JOHN PLOG BUYS RALPH ROOT PLACE

Ralph Root, who arrived last week from New York City, where he and his family spent the winter, has just sold his East Side 34-acre orchard place, formerly owned by Dr. Stanton Allen, to John E. Plog, young grower of the Odell section. The place is equipped with a modern home and out buildings. The orchard is in full bearing. The ranch is considered one of the banner places of the community.

Mr. Root has decided to remove to New York City to make his home. He is now packing his household goods. The East Side ranch was sold through his friend, C. N. Ravlin. Mr. Root owns a large acreage of young orchard in the Middle Valley. He has placed this in the hands of Mr. Ravlin for sale.

MAYOR DESIGNATES CLEAN-UP WEEK

Mayor Seabee, at the instance of the Woman's Club, has officially designated April 4 to 11, inclusive, as clean-up week. Miss May Davidson is chairman of the committee of club women who will urge all citizens to remove the accumulation of winter rubbish and place their homes and lawns on dress-parade in anticipation of the heaviest tourist traffic ever experienced here before. With the Highway completely paved from Hood River to Astoria and the new Columbia Gorge hotel preparing to receive guests by June 1, it is expected that a stream of motor tourists will soon begin to pour through the city.

In former years, because of a lack of roadside signboards, it is declared that most of the thousands of tourists who have passed here over the Highway, have missed seeing the orchard districts. The Business Men's Association, having secured a county appropriation of $500, have in readiness for placing a comprehensive road sign system.

WHITE SALMON

(from the Enterprise)

The "Husum Princess" the blue ribbon Berkshire sow, owned by Elwin Olson, the 12 year old son of William Olson of Husum, presented its brood little owner last Sunday with a fine litter of twelve pigs. Elwin has displayed the "Husum Princess" at the county fair and twice captured blue ribbons, once for an open gilt, and another for sow and litter.

While in Portland last week County Commissioners Wyers and Crocker made arrangements with the S. P. S. Ry. Co., to connect with the railway water tank at Cliffs to get more water onto the county farm. Two acres on the county farm have been planted to asparagus and this should prove to bring good returns, as the gross returns from asparagus on the Bingen flat are $1,000 per acre. Prospects for good crops of all kinds on the county farm are good, as that section has had plenty of moisture during the past several months.

The highway department is rapidly finishing its work on the Underwood sections of the North Bank highway, and has completed its work on the Underwood-White Salmon section to where the new road meets the old grade. Work of completing the big fill on each side of the new steel bridge is now being pushed as fast as possible.

The county has been widening the rest of the road to Mann's corner as well as the grade on Bald Mt. and a big grader is to be used to further cut out some of the sharp turns. Someone has suggested that the county secure the big steam shovel to cut down the upper side of the road and widen same, but the county, it is learned, has not sufficient funds for that. In spite of the heavy rains and recent snows, the traveling public generally reports that roads throughout western Klickitat county are in far better condition at this time of the year than at the same time in former years.

Portland Folk Open Summer Place

Mrs. W. H. Skene, of Portland, arrived here last week to start workmen on remodeling a summer home just west of the city and at no great distance from the new Columbia Gorge hotel. The country place was built by Mrs. Skene's father in 1904. The family, however, has not resided in it for 15 years. Mrs. Skene declares that the opening of a fully paved Columbia Highway has stimulated a new interest in life in Hood River. She declares that she anticipates a move on the part of many Portlanders toward establishing country cottages in this neighborhood.

Poultry Men to Store Eggs

A number of poultry raisers state that the drop in price of eggs to 22 cents deprives them of profits from their flocks of laying hens. Several chicken ranchers have decided to try and store their eggs until the strawberry harvest. Then, it is said, the keen local demand for eggs always sends the price soaring. Large quantities of eggs were being stored during the picking season when hundreds of transient laborers are here.

Lotus Grille Serves Lunches

H. M. Hicks states that the Saturday evening dancing at the Lotus continues to grow. A large number of merry-makers were at the popular cabaret Saturday night. Mr. Hicks has just inaugurated plans for serving daily merchant's lunches at the grille.
