OFFICIALS FIND LAUGHS IN LETTERS

(From the Portland Pacific Semaphore) The following paragraphs are said to be extracts from letters received by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance at Washington:

I ain't got no book learning and I hope I ain't writing for information. Just a line to let you know I am a widow and four children. He was indicted into the surface. I have a four months baby and he is my only support. I was discharged from the army for a Gottie which I was sent home for. I am left with a child seven months old and one is a baby and can't work and he is my best supporter. I am his wife and only air. You have asked for my allotment number, well I have four boys and two girls. Please correct my name as I could not and would not go under a consumed name. From a soldier to his mother, "I am writing in YMCA with a piano playing in my uniform."

Knights Strike Slide Motoring home from Cascade Locks, where they had gone to attend a Knights of Pythias ceremonial, 20 Knights met with an adventure near Wyeth Thursday night, when they ran into a slide on the Highway. After shoveling away the edge of the heap of debris, the visiting fraternity members were able to crawl around the slide. Senator Nickless, in charge of the Highway's maintenance in this county, quickly removed the slide. The Pythians traveled to the Locks, where Pythias Lodge, of Portland, conducted work of initiating a class and Grand Chancellor Johnson, of Astoria, delivered an address, aboard five automobiles.

How Diphtheria is Contracted One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. If your child has a cold when diphtheria is prevalent you should take him out of school and keep him off the street until fully recovered, as there is a hundred times more danger of his taking diphtheria when he has a cold. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted.

RESULTS OF BERRY FERTILIZATION

(By Gordon G. Brown) (Continued from last week)

That yields have been materially increased by the use of fertilizer is clearly indicated. First, compare results from plots receiving nitrate alone in different amounts and applied at different times. We are chiefly interested in average yields on a three-year basis and it is to this your attention is directed. Yields are computed on a heaped basis just as brought from the field, which is equivalent to a packed crate. It seems best to compare results for both tests at one time. It will be seen that plots representing a total of 440 pounds nitrate to the 10,000 plants, one half of which was put on in early spring just as growth was starting and the balance when blossoms appeared, gave highest yields. In Test 1, 251 crates have been secured versus 230 for the Check, or a gain of 51 crates per acre. The yield for the check is unusually good and probably doubles the average for the valley. The significance of increased yields by use of commercial fertilizer under such conditions is interesting indeed. This high average is made possible by the exceptionally high yield for 1916, that of 373 crates, a truly remarkable record considering that no fertilizer was applied. Results from similar applications in Test 2 are consistent with those in Test 1. Plot 3 shows an average total of 250 crates per 10,000 plants versus 188 for the Check, or an increase of 62 crates, or 33 per cent. In Test 2, only an opportunity is afforded to note average results from the use of one (heavy) 440 pound application of nitrate put on in early spring only. It shows a very high average for three years, or 244 crates per acre.

A further study reveals the fact that a total of 220 pounds nitrate put on in two instalments, although considerably surpassed by the heavier applications in Test 2, is only very slightly exceeded in Test 1. The figures on a three-year average show 277 crates for the former versus 281 for the latter. Furthermore, it will be noted that a total application of 220 pounds nitrate put on in two instalments gives yields exceeding that from a single application of a similar amount put on at blossoming time, or from plants receiving a similar total amount put on during early spring only. The advantage of putting on nitrate in equal instalments, whether in larger or smaller amounts, is indicated. That heavier applications give larger yields than smaller applications is also clear.

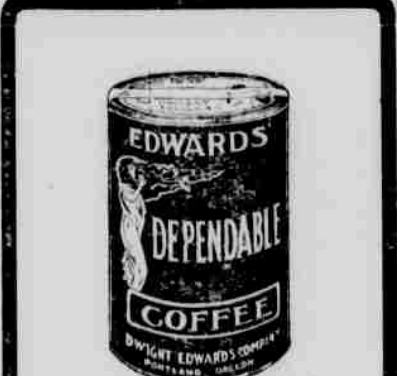

Results from the use of sulphate of potash or superphosphate alone are disappointing. In Tests 1 and 2 the former gives yields on an average lower than that of the Checks. This is also true for the latter in Test 1, while the slight increase in Test 2 is negligible. When a "Complete Fertilizer" was used, increased yields have been secured. Results in this respect are consistent in both tests. The increases, however, are considerably below that given for heavier applications of nitrate. It is also noteworthy that sulphate when combined with superphosphate in the proportions indicated show smaller yields than the checks, but when combined with sulphate of potash increased yields are afforded. Results from the combination of potash and superphosphate are not so affording little clear cut evidence. In Test 1 results are satisfactory in that considerable increase is shown, but a reverse is found in Test 2. Owing to the fact that it is hoped to place in your hands soon a bulletin covering this experiment I will not refer to the matter of size of fruit. Complete information in regard to this matter will be summarized therein. (To be continued)

COUNTRYMAN GIVEN K. OF P. HONORS

F. A. Countryman, aged 68 and a resident of the West Side, died early last Thursday morning at the Cottage hospital after a prolonged illness. Mr. Countryman, who came here 20 years ago from the Willamette Valley, had been a member of the Knights of Pythias for 21 years. His funeral, conducted by the members of Waucoma Lodge, was held here Friday afternoon at the Knights of Pythias chapel. Interment, in charge of C. C. Anderson, followed at the K. of P. cemetery. Mr. Countryman is survived by a son and two daughters, Arthur Countryman, of Hood River; Mrs. J. A. Leach, of California; and Mrs. R. S. Adams, of Michigan.

"I BELIEVE IT SAVED MY LIFE," SHE SAYS

Former Trained Nurse, Graduate of Bellevue Hospital, Gains 25 Pounds Taking Taniae One of the most interesting of the many remarkable statements yet made in connection with Taniae was given by Mrs. Marie J. Howard who resides at 432 Westlake Ave., North, Seattle, recently. Mrs. Howard has been a resident of Seattle for the past eighteen years, and before her marriage was a trained nurse and a graduate of Bellevue Hospital, New York. When asked if she would be willing for her statement to be published she said, "Yes indeed, and you may start it by saying I believe Taniae has saved my life. I have suffered from stomach trouble and disordered liver and kidneys for five years and had gotten in such a bad condition that I honestly felt like I was going to die. Everything I would eat fermented in my stomach and the gas formed by it would cause my heart to palpitate so my breath would almost stop. There were intense pains all through my back about my liver and kidneys and I can't begin to tell how I did suffer. I had fearful headaches and was so nervous I hardly knew what sleep was. I was often down in bed for a week at a time, hardly able to raise my hand. Then I would manage to stay up for two or three days, but would have to give up and take to my bed again. I would often go for two or three days without eating a morsel of anything. I lost weight right along and am telling the positive truth when I say I was in such an awful condition that I thought I was going to die. After reading and hearing so much about Taniae I bought a bottle, thinking if it did others so much good perhaps it might help me too. Well, it has not only helped me, but I have actually gained twenty-five pounds since I began taking it and have never felt better in my life. My appetite is good and my stomach in such a splendid condition that I can hardly eat enough and I don't suffer a particle afterwards. All my pain and misery is gone, my kidneys and liver are acting splendidly and my nerves are perfectly strong and normal. I sleep every night like a child, and don't know what it is to have a headache. My husband has also taken Taniae with wonderful results. In fact, I think it has done him as much good as it has me, and we both consider it the finest medicine made." Taniae is sold in Hood River by the Kresse Drug Co.—Adv.
