THE GENERAL OUTLOOK

It is customary at the close of the year to take an inventory and size up our industrial and business outlook and to try and see what the future holds for us. As a community of citizens gains rewards that it believes the labor it expends deserves and prospers, so may it be gauged in many ways. Because we look back over the year and forecast the future from an economic viewpoint, we should not be considered worriers of Mammon. That community where families are happiest and most God-fearing will most often be found the community of content and prosperity. But prosperity is a relative term.

During the financially hectic years of the war, and immediately following, the big structural centers, where ships were building and munitions were in the making, were cited as prosperous. The agricultural sections where food-stuffs were grown and sold at a hitherto unheard of price or where product for clothes or war materials were raised were money mad. A harvest of dollars poured in. The manufacturers and the farmers seemed blinded by the conditions. Instead of stopping to consider that they were in the midst of a mere whirlwind that would soon blow itself out, they planned as though a permanent gale had arisen. They spent as though they anticipated no end to the flow of the stream of easy money. In the end they have in too many cases found that they have overspent.

And thus we get back to our condition here in Hood River. Our product, chiefly apples, created no great sensations by a rise in price, although a year ago short crop conditions presented a market quite different from that of this year. We did not soar to extreme heights, and now when the nation is settling back toward normal days, that ruled before the great war, we do not have to drop so far. We have never been far from normal. Because we were not touched by financial frenzy. We as individuals have participated but little in acts of prodigality. We have been frugal and have practiced an admirable thrift. It may be that we have not made money as fast as in some parts of the country, but we do believe that the average local individual has saved a larger proportion of his earnings. Our citizens have purchased safe securities and have made gratifying additions to their savings deposits.

We have taken time to look to the future with a critical eye the past year. The Hood River Valley is going in for a greater diversity of industries. The apple grower has decided to turn more of his attention to small fruits. We see daily more and more cows on orchard places. The hen population is growing. Hood River egg money bids fair to assume decent proportions. The apple will remain the big item of income, and those who are studying the industry from a general viewpoint, point out that it is becoming more stabilized. We are thankful for our local spirit and practice of cooperation. It is a good sign to see other districts of fellow fruitgrowers in a similar steady-going process. Altogether we ought to be very well satisfied with our progress of the past year and our outlook on the future.

MAKE BAND'S NEW YEAR HAPPY

Make the New Year a happy and profitable one for the Knights of Pythias band. This organization of K. of P. good fellows deserves the support of all Hood River. When we think of the enthusiasm they have furnished for numerous public meetings the past year, we must concede to them all of the support they will get. Then, too, it is said the Lord helps those who help themselves. The K. of P. band deserves double credit. They have certainly shown a spirit of aggression in developing their band.

Less than two years ago the members of the band launched their campaign. But few of them could make a noise with brass instruments, much less blow melody with fellow players. Some of their initial efforts might have been ludicrous if they had not been so sincere. Today the K. of P. band will compare favorably with any small town band in the country. They have proven their ability beside metropolitan musical organizations. The Pythian band members deserve support. They have set an example in cooperative determination. Join them in the New Year frolic.

In enumerating the good things that have befallen us the past year, of course we do not forget the completion of paving on the Highway between here and Portland. When the little stretch at the west edge of town is complete, we will have a paved road on through Portland to Astoria and the Pacific. Pretty soon the Highway will be paved all the way from Pendleton. Instead of the terminus of paving we will then be on the main line, and at a junction point, for the Loop Highway will ultimately be completed.

Happy New Year!

THE BUDGET SYSTEM

Naturally, after the season of Christmas buying, the thoughts of the average family turn toward some system for saving money. Too often it is necessary to save in order to provide means of meeting obligations met with in the last weeks of the old year. The good resolutions too often take the form of grousing penny pinching to tide over the tight places and make good deficits. But why shouldn't the family, as a smaller unit of the body politic, adopt a budget system, just as does the city or county. Start the New Year on a sound financial basis by adopting a budget for the entire year. Pare expenses to the core, make a liberal allowance for a sinking fund through the process of a savings account of some form and then live up to the budget. Let your budget carry your Christmas expenses of a year hence, and then you can meet the New Year of 1922 with a different viewpoint of life in general.

THE SMALL FRUITS MEETING

Every grower in the valley should try and participate in the meetings to be held next week for consideration of small fruits culture here. We need diversity. We should start our plans for this enterprise right.

We are looking forward to a general lot of grumbling about high taxes the coming year. But just why are taxes high? The heavy increases here result from direct vote of the people on various issues. A mill here and a mill there and a great many more mills yonder soon reach a huge sum. As long as we continue to vote taxes, whether on state or local issues, we must pay them.

By next year completion of the new tourist hotel on the Wau-Guin-Guin site by Messrs. Benson and Thiele will be history. Hood River will be setting the pace for entertainment of the Northwest's tourists. By the way, Mr. Thiele, hurry and announce the name of your new hotel.

The railroads of the country report that the year just ending was a record one for tonnage hauled. They also announce that no further freight increase demands will be made. We might feel a little better if they gave any promise of a reduction in freight charges.

Small towns are duped and bunched and laughed at, but it takes a metropolis to pull off something sensational in the line of con. The bigger the town, the bigger grow the games of confidence men.

The Clark Seedling strawberry, it appears from the record of the 1920 crop, cannot be beaten. The strawberry patch offers money to the man willing to work, be he a Japanese or a white man.

The eyes of the world are being focused upon Portland and Oregon. A world's fair for making progress in the application of electricity and in highway building will be held in the Rose City in 1925.

An epidemic of hicoughs has been reported at various places recently. Does it follow the activities of illicit purveyors of alcoholic beverages?

COOPERATIVE EGG SELLING PLANNED

Following a meeting of members of the recently organized Hood River Poultry Association with Officers Butler and Schroeder of the State Poultry Producer's Association Tuesday night, a number of local poultrymen, it is said, will affiliate with the state organization and dispose of their eggs through its cooperative sales channels. The visitors state that approximately 175,000 hens throughout the state have been signed up in the organization.

The local association, on opening bids for ten quantities of feed, have awarded a contract to the Highland Milling Co.

BIG SLIDE ON MOSIER HIGHWAY

A slide on the Highway between here and Mosier last week, left an estimated 1,000 yards of earth, rock and debris on the right of way just west of the twin tunnels, according to Angus McDonald. Mr. McDonald was able to clear away the debris sufficiently to permit passage of automobiles. The most of the rocks and earth, however, will not be removed until spring, he says.

McQuiston Makes Record Run

Before railroads were constructed, a journey down to the Willamette valley was a trip that required days. J. R. McQuiston and family, leaving here at 5 a. m. Christmas morning, arrived at the home of Mrs. McQuiston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Steptoe, near Independence at 10 o'clock. "Our friends here said we could never make it for Christmas dinner," says Mr. McQuiston, "but we had time to spare. We didn't have the least trouble until we started into father-in-law's yard. There we got stuck in a mudhole. He had some for a load of gravel but we had arrived several hours earlier than he had expected. We did not make near such good time on the way home, as we struck stormy weather."

Daylight Thieves Loot House

Although members of the Charles Brubaker family were at home, thieves entered the house in broad daylight, stealing $55 in money, a suit of clothes and other valuables. The Brubakers keep a lodging house and the coming and going of the thief did not attract attention. The police have no clue as to the identity of the burglar.

ETHERIDGE ACTIVITY STIRS LOCAL FOLK

News of irregularities in recent activities of John L. Etheridge, formerly manager of the Portland bond house, Morris Bros., and the closing of the institution's doors for an audit, created no small Monday flurry here. During Liberty loan campaigns in 1918 Mr. Etheridge, in charge of the work of solicitation, visited here several times and headed programs at public meetings. Several local individuals, it became known Monday, hold interim certificates for undelivered bonds purchased from the Portland financial concern.

Mr. Etheridge's personal relationship to the bond house and the affairs of the firm also were brought to a final crisis very largely by his aggressive campaign for Oregon delegates to the imperial council of the Shrine, for rumors and gossip which had been floating about for a long time evidently were sufficient to bring about a renewal of efforts to run down the true facts concerning his life. His alleged falsification of papers necessary to citizenship, the prison feature and other ugly rumors which would not down.

Just before the Shrine meeting at which delegates were to be chosen for the imperial council, the facts with regard to Mr. Etheridge's past life—the whole story so far as it could be gathered by trained investigators—was gotten together and he was confronted with it.

At the Shrine meeting, Mr. Etheridge arose and frankly confessed to his prison record, which by that time was quite generally known about the business district of the city, and the astonishment of every one present, also said that he had been arrested at one time for bigamy, but that he was not guilty of that charge. So far as is known here at this time, there was no truth in the bigamy charge. Etheridge was not elected by the Shrine.

Etheridge was arrested at Minneapolis while supposedly on his way to England. Officers have left to return him to Portland to face the defalcation charges.

CULL APPLES SOLD IN GIFT BOXES

Complaints of abuses by alleged unscrupulous retailers and growers themselves in marketing cull apples in Portland in the guise of extra fancy Hood River apples continue to be heard. En route to California, Mrs. Geo. H. Lynn stopped for a visit with Portland relatives. The children had just received a box of apples, sold as "A Gift Box of Famous Hood River Spitzenburgs." Mrs. Lynn secured the top of the box, which measured 5 1/2 x 7 1/4 inches, about the size of an ordinary shoe box. It carries the name of a prominent local orchard. She writes of the gift apples as follows:

"My father bought two boxes, paying $1.25 each. One was sent to my grandmother in Iowa and the other he brought to the children here. Now I have to write to grandmother and tell her that they are an absolute lie. The box contained 30 Spitzenburgs. Think of it, in this box that carries the name of a prominent local orchard, the children one was all rotten. One was half rotten; two had rotten spots as large as a dime; two had large worm holes clear into the core; four with worm stings; not one was extra fancy; five were going in the garbage; and all the rest were C-grade or cull. It is a crime to blame such things on Hood River. The children will not eat them, and mother will have to try cooking them. They taste like pumpkins. Pardon me for insulting the pumpkins."

Another complaint from Portland is that unscrupulous dealers purchase empty boxes, bearing the rubber stamp impression of reputable local growers as well as the grade mark and fill them with cull fruit. Such fruit, it is said, is sold for fancy prices.

Local dealers complain that Portland merchants will not buy the boxes of apples. Local shippers estimate that not more than 1,500 boxes of extra fancy apples have been sold on the Portland market this year.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CROSBY SUNDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. J. R. Crosby, who died at her Odeh home last Friday, were held Sunday, Rev. Troy Shelley, pioneer minister of the district officiating. Interment followed at Idlewild cemetery. Mrs. Crosby, aged 52 years, was a native of Benton county. Her maiden name was Anna M. Post.

Mrs. Crosby is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. H. S. Caghey and Mrs. C. E. Hamilton, both of Hood River. Her mother, Mrs. Lucy Post, resides at Trineville. Three sisters and three brothers survive. They are: Mrs. B. T. Young, of Hood River; Mrs. Jane Gilmore, of Kent; Mrs. Nellie Gilman, of Portland; and Mr. Post, of Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Crosby were married in 1886 at Post. They have resided in Hood River valley for the past 25 years.

Hickey-Fisher

The wedding of Herbert Cecil Hickey and Miss Ann Margaret Fisher, daughter of Mrs. Mary Fisher, was solemnized at St. Mary's Catholic church Sunday morning, Rev. Father Thomas officiating. W. J. Filz, brother-in-law of the bride and the latter's sister, Miss Marie Fisher, accompanied the bride couple to the altar. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hickey are in the employ of the Mt. Hood Meat Co. Mr. Hickey served in the Navy during the great war.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickey plan on making their home at Mt. Hood, where Mr. Hickey is interested with Mr. Filz in a ranch.

Snow in Mountains Heavy

While a chinook wind scoured the white Christmas for this district, snow melting the five inches of snow that fell last Thursday, new snow prevailed over higher altitudes Saturday night and Sunday, while a heavy rain prevailed on lower levels. The snow in the forested areas around the base of Mount Hood, it is reported, is at an unusual depth for the season, and a plentiful supply of irrigation water is assured for the coming season.

Janney-Brosius Wedding Friday Night

The wedding of Miss Florence Annette Brosius and Philip Wood Janney, of Portland, will occur New Year's eve at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Brosius, Rev. W. H. Boddy will officiate. A large number of out of town guests are expected to be here for the event.

FINS, FURS AND FEATHERS

George Tonkin, United States game warden, who was formerly a local teacher, was here last week warning local sportsmen that the season on migratory birds would close on December 31. Tonkin stated that fowl may be kept for a 10-day period after the season closes without fear of arrest. Mr. Tonkin reported the arrest of three local men for shooting on river lowlands after sunset. He stated that he was not at liberty to reveal their identity, until after the cases of the men have been heard by a federal grand jury.

County Clerk Shoemaker reports the sale of a record number of hunting and fishing licenses here the past year. The total receipts for licenses reached $2,427.25, of which the county received five per cent, a sum of $121.36. Mr. Shoemaker's itemized report is as follows: Hunting licenses, 590, $885; angler's licenses, 1,012, $1,518; combination licenses, 67, $201; non-resident angler's licenses, 4, $17; certificates of lost licenses, 25, $6.25. Ten free licenses were issued to Civil War veterans and pioneers.

O. F. Turner, Wyeth man, who up until the heavy freeze of last winter furnished mountain and brook trout to Portland hotels from a private hatchery on the Highway, says he will soon be able to meet the demands of the trade again. The cold weather of last year killed Mr. Turner's young fish. He, however, has reestablished his ponds and the fry used this year in restocking, he says, is fast reaching a commercial size.

Commissioner Kiddle Dead
