"CARO" FIBRE FRUIT WRAPPERS

"Caro" from DessiCARE (to dry up)

This is the POINT "CARO" Protects

Chemically Treated

CARO PROLONGS THE LIFE OF FRUIT

Fruit decomposition starts from a bruise which opens tiny holes and permits the juice to escape and BACTERIA to enter. "Caro" clings closely and dries up the escaping juice. "Caro" ingredients harden the spot, kill the BACTERIA, arrests the decomposition, and thus Prolongs the Life of Fruit. If your fruit is worth shipping it is worth keeping in best condition.

ODELL ROAD WORK TO BE PUSHED

After an inspection of the stretch of Odell highway being paved, work on which was suspended last week when it was discovered that three carloads of concrete were not up to test, the county court Monday decided to complete the paving as soon as possible. It was suggested that the paving be postponed until next year, as apple hauling might be hampered by the construction. The court, however, states that the work is three-fourths done and the county would suffer financially by a postponement of the work, as timber has been purchased and forms for the concrete laid.

The court is endeavoring to purchase cement of sufficient high test for the road work.

PARK GRANGE MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT

A meeting will be held at the Valley Christian church tomorrow evening, under auspices of the Park grange, for discussion of measures to be voted on at the November election. Speakers have been announced as follows: H. G. Ball, J. H. Haslett and J. R. Nickelsen. The meeting will be held early, in order that speakers may participate later in a single tax debate to be held at the Pine Grove grange hall.

Park Grange has shown a rapid growth recently. Six new members have been taken in and 32 affiliations have been recorded.

UPPER VALLEY WILL HAVE FINE SPUDS

J. F. Thompson, here last week for the county fair with an exhibit of Netted Gems and American Wonders, says the Upper Valley potato crop will reach 100 cars the coming harvest. He says the quality is unexcelled and that most of the crop will probably go for seed. Recent rains will make the potatoes. Weather conditions all through the season, he says, have been ideal. The crop of this year is about 20 per cent heavier than that of 1919.

While Netted Gems and American Wonders are the chief varieties of potatoes grown in the Upper Valley, a few growers have heavy plantings of Burbanks.

Twin Tunnels Unsafe

After an inspection of the twin tunnels between here and Mosier on the Highway Herbert Nunn last week declared the road through the bores unsafe for travel because of falling rocks. Angus McDonald, who has charge of maintenance of the stretch, has placed signs warning motorists that they pass through the tunnels at their own risk. Red lanterns warn of danger at night.

The State Highway had scheduled a call for bids on concreting the tunnels for today. Mr. Nunn believed an emergency existed and instructed that the tunnels be shored up with timbers at once.

White Salmon Grade Under Way

A crew of hard rock men is now busy on the White Salmon river constructing a new grade, several hundred feet long, which will connect the new steel bridge just completed with the old road.

A number of heavy blasts have been shot on the new road grade the past week, the jar of them having been faintly felt in Hood River all the way across the Columbia. At noon Thursday residents witnessed huge masses of stone moved from the gorgeside.

Pioneers Going to The Dalles
