MRS. RIDDELL HAS FAMILY REUNION
 Mrs. Martha A. Riddell, who was born in Nebraska in 1847 while her parents were en route to Oregon with a wagon train, last Sunday participated in a family reunion at the summer home of her son, H. H. Riddell, at Moffat creek on the Highway. All of her seven children and 14 grandchildren were present for the pleasant event.
 Mrs. Riddell, whose maiden name was Hamilton, weighed but two and a half pounds when born. As the wagon train crept steadily across the great plains to Oregon's valleys of promise, the tiny little girl rode in a snug bed made in the wagonbox on the front of the wagon. On one occasion, when the Indians attacked the wagon train the top of the box was closed down, and the infant was found peacefully sleeping when the encounter was repulsed.
 Mrs. Riddell's family and the late Mrs. Eliza Spaulding, a survivor of the Whitman Massacre, were great friends. Mrs. Spaulding, following the terrible slaughter at the Washington mission, remained for a while at the Hamilton home in the Willamette valley.
 Mrs. Riddell and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Riddell, have been living for a number of years in Long Beach, Cal. She will visit for several months in the Hood River valley this summer.
 Those present for the reunion Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Riddell and family, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. E. Lage and children, of Fine Grove; Mr. and Mrs. U. D. Parrish, of McFarland, Calif.; Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Jenkins and children, of Hood River; Miss Elizabeth Riddell, of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Riddell and children, of Portland, and Geo. X. Riddell, of Portland.

CITY BUYS THE STRANAHAN PLACE
 Utilizing the portion of a lot at the corner of Front and Oak streets, after a part is used in widening and rounding the intersection, the city of Hood River will establish a comfort station for passing motor tourists. The buildings will be of concrete and the little plot will be beautified with shrubs and flowers.
 The corner property was purchased from A. K. Stranahan at a price of $2,000.

IRELAND BUYS THE COLUMBIA GARAGE
 L. E. Ireland, who has entered the shipping of fruits on an extensive scale this season, has purchased from C. P. McCan the latter's brick garage property on Columbia street, and with a number of alterations will change the place into a receiving warehouse and storage plant. The structure will accommodate 15,000 boxes of apples.
 J. H. Bywater, formerly a West Side orchardist, has come here from Portland and will represent Mr. Ireland as purchasing agent in the field this summer and fall.

MR. SAMMIS WARNS AGAINST ANTHRACNOSE
 T. A. Sammis, of the Mount Hood Flat orchard district of Wasco county, who was recently appointed to succeed Dr. C. A. Macrum, of Mosier, as commissioner of the fourth horticultural district of the state, has been here the past week visiting Frank Stanton, Hood River county fruit inspector. On a tour of the orchards the men found the trees clean of disease pest with the exception of anthracnose. This disease it is declared, prevails to an alarming extent in a number of sections.
 Mr. Sammis and Mr. Stanton have warned growers against the danger of the pest, and every effort will be made to secure full control of anthracnose.

GOPHER WAR IS ON THIS WEEK
 Responding to an appeal of numerous growers who report destruction of fruit trees from root-feeding gophers, Dwight L. Jamison, of the United States Biological Survey, arrived from Portland Monday to assist the growers in poisoning the rodents. J. T. Schaffer, a representative of the forestry department, is here aiding Mr. Jamison in his fight against gophers.
 Mr. Sammis and Mr. Stanton at the Agricultural College, is calling on many classmates while here.

FERTILIZATION CAMPAIGN IS ANNOUNCED
 Prof. J. S. Jones, of the Department of Agricultural Chemistry of the Oregon Agricultural College, here Monday to secure the cooperation of the local experiment station, announces a campaign of state-wide scope to secure the best soil. It is still too early at the Agricultural College will also seek the cooperation of experiment stations and county agents in determining the fertility of legume crops.
 The visitor was taken on a tour of the orchard districts for an inspection of cover crops by Gordon G. Brown.

THE CODLING MOTH SITUATION
 By Leroy Childs
 The worms of the first generation of codling moths are now leaving the fruit and establishing themselves under the bark scales on the trunks of the trees. It will be two or three weeks before the moths resulting from these worms will be depositing eggs. Present indications point to the necessity of applying a spray for the control of the second brood shortly after the first brood has hatched. The cold weather of the early summer did not give a very accurate date at the present time.
 Spraying should not be done too soon as its effectiveness will be largely gone before a large portion of the eggs have hatched. The cold weather of the early summer did not give a very accurate date at the present time.
Business Change
 To whom it may concern: Be it hereby made known that the former partnership, as carried on between F. B. Snyder and B. B. Powell and known under the firm name as the Hood River Plumbing Co., is hereby dissolved, said business to be continued, however, by F. B. Snyder under the old firm name as above described and at the old location, to-wit: No. 105 Oak street.
 Signed, F. B. Snyder, jyl17f

REAL CORN WEATHER HITS THE VALLEY
 The mid-Columbia experienced real corn weather last Wednesday night. The minimum temperature was 58 degrees, following a maximum temperature of Wednesday of 85. A smoky haze and a blanket of clouds intensified the heat and the humidity during the night. A brilliant sun shone throughout Tuesday and Wednesday, but the apples are too young for damage from sunburn. The weather of Wednesday night was fine for the community's numerous corn crops, but it was wearing on the dispositions of residents. For the first time in their lives many local people claim that they slept through the night without covering on their beds.
 Light showers fell Wednesday and Thursday. The cherry harvest is well over and no damage will result. The weather condition is excellent for gardens and truck crops.

LOST LAKE LUMBER CO. PLANT DESTROYED
 Fire, starting about 1 o'clock Wednesday night of last week, burning a plant of the Oregon Lumber Co., on Dead Point creek, in the southwestern part of this county, and spreading to surrounding forests, will result in an approximate loss of $20,000 to the owners. It was thought by officials that insurance of $4,000 was in effect on the plant. Because of the limited timber left in the district the mill will probably not be rebuilt.
 The mill was being operated by the Lost Lake Lumber Co., which held a manufacturer's contract with the larger concern. The fire, discovered in slashings adjoining the mill, is thought to have started from sparks from a boiler. Rumors of I. W. W. were circulated, but Geo. W. Stokes, here on fire survey of the city, investigated and found them groundless.

STANLEY STEAMERS
 We will have two carloads arrive in Portland about August 1st. They are the last word in efficiency. Positively automatic except opening and closing throttle and putting on your brakes. No limit to power and speed.
 Buy a steamer and you do away with garage bills and you have a car that will be as good ten years from now as any new car and the most perfect motor-driven vehicle in the world.
 No gears to shift, no clutch to slip or grip, no spark plugs or ignition trouble, only seventeen working parts in your engine. Compare this with the gas car.
 Come to Portland and let us demonstrate what this car will do.
