HOOD RIVER, OREGON, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1920

No. 23

The Busiest People in the World

are those who, in the census, are always listed as having "no occupation."

They are the housekeepers—the makers of homes, the managers of husbands and children, and of the family income—and its outgo.

Every day more and more of these busy women are realizing that the budget system put into operation with the help of a bank account, is the only efficient way of managing household finances.

This Institution is glad to render assistance in the preparation of budgets. It welcomes accounts of women.

APPLE HARVEST IS COMPLETED

FINE WEATHER PREVAILS AT CLOSE

Canning Stocks Now Bringing $12 Per Ton—Apples Must Be 2 1/2 Inches or Larger

While the first three weeks of harvest were characterized by unprecedented rains, the picking season closed in a burst of glory. Last week was ideal for harvest, and growers were enabled to get their fruit under cover without difficulty. The Apple Growers Association up to Saturday had received in excess of 450,000 boxes of fruit, and more than 200,000 boxes have been delivered to other shipping concerns. While more than 50 per cent of growers are through packing, owners of large orchards, who are equipped with commodious packing houses, have rushed apples under cover and their packing crews will be busy for some time.

The market opened last week on a note of optimism. Libby, McNeil & Libby, of The Dalles, are buying selected canners for $12 per ton. The same quality brought $20 per ton and up last season. It is required that the fruit be 2 1/2 inches in diameter or larger.

The first killing frost prevailed here last Saturday morning. Sunday morning the temperature was still lower and Monday morning the thermometer of Lewisville registered a low as 19 degrees above zero. Tomatoes and potatoes on extreme low levels were killed, and the many flower gardens of the city were ruined by the frost. Ice a half inch thick formed on still, shallow pools.

Practically all apples, however, were picked, and the cold, it is said, resulted in no damage.

BOOTLEGGERS DRAW FINES FROM ONTHANK

L. H. Howard and William Hewitt, when arraigned Friday on a charge of illegally possessing liquor, pleaded not guilty before Justice of the Peace Onthank. Their preliminary trial was held Saturday morning.

Howard and Hewitt, apprehended on information telephoned from Mosier that they had offered liquor for sale in a room at the Mosier Hotel, were arrested and charged with carrying a concealed weapon Thursday night after a fight between Howard and officers, and a flight through the business section of town in an automobile. Howard, according to the story of Officer Onthank, declared that he would rather die than be arrested. After the two were captured and had offered to drive their automobile to the jail, they made a break and applying the power lurched the car down town streets. Unacquainted with roads they ran into a blind passage on the north side of the O. W. R. & N. tracks near the passenger station. Their car contained seven gallons of whiskey and a supply of bottles and corks. The men gave Portland as their home.

C. D. Nickelsen conducted the defense Saturday, and Judge Derby appeared for the state. Hewitt was fined $200 and Onthank $100. Mr. Onthank considered that Howard was the leader. It was intimated during the trial that the men were merely acting for some higher up principals.

MODIFIED ACT TO INCREASE CIDER

While the burden of proof is still placed on the manufacturer to show that the beverage was turned over to transportation companies for consignees in a non-intoxicating state, the Volstead Act, according to notice received from Internal Revenue headquarters by local cider manufacturers, relieves the manufacturer from further responsibility after such delivery. Formerly the act held the manufacturer responsible even after cider reached the retailer.

As result of the drastic interpretation of the law, cider manufacture was greatly curtailed throughout the Northwest.

While C. J. Collins, manager of the Hood River Apple Vinegar Co., says the ruling will not change the local condition greatly, as practically all culls were sold at auction at the former rate, he says the relief of the manufacturer will greatly stimulate cider manufacture in the large Washington district, Yakima and Wenatchee.

SCHOOL DISTRICT IN FIRST CLASS

M. H. Nickelsen, who has just completed a census of children over four years old, reports a total of 1,015 in the city school district. Five hundred and thirty-one of the youngsters are girls. The increase over last year is 84.

"The number, passing the 1,000 mark, brings Hood River to the point of a first class district," says Mr. Nickelsen. "The outstanding feature of my canvass was the number of 4-year-old children. I found 34 4-year old boys and 29 girls."

LEGION PLANS FOR BIG ARMISTICE DAY

With a dance in the evening, following a foot ball game in the afternoon, the American Legion promises to celebrate Armistice Day right this year. Plans are fast being laid for the staging of a dance Thursday evening, November 11, in Pythian hall.

It is the intention of the committee in charge, Robt. G. McNary, Vern Horn and Allyn Hutten, to have this dance one of the largest dances of the year, and it is hoped that the Legion will have the support of every person in Hood River. Social features are being arranged, A. S. Kolkstad working as a feature musical program, which promises to be something new and good.

The Knights of Pythias hall will be decorated with either greens or streamers, and special ribbons and badges are being printed as dance souvenirs.

The feature of the evening will start at 11 o'clock sharp, no matter if the floor is crowded with dancing couples. Dance music will stop, and the feature will be staged without further preliminary. The committee is not giving out the information as to what may be the nature of their "stunt," but say that it will be something new and at the same time something novel.

All ex-service men are requested to appear in uniform, as this is the one time during the year when the ex-soldier gets together with his buddy to celebrate the close of the world war. All ex-service men, whether they are members of the Legion or not, are asked to be present in uniform, for the evening's entertainment.

General admission has been placed at 25 cents per person, dancing for the evening being $1, in addition to the general admission for men.

GAME ASSOCIATION BANQUET POSTPONED

The Hood River County Game Protective Association has cancelled the annual banquet set for Friday night. The officials of the organization had planned China pheasant as the piece de resistance of the dinner, but, P. H. Fredrick declares, the game birds are not obtainable as a result of the wholesale slaughter by visiting hunters.

"Portland men came here by the hundreds," he says, "and as a result it is difficult to find pheasants now. Under protection the handsome fowls were almost as tame as chickens and they were killed by the hundreds the first two days of open season. Those left have learned to be discreet and they have either fled to safe retreats in the high places around the valley or have sought refuge on orchard places where shooting is not permitted."

Mr. Fredrick says that the game organization will hold an annual banquet the first Wednesday night of December when officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

COMPARATIVE COST IN BUILDING SHOWN

A graphic example of the increased cost of building is shown in the construction of the new brick and concrete school to replace the old Park street frame school. The old building, built more than 30 years ago, cost only $10,000. The new structure will cost about $65,000. The average cost per room in the old structure, according to figures furnished by the city superintendent, was $1,100 per room, whereas the average cost for the new structure will be $6,500 per room.

The old bell will be transferred to the new building. It was purchased through contributions of students of early days.

EXCAVATION FOR HOTEL PROGRESSING

A crew of men is now engaged in excavating for the new tourist hotel at Wau-Guin-Guin. The new hostelry will be three stories with a full basement. The plans call for a roof garden, and a large searchlight, to play on surrounding snow peaks and the scenic points of the gorge, will be installed.

The ground measurements of the hotel are 18x46 feet. A wide verandah will overlook the falls of Pheasant creek, which leap for 200 feet over the canyon side at the point. Landscaping will make the most of the creek which meanders through the grounds.

Excavation is now engaged in hauling crushed rock, sand and cement to the site of the new building, to be erected by the Dinwiddie Construction Co., of Portland. The structure will be of concrete. It will be ready for the heavy tourist traffic expected next spring.

HOOD RIVER WINS OVER CAMAS HIGH

Hood River high school foot ball team beat Camas, Wash., high Friday, score 17 to 0. This is the first game won this season by the local boys. Touchdowns, with goals kicked after both, were made by Eino Annala and Ray Slavens. Clifford Green kicked a field goal.

ASSESSED VALUE JUMPS $456,770

The tax roll for the year, just completed by Assessor Wickham, shows a total valuation of $3,165,245, an increase of $456,770 over that of last year. No valuation of motor vehicles, which added $181,230 to the roll last year, is included in this year's roll.

Ten years ago the value of cattle here was less than $1,000. Today, resulting from the great increase in dairying, cattle are valued at $52,005. The county's 205 dogs are assessed at $2,960; 450 swine at $1,680, and 400 sheep at $3,100. The total land is given as 128,050 acres, the assessed valuation being $5,237,715. The county has 51,318 acres of tillable land, valued at $4,733,190.

LUMBER MAKING A HEAVY DROP

With a material drop in lumber reported by local dealers and a keen demand here for new homes, those conversant with the situation declare that they expect considerable building boom this winter. The Bridal Veil Lumbering Co. yesterday reported that the prices on lumber of all grades had been cut. The cut will range from 36 to $15 per thousand, it is stated.

NATION SWEEP BY REPUBLICANS

HOOD RIVER VOTES WITH PARTY

All Party Candidates Except George Chamberlain Swept to Victory—Folk Hear Returns at Club Rooms

This is a Republican year, and a landslide through all the nation, except the solid south turned toward Harding and Coolidge, Tuesday. Hood River county's vote went forward on the tide, and all party candidates were given the party vote except Robert Stanfield for United States Senator, George Chamberlain for Stanfield in more than half the precincts, Chamberlain, according to latest returns yesterday, was running neck and neck with Stanfield throughout the state, although Oregon has rolled up an enormous majority for Harding.

Hood River's vote was lighter than expected, under 75 per cent.

The town turned out strong Tuesday night to attend the meeting at the Commercial Club, where returns were gathered. The Knights of Pythias band was present. After giving a concert on the street corner the band boys appeared in the club assembly hall and gave several pieces. Coffee and doughnuts were served.

Hood River county voted more than six to one against the inter-rent measure, the anti-vaccination bill and the state market commission. The port bill carried, and the bird refuge bill went through by a small margin here.

J. R. Nickelsen is elected to the state senate. In Wasco county 31 precincts out of 39 he received 2146 votes to Hazlett's 1302. He ran about 200 ahead of Hazlett in this county.

Hasbroock defeated Hannum about 200 here. Beker defeated Derby by 150 votes in the county.

A late dispatch from Portland yesterday announced that Stanfield has carried the state over Chamberlain.

MISS EZMA JONES KILLED BY AUTO

Miss Ezma Jones, retired nurse aged 65, was instantly killed Tuesday night when struck by an automobile driven by Miss Bertha Cate, daughter of E. C. Cate. Miss Jones' neck was broken. She was returning home from the Rockford store when struck by the car. The accident occurred about 6.15.

The young woman, who was prosecuted after the tragedy, according to those who were at the scene of the accident, became confused when she tried to steer her car around another automobile turned out for a spray machine. She ran too far off the highway and struck Miss Jones, who was well to the side of the road, it is said.

Miss Jones is survived by an only brother, Lewis Jones, locomotive engineer of Walla Walla.

Miss Jones, who was a nurse in New York, has lived here for many years. She took a great interest in civic affairs of the community. During the war she served more patriotically than she. She was beloved by all who knew her, and her tragic death left a pall of grief over the community.

Funeral services will be held at the Anderson chapel today at 2 p. m. The body will be shipped to Walla Walla for interment.

J. H. GILL DIES VERY SUDDENLY

The many Hood River friends of J. H. Gill, for many years a resident of the Heights, were deeply grieved and shocked last Thursday when news arrived here of his death. Mr. Gill died this morning at Sheridan, where for several months he and Mrs. Gill have been making their home with their son, Charles Gill. The shock was all the more felt because Mr. Gill had just arrived home after a visit here. While in the city he called on friends and commented on the good health that had been his in the Sheridan district. While he had been seriously ill when living here, the Yamhill climate seemed to agree with him.

News of Mr. Gill's death came in a telegram to W. H. Taft, Mrs. Gill's brother, who hastened at once to Sheridan. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Portland crematorium.

Other surviving children are Vera Gill of Bellingham, and Miss Edyth Gill, a veteran United States Army nurse.

R. W. ORDWAY FUNERAL HELD FRIDAY

The following were in Portland for the funeral: Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Peffer, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Taft and F. M. Slavens.

Funeral services for R. W. Ordway, Belmont orchardist who died Wednesday last week, were held Friday. Mr. Ordway, who was 67 years old, was a native of Hood River. His case to the valley with his family 17 years ago. In addition to his widow he is survived by the following children: Earl and Glen Ordway and Mrs. J. B. Szrell, of Hood River; Mrs. William Stewart, of Vancouver, and Mrs. C. L. Moseley, of Nehalem, Wash.

FIREMEN TO HOLD THANKSGIVING BALL

The fire department will hold an annual ball at Pythian hall Thanksgiving evening. For a number of years the firemen have been given Thanksgiving night for a dance, the proceeds going to the benefit fund of the organization. During the war the firemen, however, recessed their date to the Red Cross.
