Just Little Stories

That Hood River folk would furnish free coffee, sugar and cream to all who journeyed here for Benson Day celebration with their own lunch apparently spread through the world of tramps. Early Monday morning a tramp from whom caricaturists draw their likenesses of the genus hobo, presented himself at the back door of a citizen. He announced that he had his lunch but would appreciate a cup of coffee.

The family had just finished breakfast, and fortunately a cup of strong coffee still steamed in the percolator on the back of the stove. The desire of the tramp was fulfilled. Then the old man, his one good eye sparkling with the ghost of good humor, cited the offer of local folk to furnish free sugar and cream, asked that his coffee receive these trimmings. He stated that he had read of the great celebration to be held here in honor of Mr. Benson. He got his sugar and cream.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends for their kind words of sympathy and aid during the time of our bereavement attendant on the death of our mother and sister. Especially are we grateful for the remembrance of those who sent flowers.

MRS. MARTHA SCOBEE WAS BURIED FRIDAY

Interment of the body of Mrs. Martha C. Scobee, 74, who died the previous Wednesday in Portland, occurred at Idlewild cemetery here Friday. Mrs. Scobee, who moved from Fair Oaks, Cal., to Oregon ten years ago, following the death of her husband, lived in Hood River a number of years. She is survived by the following four sons and one daughter: J. E. Scobee, of Salt Lake City; L. I. and Miss Mattie Scobee, of Portland; and Dr. E. J. and W. P. Scobee, of Hood River.

Members of the city council, Kay W. Sinclair, C. C. Cuddeford, Walter Walters, Mark Cameron and A. S. Keir, and Dr. H. D. W. Fines, were pall bearers.

Bert Head's Mother Passes

Funeral services for Mrs. Amanda Head, mother of B. T. Head, were held Sunday at the Anderson chapel, interment following at Idlewild cemetery. Rev. W. H. Boddy, pastor of Riverside community church, officiated.

Mrs. Head, aged 65, died Saturday. She was a native of Virginia, but had resided in Tennessee before coming here six years ago. A daughter, Mrs. Edna Storey, of Newman, Calif., and a brother, George Turnbull, of Brush Prairie, Wash., survive. Mr. Turnbull was here for the funeral services.

Japanese Baby Dies

The body of the four year old daughter of T. Katayama, who succumbed last Saturday to dysentery, was shipped to Portland Sunday for cremation. Funeral services were held here at the Anderson chapel.

Bill Hart Wins Swimming Prize

William Hart, city night officer, who has just returned from a vacation at Pacific City, Wash., states that he won a swimming contest at the beach. Mr. Hart won a 10-pound salmon in a contest of men over 40.

"I learned how to swim in Kentucky ponds," says Mr. Hart, "and after such a training locomotion through the water of the Pacific is easy. Next year I am going to challenge all men over 30, and I'll bedinged if I don't believe I can beat 'em."

The Dalles Melons Come by Truck

As a result of the opening of the new six-mile grade of the Highway between here and Mosier, watermelon growers of The Dalles district are marketing their melons direct to local merchants by motor truck. The growers make daily deliveries of the melons, held in high favor at this season.

A number of motor truck loads of The Dalles melons have passed through here en route to Portland over the Highway.

This section certainly owes a lot to the automobile

LOOK at it just from the business standpoint, compared with, say, ten years ago—or even five.

Everything speeded up—made easier. Nearly every business man depending on the automobile to transport himself and his products.

That is one reason, perhaps, why more attention is being paid to tires—why tire costs are being figured closer and people are beginning to look for better tires.

We believe that people are entitled to better tires—the best they can get.

Not only the man with the big car, but the man with the small car, and the medium sized car.

III

We represent U.S. Tires for that reason—because their policy is the same as ours—every tire as good as you can get it, regardless of the size of the car it is to go on.

It was that policy which led to the introduction of the straight side automobile tire, the pneumatic truck tire.

And you can't beat it.

IV

U. S. Tires are guaranteed for life, with no limitation of mileage.

It will pay you to talk to us about tires, if you are looking at them from a business standpoint.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.

Turn Your Waste Into Cash

What have you to sell? We buy and sell at Auction, or if you prefer we will sell your goods, give you the money less the commission. Fair enough, we advertise, store care for, and sell once a month at auction.

No quantity too large, no parcel too small.

REDUCE THE HIGH COST OF WASTE

Mr. Farmer, in your shed or about the place, you have some tools or implements that you have no further use for. Someone has maybe a saddle, harness, boxpress, grindstone, extra plow, cultivator, harrow, etc. This is a waste. Someone needs these things. We bring the things wanted and the party wanting them together.

You have decided to refurnish the house. You should get the benefit of the used chairs, stands, dressers, rugs, beds, or whatever you are replacing new. We are in position to help you dispose of the things. They are worth something, yet are stored away and become useless. Let us get together.

The war proved that we were careless, thoughtless and wasteful. We now exercise more care, are thinking more keenly, but are still wasteful. Convert this waste into cash.

THE AUCTION EXCHANGE is the remedy.

We will pay the highest cash price or will sell on commission. The choice is yours—let us get together.

FIRST SALE, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25th.

Clipped Here and There

Continued reports of an expected shortage in cars to handle the fruit crop during the heavy shipping season this year make it imperative that no step be neglected to avoid such a contingency if possible. For shipments to nearby points considerable help in this direction can undoubtedly be secured by establishing motor truck lines as is being done in the east. At least this is a point that may well be considered by shippers in their efforts to reduce to the minimum the number of cars needed. By investigating the possibilities of utilizing to some extent this mode of shipment in each of the fruit shipping territories it is more than probable that fruit transportation can be greatly aided.

As the large bulk of Northwestern tree fruits, however, are destined for far away points we again wish to call attention to the advisability of organizing committees, or other bodies, or securing individuals to take charge of the matter of the car situation at an early date. If nothing else is accomplished the information that will be secured will be of vast benefit to both shippers and growers in regard to crop movements and in providing storage.—Better Fruit.

The action of the Boston authorities in condemning pears which showed a trace of arsenate of lead spray when placed on sale comes as a shock to the fruit shippers in the west. Last year a good deal of excitement also was caused when authorities in Boston prevented the sale of a car of apples on that market because of spray tracer.

However, the action of the Boston authorities in itself has not caused the widespread interest that comes from the announcement of the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, in a telegram to the Boston inspectors as printed in The Packer last week. Individual pears, it was claimed, carried one-sixtieth grain of arsenate, or a half a medicinal dose. Fruit which shows overspraying will not be allowed to be sold unless it is cleaned or sold to canners and preservers who will peel the fruit before using.

There has been considerable discussion of danger because of sprayed fruits at different times, but it has been the consensus of opinion that the ordinary spraying of fruit for the control of insect pests and diseases could not affect the palatability of the fruit. Pears, apples, peaches and other fruits have been sprayed for years and we have the first case yet to hear of where anyone was hurt by eating such fruit. However, it may be that these particular pears were dangerous as claimed. If so, nobody has any right to ship or sell such fruit and prompt and effective measures should be taken immediately to prevent a recurrence of the offense.—The Packer.
