If Four Men Came To You

And the first one said— "I am getting more mileage than I ever dreamed of out of my tires."

And the second said— "My tires are guaranteed puncture-proof."

And the third said— "My tires are 20 per cent oversize."

And the fourth— "My tires cost only 1/2 as much as yours."

what tires they used, each answered: "Gates Half-Sole Tires"— wouldn't you, too, want to know more about this new principle of tire construction that more than 1,000,000 motorists are using to cut their tire costs?

How, perhaps, through this new factory built process you can make the tires now on your car last until spring; how you can add from 5,000 to 15,000 more miles to the life of your worn casings.

Come in today— let us tell you more about it.

R. BLYTHE WRITES TO OLD PAPER

S. F. Blythe, pioneer editor of the Register, who before coming to Hood River worked on Portland newspapers as a compositor, has just dispatched a letter of congratulations on its 19th anniversary to the Register-Herald, of Mason, Ohio, where he worked in 1890-91.

Following his work there he spent four years in the Union army, later coming west, where he held a record for the amount of straight composition in a day's time.

"For 10 hours a day and six days a week," writes Mr. Blythe, "we pecked away at the long primer cases to fill the columns. We had no boiler plate to fill up with in those days. A power press, operated by man-power, was used in running the papers off. All hands from the owners and editor down to the printer's devil took turns at the cranks on press-day. It was no easy task and soon winded the man at the crank. On press days the force was allowed rations of Old London Dook gin. This, I suppose, was intended to give us more power at the crank; or, it might have been that the proprietors felt that they owed it to the force to 'set 'em up' on account of the hard labor performed. In those good old days the country printer could advertise Old London Dook gin or other brands of spirits and take his pay in wet goods.

"The Register force was what might be termed a happy family. Mr. Albright, always jolly, could stir the ribibilities of the entire force by some jocular remarks. Mr. Morris could give a hearty laugh that might be heard a block away. Mr. Tizzard was a quiet man, precise in speech and manner, a gentleman of the old school. During the presidential campaign of 1860 a campaign paper of the Breckenridge and Lane stripe was printed in the Register office. These papers sprang up in every community where a democratic paper espoused the cause of Stephen A. Douglas. Prior G. Le Fevre, a young man about town, a faddish chap, was sponsor for the Breckenridge paper. Mr. Albright, in writing of a social affair for the Register, for a joke gave the names of the young men in attendance by abbreviating the first name and spelling out the middle name, as, S. Finley Blythe. Le Fevre was indignant when he found his name 'P. Green Le Fevre.' He probably never forgave Mr. Albright. It was my opinion he gave the names in that shape to have one on P. Green."

Cold Effects Road Work While the cold weather of last week froze water supply pipes and put steam shovels engaged on grading work out of commission, the freeze stimulated the surfacing of grades already completed, according to E. O. Archibald, resident engineer for the State Highway Commission. Crews of motor truckmen run the grading of stretches of the road between Hood River and Ruthin hill and the Hood River-Mosier link.

McCully Buys Vonnegut Place J. D. McCully, owner of Nestledyn, last week bought from Felix Vonnegut the latter's neighboring 10 acre full bearing place. The Vonnegut place will go as a Christmas present to said Mr. McCully's son, Russell A. McCully, who for the past two years has been engaged in county agent work in Idaho and eastern Oregon communities.

Splendid Cough Medicine "As I feel that every family should know what a splendid medicine Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is, I am only too pleased to relate my experience and only wish that I had known of its merits years ago," writes Mrs. Clay City, Oregon, State, Mo. "I give it to my children when they show the slightest symptoms of being croupy, and when I have a cough or cold on the lungs a very few doses will relieve me, and by taking it for a few days I soon get rid of the cold."

Orchardist Seeks Warmer Climate G. A. Hoffmann has been accustomed to burn coal, but last Thursday he left for southern California.

"The coal strike, inability to get wood here and the recent cold wave," declared Mr. Hoffmann, "proved too much for me. I have just about five tons' supply of fuel left. I'll need that to dry things out around the house next spring. I'll be in the south until it turns warmer."
