DANGEROUS PRANK

The boys who have been breaking into the vinegar factory and guzzling copious draughts of fermenting apple juice, have been teasing Uncle Sam. It is a dangerous practice. The new prohibition laws provide heavy penalties for just such offenses. Indeed, the law not only sets certain penalties for such deeds as these Hood River boys have participated in, but its terms create embarrassment for the vinegar factory. Therefore, the youthful hard cider drinkers, if they persist, will not only bring down the wrath of the national government on their own heads, but they may cause serious trouble for the vinegar makers. They should give this a thought.

In fact, the boys, if they exert themselves a little, can find plenty of ways of working off the surplus energy of youth that will not injure their health and shame their parents.

Despite every safeguard, railway wrecks occasionally occur. The most calamitous smash of 30 years in Oregon took place at Bertha station, just outside of Portland, Sunday morning, when eight were killed instantly and 35 passengers injured, a large number of them very seriously. No safety devices can absolutely eliminate the human element, and to err is human, even though such horrors as that of Sunday may follow.

Workmen are now engaged in completing new garage, warehouse and residence structures, the total cost of which will exceed $75,000. One of the garages will cost in excess of $25,000, and another $20,000. Both will be equipped with every metropolitan convenience. New coal bunkers and warehouse will cost about $15,000. The remainder of the total sum represents residence building.

Oregon is getting into the list of good roads states. In the past three years, the State Highway Commission reports, 430 miles of pavement have been laid.

WEDDINGS

Copper-Davidson

At a quiet wedding at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Davidson, Miss Helen Davidson Sunday became the bride of John W. Copper, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Copper. Rev. J. L. Hershner officiated. Following a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, the young couple left Sunday night for Boise, Ida., where Mr. Copper is in business.

Mr. Copper is an overseas veteran, having been a member of the 18th Engineers Regiment. The bride is a graduate of Portland Academy and Drexel Institute, Philadelphia. She formerly taught domestic science in Sherman county schools.

Portland relatives and friends of the bride here for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Miner and daughter, Miss Deborah, and Misses Campbell and Marie Bray. Mr. and Mrs. William Yaney and little daughter, Bunny, were here from Wasco. The latter was ring bearer.

Shoemaker-Hollenbeck

Local friends have just received news of the wedding, in Portland Saturday, of Miss Hazel Hollenbeck and Glenn Shoemaker. Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker left immediately for Astoria and coast points on an automobile camping trip. They will return here soon to make their home.

Mr. Shoemaker, who is in the insurance business here, is a member of old 12th Co., having won a lieutenant's commission during the war. His bride has for some time been a member of the clerical department of the Apple Growers Association. She formerly taught at the high school.

Cosman-Huxley

Friends have just received from Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Huxley, former local residents, announcement of the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mildred, and Edward L. Cosman. The wedding occurred at the bride's home at Atascadero, Calif., Saturday, May 1.

Covey-Covey

F. W. Covey, an engineer on the O.-W. R. & N., last week remarried his divorced wife, Mrs. Louisa Covey. Rev. D. M. Helmick officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Covey will make their home in Portland.

Mr. Donal Here Sunday

Rev. W. H. Boddy left Monday to attend the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Philadelphia. Rev. A. S. Donal, former pastor, who is now in charge of a church at Los Angeles, will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday and Sunday, May 30. Sunday, May 23, Bishop R. L. Paddock will fill the pulpit.

MORRISEY CONCERT MUSICAL TREAT

Spontaneously, without the thought of a dissent, much less such an expression the Hood River people who crowded the Riverside church Tuesday night, gave out the verdict that no more entertaining or meritorious concert was ever rendered here than that staged by A. S. Keir, Edison phonograph dealer, who presented Miss Marie Morrisey, contralto, and Harold Lyman, flutist. The artists, singing and playing with the noted Edison machine, held the big crowd spellbound.

It was a concert that will long be talked of and no doubt will result in many Edisons in new homes. In all songs and renditions Miss Morrisey and Mr. Lyman won sincere appreciation. In the selection from the "Tales of Hoffman," they took possession of the hearts of the listeners. One man was heard to say: "That is a selection that the angels must fly by, if the heavenly choirs sing and play like Mr. Keir's artists."

One of the most interesting novelties in this evening of unique experience was when Miss Morrisey sang a duet with her own voice. It was as though two artists with voices of exactly the same tone quality, the same expression, the same timbre, were singing together. The effect was somehow unreal and weird, as though one artist had been bewitched into two by some magicians' art.

The climax of the evening's entertainment was when the room was darkened in the middle of one of Miss Morrisey's selections and the listeners were left with no means but their ears of determining when they were hearing her voice in double volume, and when it reached them only from the New Edison. At first everyone doubted his own ability to judge, but as her previous proofs were forgotten in the spell of the song they became more and more convinced that no instrument could sing as this voice was singing, and that Miss Morrisey was making no more pauses in her own performances. Suddenly the lights were snapped on. The audience was astonished to discover that Miss Morrisey was not there at all and that the New Edison had furnished the song alone.

VALLEY MAY HAVE A SORGHUM MILL

A. B. Cooper is endeavoring to create an interest in sorghum cane culture here. Mr. Cooper, a former Indiana resident who has made sorghum molasses, has prepared a half acre for cane planting.

"If I can get my neighbors to plant as much as four acres of cane," he says, "I will get a mill and evaporating pan. The high price of sugar is stimulating interest, and I believe I will be justified in buying a sorghum mill."

Battlefield Impressive

Judge Wilson, who with his wife and son is just back from a visit in the east and middle west, declares that the most impressive sight he witnessed while away was the Gettysburg battlefield. He spent two days going over the historic ground.

"The government should be commended for its action in purchasing the entire battleground, and big guns used during the Civil war have been placed over the ground in exact positions of the batteries when in action during the great three days of fighting," says Judge Wilson.

MRS. MAY FINDS FLAGLER MACHINE

While picking wild flowers in the East Side woods a short distance from the city Mrs. Nettie May Monday discovered an automobile stolen two weeks ago from Thomas Flagler. The machine had apparently been cached. Electric wiring had been cut and all tools removed.

Last week an automobile stolen from Postmaster Reavis was found cached in the forest along the old Mosier hill road. It is thought the two machines were stolen by the same party.

Why the Voters of Hood River should support the amendments to the City charter at the Special Election, May 14th, 1920:

This town has been in luck in regards to a a large fire for years. Other towns have suffered great losses in last few years, so let us be ready to combat with this great fiend at all times.

We have in this town at present time too many valuable pieces of property to have them wiped out with this great evil in a few hours' time what took years to build.

At present time our equipment is not sufficient to combat a fire of any size, and if fire is small we destroy more with water than what is destroyed by fire.

Do you know that the water pressure in this town is: only 6 lbs. at High School, our best school building in town; also only 14 lbs. at Park street and Coe Primary. Think what this means to have our schools with protection like this.

As proved in other towns such as Portland, Corvallis, Albany, Bend and a few others over 50% of fires are put out with chemicals, because they are able to be at fire before it has much of a start.

We have four schools, six churches, two large hotels, six rooming houses, eleven garages, three livery stables, two picture shows, about seventy-five places of business, 600 residences, three lumber yards, one flour mill, spray plant.

Largest cold storage plants in northwest.

Largest Vinegar works west Mississippi River.

So let us give them better protection from fire.
