FATTY ARBUCKLE'S PROTOTYPE VISITS

The telephone rang in the office of the Hotel Oregon about 9:30 Saturday morning and Mine Host Chindlund responded.

"Where's the derick?" asked a voice from somewhere upstairs.

"The what?" queried Mr. Chindlund.

"Your derick," quoth the voice.

"This is Fatty Arbuckle. I am accustomed to be raised every morning with a derick. Every hotel in southern California has one for me. I haven't been getting my regular accommodations here in Oregon, but I thought perhaps you people of Hood River, where you grow apples known even in China, might be a little more progressive. I'm hungry—hurry up."

Mr. Chindlund granted a sort of an assent and hung up. He was non-plussed.

He turned to the register and there, sure enough, was the name, Roscoe Arbuckle, Universal City, Cal., and right beneath it was "Carl Laemmle, Jr., who also registered from Universal City."

Mr. Chindlund roused Night Clerk Johnson.

"Yes," said Mr. Johnson, "it's Fatty Arbuckle all right. He is as big as a bull elephant."

"Did he say anything about a derick last night?" asked Mr. Chindlund.

Mr. Johnson didn't know anything about the derick, and Mr. Chindlund returned to the telephone and apprised his weighty visitor that he had no derick but that he and the janitor would assist him in rising. The visitor decided he could make it unassisted.

Later in the day it transpired that it was not Fatty Arbuckle here at all, but Neil H. East, a 232-pound movie man, of St. Helena.

Mr. East attended the Salem Elks' convention with Carl Laemmle, Jr., son of the noted producer, and the two accompanied A. S. Kolstad here.

Before the deception was revealed, however, Mr. East was presented to downtown Hood River as the real Roscoe Arbuckle. Young America was all swelled up over a sight of the famed fat comedian.

Window Washing Costs $6,000

The magnitude of the Nash factory may be realized when one learns that last week a contract for $6,000 for cleaning windows of the place was awarded. The news was brought to the local Nash company, the Mt. Hood Motor Co., in a bulletin. The next lowest bid for washing the windows was $13,000.

The Nash factory includes 43 acres under roof. The windows had become dirty from dust raised in operation of the machinery. The lighting was impaired, and thus the window washing contract.

Blowers Praises Klickitat Road

Judge Blowers, who Sunday motored to Goldendale with his son, Paul M. Blowers, and wife and his mother-in-law, Mrs. A. F. Wise, of California, says the roads from White Salmon to the Klickitat county seat, by way of Lyle, are excellent.

"We returned by way of Glenwood, however," says Judge Blowers, "and the route is not so pleasing for motorists at present. The new Klickitat grade is being cut. This is a road that will be thrilling enough for anyone, as it passes around points at a sheer elevation of 2,000 feet overlooking the Klickitat river gorge."

Overland Fells Pole

When a party in an Overland automobile attempted to negotiate a steep grade on Sixth street between Oak and State, the other morning, something happened to the power. The brakes failed to work, and the car sped backward down the hill at a great speed. Near the bottom it struck a telephone pole, shattering it. The car, however, except for some dents in the rear of the body, was unharmed. The driver, who was not identified, cranked up and drove away with his scared women folk.

NASH SIX

COMFORT FEATURES

Comfort is perhaps the most appealing feature of any motor car. The NASH SIX is comfortable for both driver and passengers.

This car drives easily. Women who drive will like the NASH SIX because of this feature.

Its balanced construction and the fact that it is unusually low hung, make it easy to steer. All controls are so placed that the hands and feet fall naturally into driving position.

Clutch and brake pedals and the control and emergency levers are easy to operate.

The deep broad seats are restful, and there is ample room in both front and rear compartments, both seat room and leg room.

Comfort to NASH SIX passengers while riding, is insured by unusually long, semi-elliptic Nash springs both front and rear.
