SAFETY OF LIFE INSURANCE

Wills can be broken, bonds can be sold, estates can be dissipated, but life insurance in a good company leaves at least a part of your estate in a will which cannot be set aside nor your purpose defeated. It is better than real estate because there are no taxes or assessments. It won't depreciate in value. You can borrow money on it without paying a commission and never at a rate of more than 6 per cent interest. It is the acme of safety, the ideal investment for life or death.

Soldiers Have Received 2500 Boxes—The Fruit Now Exhausted—Bell
Praises Co-workers

Until fruit of another crop ripens soldiers passing through Hood River will get no more apples from members of the Canteen committee, that is, when seven boxes of Newtowns, held in storage are gone. J. H. Fredrick, who has been in charge of the distribution of practically all of the 2,500 boxes given out to service men in the past six months, is holding the seven boxes as a treat for a contingent of Oregon men expected this week.

For the past month all surplus apple stocks have been taken by the Canteen committee. After a search of the valley not another box of fruit can be found, and the activities of the blue veiled young women Red Cross greeters for the next few weeks will be limited to candies and cigarettes.

"The success of our efforts in the distributing fruit and delicacies to the soldiers," says C. A. Bell, "rests upon the coöperation of enthusiastic women who have made innumerable sacrifices in meeting all trains. No one of our troops has ever been overlooked and we have reached most of the men who have traveled through on detached or regular trains. Mr. Fredrick has spent his leisure moments for the past six months hunting boxes of apples from storage places down to the O-W. R. & N. baggage room. While off duty he might have been found, day and night, sitting in the baggage room arranging baskets of apples. No fruit stand Tony ever took a greater pride in the display of his wares than has Mr. Fredrick in those apples given to the soldiers."

The entire personnel of the Canteen committee is as follows:

C. A. Bell, chairman; Miss Hazel Holmbeck, secretary; Mrs. Alice Stalaker, treasurer; J. H. Fredrick, Mrs. L. M. Bentley, Mrs. J. W. Ingalls, Miss Rose Haas, Mrs. W. J. A. Baker, Mrs. Edgar Franz, Mrs. Earl Franz, Miss Ellen McGarry, Miss Marie Bartleson, Miss Florence Carson, Mrs. Elizabeth Carson, Miss Lydia Johnson, Miss Minnie Monner, Miss Kitty Bragg, Miss Florence Brosius, Miss Gladys Reavis, Mrs. Dayton McLucas, and Mrs. Walter W. Shay.

Much of the fruit distributed to the soldiers has been contributed by orchardists. A large percentage of it, however, has been purchased at regular prices from individuals and local fruit sales agencies. Funds have been raised by dances and other similar functions.

The committee is undecided as to whether strawberries will be distributed to soldiers passing through the city. Because of the perishability of the fruit, it could only be used in greeting contingents who arrive in large numbers and would be scheduled in advance. It is likely that the committee will practice the distribution of cherries when that fruit ripens this summer.

MR. SINNOTT GIVES ROUSING ADDRESS

Representative N. J. Sinnott, here Monday night as a guest of the Commercial club, delivered a rousing patriotic speech to the members of the organization. While Mr. Sinnott avoided any discussion of party issues, he declared that Republicans in Congress had provided the Administration all necessary wartime legislation asked for except when it came to an abridgment of the freedom of the press. In this stand, he stated, the Republicans were supported by most Democrats.

Mr. Sinnott declared that he was proud of the patriotic sacrifices made by the people of Oregon and especially of those of his own district.

In closing Mr. Sinnott recalled the Gettysburg address of Lincoln, likening the period following the Civil war to that of today.

"There should be a law," he declared, "providing that every school teacher be required to commit to memory that great address. And today it is rather for us to be dedicated to the task with increased devotion for the honored dead on the western front, that they shall not have died in vain."

Mr. Sinnott characterized the work of a congressman for the past year as one of intense strain and irritation.

Following a dinner given Mr. Sinnott at the Mount Hood hotel, he made a short talk in which he endorsed the movement for the Loop Highway, assuring the local people of his utmost aid in hastening work on the highway.

One of the most interesting talks given here by a returned soldier was the intimate recital Monday night by Horace K. Skinner, who went to France with the First Gas Regiment. Mr. Skinner rode 30,000 miles along the western front the last few months of the war as a motorcycle dispatch bearer, and had several narrow escapes from death. In his talk to the club members Mr. Skinner explained how the gas regiment handled its barrages of gas, smoke and thermite, the latter a molten metal rained on the Germans.

According to plans suggested by members of a committee to handle the blossom festival to be celebrated jointly by the club and members of the Portland Ad club, the visitors will be asked to bring their lunches Sunday, April 27, the date on which it is expected the blossoms will be at their best, and meet with local citizens at the city park. The Commercial club will furnish coffee and sugar for the visitors. No program has been arranged by the local club, but it is expected that the Ad Club will bring along orators and singers. The open air auditorium at the park will be arranged to accommodate any program the visitors may wish to stage. No set program has been made for visits to the orchard districts. It is expected, however, that local citizens will escort parties of the visitors to different sections in order to avoid confusion and congestion on the roads.

On the motion of J. L. Carter the club voted to appoint a committee to confer and cooperate with the county court in securing improvements on a road of detour around a portion of the East Side grade now made impassable

This contest is open to all boys and girls of school age in this county. All letters must be in by October 1, 1919. Committee of judges will be named by the county superintendent of schools and the chairman of the War Savings organization.

Your Adventure in Thrift story must not contain over 300 words. It must be plainly written on one side of each sheet of paper used.

In making awards, the judges will take into consideration the following points: Composition, element of self denial and human interest.

Announcement of prize winners and awards will be made on or about October 15, 1919.

While the stories on Adventures in Thrift will not be written until after schools resume work in the fall, the information is given in advance, in order that children may spend some of their leisure moments this summer studying their subjects.

C. H. Vaughan, county chairman, urges all secretaries of War Savings societies to report their membership to him at once.

FIRST BASEBALL NEXT GAME SUNDAY

The recently organized Hood River baseball team will play its first game at Columbia Park next Sunday afternoon, meeting the Piedmont Maroons, said to be the best amateur team in Portland. Columbia park has been greatly improved during the past week, and men are rushing further improvements before Sunday.

The local team last Sunday defeated the Wind River Lumber Company's team at Cascade Locks by a score of 7 to 4. The team was composed of the following: McCutchan, c; Davis, p; Kent, 1b; Shay, 2b; Lausmann, 3b; Kuntz, ss; Baker 1f; Stephens, cf; Moore, lf.

The Hood River team has been practicing daily since Sunday, April 6. Sunday's game should be full of snap. The game will be called at 2.10 sharp. F. G. Lindsey, who is managing the aggregation, urges all fans to turn out, to come themselves and to fill their automobiles with friends. No extra charge will be made for automobiles.

WICKHAM WINS HIS BACK SALARY SUIT

Circuit Judge Fred W. Wilson Monday in the case of Jasper Wickham versus Hood River County, in which Mr. Wickham is suing for alleged back salary amounting to more than $1,000 overruled a demurrer interposed by District Attorney A. J. Derby, the demurrer alleging that the complaint did not state facts sufficient for cause of action. The disposal of the case in this manner will end it, and Mr. Wickham, it is stated, in case his claim is not paid, will after a legal lapse of time proceed to get judgment.

Following the decision by Judge Wilson, District attorney Derby had the alternative of appealing from the decision to the county court or of filing an answer to the complaint and allowing the case to proceed to trial in a formal manner. He expressed a preference to allow the case to be disposed of on the demurrer decision, however.

The case hinged on the validity of a law initiated in 1914 by the Hood River County Pomona Grange and adopted by the citizens at the general election of that year, which materially decreased the salaries of the assessor, clerk, sheriff and judge. The payment of Mr. Wickham's claim will set a precedent for remittance by the county of similar back salaries of the other officers, the total amounting to another approximate $1,000.

As a recognition of the utility of fighting Mr. Wickham's claim, an enabling bill, introduced in the last legislature by Senator Nickelsen, at the instigation of W. S. U'Ren, grange representative, which gives counties the power of initiating bills on matters pertaining to county administration, was cited in court.

"Careless America," one of the most important educational pictures of the day, at the Liberty today.

"Hurry! Sure, but we'll finish the job."

Such was the sentiment of Hood River orchardists as gathered last Thursday night by L. P. Hewitt, district field manager of Hood River, Wasco and Sherman counties for the Victory Loan, present at a conference of Hood River committee members. Despite the busy season, for merchants as well as orchardists, all but three of the district captains for the county were present. The absent three, prevented from attending the meeting by unavoidable incidents, sent word that their machinery, used in rolling up oversubscriptions in Liberty Loans, was intact and ready for service in the Victory drive.

In the Victory campaign Hood River county will not endeavor to go over the top the first half day of day, as was the case in the last Liberty Loan.

"We are all busy people here," said R. E. Scott, executive secretary of the loan organization, "but as you all know, it is the busy people who always accomplish things. You need not have any worries about what we are going to do up here."

Truman Butler, chairman of the committee, explained to his fellow workers the plans of the local campaign. All citizens of the county will receive letters just before the drive begins, asking for their subscriptions. At the suggestion of E. O. Blanchard subscribers will be given a tentative rating. Mr. Blanchard explained that such action would be needed as a guide to subscribers.

It is anticipated that the letters will bring in sufficient voluntary subscriptions to fill the county's quota. In case soliciting is needed, machinery will be ready for the work. It is contemplated that the women of the valley, represented at last week's meeting by Mrs. Thomas Flagler, will conduct the campaign of solicitation if they are needed. The women of the city and valley will aid the executive secretary in the clerical work of mailing the mass of letters to prospective subscribers next week.

Mr. Hewitt said that state headquarters was expecting much of his district for the reason that their organizations of Liberty Loan drives had been kept intact.

I. L. Pierson and E. W. Birge believed that meetings in the districts were unnecessary, in that all residents would attend the city meeting. F. A. Massee stated that people of Willow Flat would attend the Odell meeting. "People from the south end of our district," said G. A. Wuest, "will go to Odell."

The county executive committee appointed by Mr. Butler is identical with the Liberty Loan committee. It includes E. O. Blanchard, A. W. Stone, D. G. Cruikshank and W. M. Stewart.

Speakers are Prominent Men

Thomas G. Ryan, one of Portland's most eloquent attorneys, and Frank Freeman, one of the most skilled bondsmen of the state, will speak Saturday night at the Heilbronner hall meeting. H. S. McCutchan, a prominent Portland attorney, will address both the Odell and Parkdale meetings.

MOSIER CITIZEN SHOWS PATRIOTISM

Miss Nora Hunter, the Glacier correspondent at Mosier, wired the following yesterday:

"A. W. Ehlich, chairman victory loan campaign says, 'Though the campaign has not opened, a $1,000 subscription was voluntarily tendered today by Mr. Geo. C. Evans, an orchardist here. Although Mr. Evans just lost his wife, during the influenza epidemic, leaving him with nine children to support, his loyal spirit as a patriot and a good father are evidenced by his act, and should be an example for others.'"

ASSOCIATION BUYS H. R. A. & S. PLANT

"On April 16, 1914, the date on which our organization had its birth as a cooperative concern," said Executive Manager Stone Tuesday night, "we had no funds and our chief assets were the cooperative spirit and a determination to serve the interests of Hood River valley fruit growers. The Apple Growers Association will celebrate its birthday tomorrow by announcing the purchase today of the Van Horn storage plant of the Hood River Apple & Storage Co."

As a result of Tuesday's purchase the Association owns every foot of cold storage space in the valley except that of the Davidson Fruit Co., and the latter is held under lease.

The total of the storage capacity reaches 450,000 boxes. The Association's net assets are now in excess of $200,000. Consideration in Tuesday's deal was $55,000.

Friday and Saturday I will have a consignment of coats, capes, suits and dresses—Monner's.
