ANTHONY EUWER ON CHAUTAUQUA

Anthony H. Euwer, who for the past several years has spent his summers on an Upper Valley place, is touring the middle west this year for a chautauqua company. Mr. Euwer, who was inspired by his local visits to write "Rhymes of Our Valley," dealing with the sacrifices made in bringing apple trees to bearing, and Mid-Columbia scenery, is called the "Poet of the Northwest."

Mr. Euwer has just returned from overseas service with the Y. M. C. A. He has been in Germany entertaining the men of the Army of Occupation. "Haig Holds the Lines" and "Then Give Us Wings" are popular war poems written by Mr. Euwer.

Mr. Euwer is a Princeton University student and a friend of President Wilson. The following lines, written by Mr. Euwer, is said to be a favorite of President Wilson:

"As a beauty I'm not a great star;
There are others more handsome by far,
But my face—I don't mind it,
'Tis the folks in front that I jar."

AMERICAN LEGION CHAPTER FORMED

At a meeting at the courthouse Thursday night, Kent Shoemaker was named temporary president of the Hood River Chapter of the American Legion. Other temporary officers named were: Capt. Edw. W. Van Horn, vice president; and Capt. Geo. H. Wilbur, secretary. At a meeting called for Saturday evening, August 16, by laws will be adopted and permanent charter list of members will be organized. The charter roll, it is expected will have more than 100 names. The meeting of Thursday night was represented by the ex-soldiers from all parts of the valley. Capt. Eivers and Capt. Peroni, both of Portland and just back from France, addressed the former service men and explained the American Legion had come into being primarily to foster 100 per cent Americans. While the organization will be non-partisan, the returned officers said, its members expect to take a prominent part in governmental matters.

HOOD RIVER PRODUCTS CO. IS REORGANIZED

The Hood River Valley Products Co., the Odell plant of which was burned last year, has been reorganized with California capital interest. S. E. Lewis, a San Francisco broker, new president of the concern, with W. Margulis, who launched the concern here several years ago and who remains general manager, was here last week arranging to establish receiving warehouses at Hood River, Van Horn, Odell, Peve and Parkdale.

Mr. Lewis announces that the concern has purchased from California wineries two large presses, the largest ever to be operated in the Northwest, and these with other apparatus have been installed at 14th and Quimby streets, Portland. The new plant, 100 by 100 feet, is three stories in height. Thirty vinegar generators are being installed and storage capacity for 250,000 gallons has been provided. Much of the cider will be bottled fresh and sold under a Hood River label. Mr. Margulis says he will make shipments of the cider to Honolulu and Australia as soon as grading begins. Connections have already been placed in the Pacific coast and Rocky mountain states.

Tire Shoots Gravel
Loose round pebbles, hardsurfaced streets and well inflated tires make a dangerous combination. The hazard possible from such condition was demonstrated here last week when a pebble, struck by a speeding tire, was shot through the plate glass window at the office of the H. F. Davidson Fruit Co. Harry Farrell, in charge of the office, startled by the shattered glass and seeing a little round hole and the cobweb pattern made by radiating cracks, started to notify authorities, thinking some one had shot through his window. A few hours earlier a smaller gravel was hurled into a plate glass window of the Hood River Garage, adjoining.

Station Men at Meetings
Prof. W. S. Brown, pomological expert of the Oregon Agricultural College, here Saturday to inspect local orchards while en route to Pullman, Wash., and Moscow, Ida., to attend conventions of apple experts, was joined by LeRoy Childs and Gordon G. Brown, respectively superintendent and horticulturist of the Hood River Experiment Station. The men will visit the Lewiston, Ida., orchards before returning to Oregon.

North Carolina Man Buys Here
Junius St. J. Benedict, of Asheville, N. C., left last week after purchasing a 40-acre Upper Valley orchard place from G. D. Woodworth, for his former home to return his family here. "I expect to be back by August 20," said Mr. Benedict, "for I have found just what I have been looking for for a long time. We will take the train for Hood River just as quickly as we can pack our household goods. Asheville has been called 'The Land of the Sky.' The man who started that never saw Hood River Valley."

Local Dahlias Beautiful
No amateur gardeners of Oregon, perhaps, have a finer assortment of dahlias than Judson G. Ruggles and Dr. C. H. Jenkins. Both men have fine collections of showy plants of the cactus variety, and their gardens, now blooming luxuriantly, are attracting a great deal of attention.

A Traveling Man's Experience
You may learn something from the following by W. H. Ireland, a travel salesman of Louisville, Ky. "In the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of cholera morbus. I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and to take no substitute. I took a double dose of it according to the directions and went to sleep. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping place, a well man."
