and United States control. The Allies will hold the principal crossings of the Rhine at Mayence, Coblenz and Cologne with bridgeheads at these points. The wide strip along the Rhine's right bank becomes a neutral zone.

Eleven additional days are allowed for the evacuation of Rhineland. Evacuating armies shall not harm or evacuate inhabitants of the territories. All food and livestock shall be left behind.

The Germans must deliver 5,000 locomotives, 30,000 wagons, 10,000 rail cars within 14 days. Alsace-Lorraine railways must be surrendered within the same period.

The Germans are responsible for revealing all mines. The Allies can requisition from Germany for the support of the Allied armies.

Germany must immediately repatriate all Allied and United States prisoners without reciprocity.

All German troops in the territory formerly belonging to Russia, Roumania and Turkey must withdraw to Germany's frontiers.

The Germans must immediately cease all requisitioning and seizures of supplies.

Following are the financial conditions:

Reparation for damage done.

The enemy is to remove during the armistice no public securities which can serve as pledge for recovery of Allied war losses. Immediate restitution of cash deposit in the Belgian National bank, the immediate return of all documents, specie, stocks, shares, and paper money. Restitution of Russian and Roumanian gold yielded to Germany, delivered in trust to the Allies until the peace treaty is signed.

Naval conditions:

Definite cessation of naval hostilities. Definite information of German ship movements. Surrender to associated powers of 100 submarines with their complete armament and equipment. All other submarines to be paid off, completely disarmed and placed under Allied supervision. Germany must disarm and intern in neutral ports six battle cruisers, 10 battle ships, eight light cruisers, 50 of her most modern destroyers. All other surface warships, including river craft, must be concentrated in German naval bases and paid off, and completely disarmed under Allied supervision. The associated powers are given the right to sweep up all mine fields with the Germans indicating their positions. Freedom of access to and from the Baltic with the Allies occupying all the German defense works in the estuaries from the Cattageat into the Baltic. The Allies' existing blockade conditions to remain unchanged. All German merchantships found at sea remain liable to capture. All naval aircraft to be concentrated and demobilized in German bases to be specified by the Allies. In the evacuation of the Belgian coast the Germans must abandon all merchant ships, tugs, cranes and other harbor material, all stores, arms, armament and apparatus of all kinds.

All Black Sea ports are to be evacuated. All Russian warships seized by Germany in the Black Sea to be delivered to the Allies. All neutral merchant vessels seized must be released.

The German government must formally notify all neutrals, particularly Norway, Sweden and Holland, that all restrictions placed on their trade with the Allies are immediately cancelled.

The Germans must transfer any merchantships to neutral flags. The armistice duration is 30 days with option to extend it.

BILL WAS CREMATED BY UNDERTAKERS

As a climax to the peace celebration Monday more than a thousand people witnessed the cremation of Kaiser Bill on the huge bonfire on the Hartley block. The effigy remains of the ex-ruler of the Prussians were borne to the tune of a dirge to the hot fire by S. E. Hartness and C. C. Anderson. While the big crowd roared, a bevy of boys, dressed like devils, directed by a personification of Satan himself, pelted the burning effigy with long sticks.

PEOPLE FOOLED BY REPORT THURSDAY

Hood River people reserved their expressions of joy over a German armistice throughout the day Thursday while they awaited a confirmation of the news through the Associated Press. On the posting of a bulletin Thursday afternoon by Gen. L. Shoom, the bulletin announcing the falsity of the armistice rumor, the most of the people, while disappointed that they could not celebrate the end of the conflict, repaired to their homes convinced that the nation was the victim of a snare.

Other citizens, however, accepted the United Press hoax, which was apparently confirmed by many telegrams received by local people from Atlantic coast relatives and friends, and at 11 o'clock Thursday night pandemonium broke. The big electric siren, the old fire bell, church bells, automobile horns, the whistles of locomotives on sidings, and numerous lesser noises mingled rendered a confusion of noises that could be heard 200 miles away in the valley. The noisy demonstration was a worry to many people of the city, seriously ill from pneumonia and influenza.

DRAFTEES LEAVE DURING CELEBRATION

While their neighbors were celebrating the signing of the German armistice the following three men contained their spirits for a long time for training as members of the national army. Lloyd Gordon, Wreth, Medford Reed and Geo. W. Butt.

"It looks like it is all over and that we will not have an opportunity to get our crack at the Prussians," said Mr. Butt.

"In fact, the news that we have heard is just a little disappointing to us prospective soldiers."

ARMY DRAFT CALLS ARE ALL CANCELLED

All further army draft calls have been cancelled. Only outstanding calls for drafted men for naval or marine service will be allowed to stand. Local boards, however, will continue to function.

Three men entrained here for Camp Lewis Monday afternoon were turned back at Portland.

AMALGAMATION IN DEFENSE COUNCIL

Mrs. Chas. H. Castner, chairman of the Woman's Committee, of the Oregon Division of the National Council of Defense, last week reported a complete amalgamation of the two departments of the organization. The amalgamation, too, Mrs. Castner stated, has been carried to county Councils of Defense.

Mrs. Castner, with the endorsement of respective county chairmen, has designated women to direct the activities in the respective county organizations.

Following instructions from Washington, Mrs. Castner has written to the directors of Liberty choruses in all counties, asking for preparation for community songs at 4 p. m. Thanksgiving day. These songs will be held in all counties of the nation at the same hour.

"We must not become a moment in our activities, because of German armistice talk," says Mrs. Castner. "And I hope that the women of the state will continue their patriotic activities with just as much spirit and fervor as during the past two years."

Mrs. Castner has just received from Franklin K. Lane, chairman of the field division of the National Council of Defense:

"I earnestly beg you not to relax your efforts in the slightest degree on account of the possibility of an early armistice. Even if an armistice should be concluded this does not mean that the war is over; and in any case the emergency will not be over for a long time. Most of the work you have been called on to perform must go on undisturbed. In many instances the only woman in the Council of Defense system will stay on the job. In a few days will write you as to the outlook for future work."

APPLES GO IN STEADY STREAM

NO CAR SHORTAGE THIS SEASON

Shipments More Than Double Those of Same Date a Year Ago—Motor Trucks Used

Apples are moving in a steady stream through local receiving plants and those located along the line of the Mount Hood R. R. Co., and more than 15 per cent of the year's harvest has been routed to eastern points of distribution. The Apple Growers Association has shipped 610 cars of fruit, and other sales organizations are rolling their tonnage in proportionate quantities.

As a result of the use of many big motor trucks in transporting fruit from community and individual packing houses to railway terminals the apples are being handled this year without the usual congestion accompanying their transportation when large numbers of horse drawn vehicles, carrying light loads, were used. Orchards were entirely cleaned of apples a week ago, and growers are now hastening the completion of packing out their product and disposing of all grades and varieties to cider mills and canners.

SCHOOLS WILL RE- OPEN MONDAY

The schools of Hood River county, which were closed Tuesday October 22, will reopen next Monday, provided the influenza epidemic takes no further spurs. Daily reports of new influenza cases show a decided decrease.

The opening rule will apply to all the schools of the county. Health Officer Edgington, however, warns that all existing cases or new cases of influenza will be practically quarantined. Those in contact with the infection will be strictly isolated, and persons caring for patients will be required to wear masks. Dr. Edgington says that those failing to comply with these restrictions are liable to punishment under Oregon laws.

The Liberty Theatre will open for the first time since the ban next Saturday night.

HOOD RIVER IS FIRST IN MERGED DRIVE

"Our quota is raised," was the message sent Monday by Leslie Butler, county chairman to the central committee of the United War Work drive in Portland. With the quota of $6,800 increased at the last moment by 50 per cent, the advertising committee, while the original quota was assembled last Friday, the date set for completion of their task, failed to reach the new quota.

It was feared that news of the armistice might cause interest in the drive to lag. Instead it seemed to stimulate giving and scores on hearing of the need of the country for further dollars to go over the top, called in person or telephoned that they would double subscriptions.

The armistice celebration was stimulated when Mr. Butler announced on the street a message from Portland that Hood River was the first county of the state to report a full quota.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN HELP BUILD DAM

Hood River sportsmen are joining hands with the State Game and Fish Commission in the construction of a diversion dam near the mouth of Hood river to turn the water of the smaller stream into the Columbia in a deep channel and in a downward course. The new dam replaces a structure washed out last December, when unprecedented freshets raged down the gorge.

The State Commission, interested in the local work that Hood river, declared a salmon spawning stream several years ago, may be available to the big fish, found that a deficit would result after the expenditure of all the funds available. Since the improvement on the stream will greatly improve the river as a fishing stream, anglers were appealed to, and through solicitation of J. H. Freirey and Earl Franz, the sum of $170 additional has been subscribed.

Without the dam Hood river enters the Columbia in a shallow course over a broad sandbar.

COUNTY COURT AP- POINTS 1918 BOARD

The county court has appointed the following citizens of the county as members of an advisory board to discuss and assist in setting the county's expense budget for the coming year:

J. J. Gibbons, C. E. Copley, R. J. McIsaac, Peter H. Moore, Chas. H. Castner, Wilson Eric and A. D. Ramsey.

Efforts are made to reduce taxation for the coming year. No new work will be proposed, but reasonable expense will be incurred in maintaining roads.

The court and board will arrange a tentative budget December 2. The final meeting, a public one, will be held December 23.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FREIGHTS HIGH

Even if the British embargo on American apples should be lifted soon local shippers do not expect to export any heavy tonnage because of the high mark of trans-Atlantic freights.

The Apple Growers Association has been informed that steamship lines plying between American and English ports are offering their space at $1 per foot, which would make the freight cost for a box of apples sent to England $8.
