

Look to Your Paint Is It Giving You Protection?

IF CHECKED or cracked, new paint is needed, and it will be cheaper to paint now— for deterioration costs more than good paint.

A well painted house brings several hundred dollars more on sale and more in rent. Keep it painted and it stays new for years.

The best paint spreads more easily— saves labor cost. It covers more square yards— you buy more gallons of cheap paint.

The best paint then protects the house, if properly applied, from five to ten years longer.

There is no question as to which costs less. Don't allow surprises to rot. It costs less to paint them.

The best paints are scientific in formula and preparation.

We've made them for 72 years— to meet weather conditions in the West.

The best materials— PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, zinc and color— are combined in Fuller Paints in scientifically exact proportions with long-time skill.

Our process super-purifies and "whitens" the lead base. It must be fine enough to pass through a silk screen with 40,000 mesh holes to the square inch. Fine lead means easier spreading and a more elastic, tougher protective coat. The "Whiter" lead base means more beauty in the colors.

Such paint will, if properly applied last from five to ten years longer than cheap paint, and look better through the years.

BUSINESS SURVEY VERY ENCOURAGING

David F. Houston, commenting recently on the second survey of national conditions, just completed by the Fidelity and Deposit Company, and on which the Hood River Abstract & Investment Co. collaborated locally, said: "The survey indicates that the business world is still feeling its way, but with increasing confidence and with the conviction that the worst has passed. The country has successfully borne the strain caused by a most notable drop in prices, particularly of a vast volume of raw materials, and has weathered a trying period of liquidation."

The demand for finished products has not developed to the point where our factories feel justified in taking the requisite quantity of our surplus raw materials to furnish the necessary relief to their producers, but there are indications of a change in this direction. Business men realize that forced action, based on artificial optimism, may lead to unwise action and produce further embarrassment. The foreign situation has not shown the expected improvement, and continued difficulties are experienced in discovering an effective European market for our commodities.

"This survey does point to certain favorable domestic conditions. The cost of living has appreciably diminished. Building operations in a number of districts tend to increase. There have recently been no strikes of consequence. Greater productivity of labor per man is reported from all districts."

Raw materials are plentiful and physical transportation conditions are good. There have been no business failures of moment. The crop outlook is satisfactory and the banking situation has improved.

It is believed that confidence in business circles is slowly spreading. And that while there is hesitancy, the businessmen of the country are feeling their way with sound business caution, and the country is working back toward a more stable condition.

"In undertaking to give business men a comprehensive and timely picture on national conditions and public opinion, the Fidelity and Deposit Company has once again performed a distinct public service."

What the survey discloses should be an encouragement to us all to go forward with confidence, though not with recklessness.

MRS. W. H. FURROW BURIED SATURDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. W. H. Furrow, who passed away at her West Side orchard home Thursday evening, were held from the family residence Saturday afternoon, Rev. Boddy officiating. Interment followed at Idlewild cemetery. Mrs. Furrow, who has been in ill health for the past several years, was 60 years old. She was born in Iowa. Her maiden name was Alice L. Eisenhart. Her wedding to Mr. Furrow, who survives, occurred at Tripoli, Ia., March 7, 1880. The family moved to Hood River 10 years ago. Two sons, R. A. and Harry L. Furrow, of Willow Flat; and a daughter, Miss Grace Furrow, of Chicago, also survive.

Mrs. Furrow's outstanding characteristic was her love of home. Her kindness and gentleness of character won for her the abiding friendship of those with whom she came in contact.

A vocal diet was sung at the service by Mrs. T. A. Reavis and her daughter, Mrs. Franklyn Gilbert.

FRANK P. FRIDAY SUC- CUMBS TO INJURIES

Funeral services for Frank P. Friday, East Side orchardist, who succumbed Friday afternoon to injuries sustained in a tractor accident the week before, were held at one o'clock Sunday, at the Masonic Lodge, of which he was a member, in charge. The body was taken to Portland for cremation. Although Mr. Friday's injuries were serious, he had rallied, and physicians and friends thought he would recover. He took a sudden turn for the worse, just before the end, and sank rapidly.

Mr. Friday, aged 56 and a native of Wisconsin, came to Hood River from Ellensburg, Wash., 20 years ago. He has taken a prominent part in public matters and was an active worker in the county Grange. Mr. Friday, in addition to his orchard work, did considerable work as an inventor. He conducted a plant here for a time, for the manufacture of electric ovens. He followed scientific lines of orchard culture and in early days perfected several spray inventions. Mr. Friday was a good roads booster, and for many years had proposed a trunk highway up the Hood River valley.

Mr. Friday is survived by his widow, a son, Paul Friday, and a daughter, Mrs. Ivan A. Williams, of Portland. Rev. W. H. Boddy preached the funeral sermon, a strong address depicting the outstanding strength of character of Mr. Friday and his expression of the courage of his convictions. Mrs. C. H. Sletton rendered a vocal solo. The body was taken to Portland over the Highway. S. E. Barmess directed the funeral.

GEARY WRITES OF CHICAGO CONVENTION

In a letter to local fruit men, Arthur M. Geary, Portland attorney, who is interested in Medford orchards and who has just returned from Chicago, where he attended the recent convention of the American Farm Bureau Association, says that the fruit growers' delegation at the convention went on record advising cooperative associations not to sign up long term contracts with such marketing organizations as the American Fruit Growers, Inc., and the North American Fruit Exchange or any other organization not "purely cooperative."

"All events," Mr. Geary writes, "it was the opinion at the convention that cooperative fruit marketing associations should have the opportunity to market through agents, the hiring and firing of whom were exclusively in the hands of the cooperative associations. The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation will appoint a committee of 21 representing all fruit growing states. This committee will endeavor to make a thorough study of the possibilities of working out a national marketing system for the fruit growing districts. Considerable emphasis was put upon the opportunity that the organizing of farmers afforded for increasing distribution of northwestern fruit among the farmers of the middle west and southwest."

Mr. Geary, en route to the Chicago meeting recently stopped here for a conference with local fruit interests. At that time the opinion was advanced that an apparent split between the American Fruit Growers, Inc., and the North American Fruit Exchange, formerly closely allied, was on the surface only. It was intimated at the meeting that the battle was a sham to elude growers of Washington districts, where affiliation on a cooperative basis was being sought. Mr. Geary, however, writes:

"Since talking with various growers at Hood River, I have found evidence of a temporary split at least between the Arthur Rule faction and the James S. Crutchfield faction. Once the grower organizations were signed up under a 5-year contract it would probably not be difficult for Mr. Rule or Mr. Crutchfield to mend what differences may now exist, however."

Mr. Geary states that he will be glad to come to Hood River and talk to local cooperative fruit men concerning what appeared at the Chicago convention.

HEART STROKE FATAL FOR MR. MUTRIE

Following funeral services, at which Rev. Gabriel Sykes officiated, the body of Andrew Mutrie was taken to Idlewild cemetery for interment Sunday afternoon. Mr. Mutrie, aged 58, died suddenly Saturday morning of heart disease. He and Mrs. Mutrie had awakened and had been talking. Mr. Mutrie expressed a wish to take another nap before getting up. The fatal stroke came as he turned in bed. Mr. Mutrie was a native of Elora, Ont., but with his family he had resided for many at Winlock, Wash. He came here to live two years ago. In addition to his wife, he is survived by the following children: Mrs. Stella McLaure, of Puyallup, Wn.; Mrs. Floyd Arnold, Mrs. Will Zolls and Miss Gladys Mutrie, of Hood River.

Tozier Boosts Blackberries

Albert Tozier, of Dee, is planting 10 acres to blackberries and next year will increase to 20 acres. He claims that blackberries will prove far more profitable than apple or strawberry. There are no pests that bother blackberries and the cultivation necessary is far less than for strawberries or apples. The apple is bothered by the scales, caterpillars and gophers, requiring continual spraying of trees and eternal vigilance for the gopher. Cull blackberries bring from 10 to 15 cents per pound while cull apples command only one-half to one cent. The fruit is harvested during a season when help is plentiful and no danger of a freeze. No middleman to salarify and the price of the fruit is known the day it leaves the ranch. The plants set out are the Himalayas and the Evergreen."

Tax Exemption for Veterans

County Assessor Wickham is ready to receive applications for exemptions of $1000 on the taxable property of veterans of the Mexican war, Civil war (Union side), and Indian war of Oregon, or the widow remaining unmarried of such veterans.

The assessor has received the opinion of Attorney General Van Winkle that the exemption applies to the 1921 taxes, and he will have the plans at his office ready for the veterans to fill out. The exemption extends to the property of the wife of the veteran if they are still living together and the common property of the two is in the wife's name.

Andrew Rand to Open Restaurant

Andrew Rand, brother of Ed Rand, the latter sheriff of Baker county, will open a restaurant in the Blowers building May 1. Mr. Rand, with his wife, son and daughters will manage and operate the new eating place. The quarters, formerly occupied by the Gem theatre, are being thoroughly overhauled. A new front entrance stairway to rooms in the second story of the building has been constructed, and later Mr. Rand may operate apartments in conjunction with his restaurant.

Hospitality Has Reward

The hospitable greeting Hood River tourists has resulted in C. K. Saffle and W. J. Emry, Nampa, Ida., men coming here as prospective residents. The men motored through last year, stopping at the free automobile camping ground. "We liked it so well," says Mr. Saffle, "that we kept recalling Hood River, and now we are here looking for home locations."

Mr. Emry on arrival here, after looking over the Glacier and noting the advertisement of the Emry Lumber Co., immediately sought Nelson Emry, to see, as he stated, where he got the name.

The Farmer Today Is a Business Man

HE does not run his farm in the haphazard fashion he did ten years ago. It's his business. He figures his costs and profits.

He knows, of course, what he gets out of the productive acres of his farm—and how much he is paying out in taxes on the idle unproductive stump and swamp land that brings in nothing.

That Is Why He Is Clearing More Land Every Year

It's just good business. Every acre cleared and planted means more profit every year. The clearing cost is usually more than covered by the first crop.

More land is being cleared, too, because of the manufacture of dynamite made for this purpose, which makes the work easier, quicker and more economical.

Take an Inventory of Your Land

How much is productive? How much idle? Then see our local dealer and plan how much dynamite you need for this season. He will help you—and will furnish you with reliable, efficient and economical explosives, now in greatest demand throughout this section—

PINK SPRAY FOR SCAB OR FUNGUS CONTROL

(By Leroy Childs)

By the middle of this week, April 20, the trees in the Lower Valley will be in the right condition to receive the pink spray of lime sulphur, 1-35. In order to thoroughly cover the young developing apples it is desirable to wait until the young fruits have separated in the clusters and from present development this stage will be reached the latter part of the week on most varieties. In the case of the earlier varieties the spray should be applied immediately.

There seems to be considerable doubt among many growers relative to the need of making this application. Our station recommended the omission of the delayed dormant application and were gambling some with fungus in so doing. For this reason it would be wise to omit the pink spray even though the chances are not great for scab development. The spray will cost but a few dollars and it will be a long step toward insuring the production of a crop free from fungus and the keeping of this disease out of our orchards which is well worth while. Unless we maintain a rather regular spray schedule from year to year in our orchards fungus will again get a foot hold and we will have a condition similar to that existing three or four years ago. It is within our power, by practicing regular spraying, to prevent the recurrence of such conditions. From present conditions it appears as if the pink and only applications of lime and sulphur will be the only ones required to protect our orchards from scab. Later observations may alter this schedule, however. The pink stage in the Upper Valley will not be reached for nearly two weeks.

Billy Sunday Speaks Up

Billy Sunday was caught last week in Cincinnati by a United Press man. He spoke up as follows: "The clouds in the baseball and business world are clearing up. The Monroe doctrine is still on the map and Jock Landis as chief umpire will see that the game is played fair. His appointment to that responsible position served notice on the gamblers that they must keep their hands off the game. "The players, managers, the press and the public all seem to have gotten a new stock of enthusiasm and confidence has been restored in the great national pastime. God reigns, Harding is president, the grandstand and the bleachers will be filled with cheering music and we will hit the old stride."

Cletracs Used in Pulling Out Trees

Orchardists have found Cletrac tractors economical in removing apple trees killed by the severe cold weather of December, 1919. W. H. McGuire has pulled in excess of 3,000 trees, ranging from 10 to 25 years in age. He has charged six cents each for uprooting the dead trunks. Growers have found the cost of grubbing out the dead stock by hand or blasting ranges from 20 to 50 cents each.

In addition to pulling the winter-killed apple trees Mr. McGuire has used his tractor in his own orchard cultivation as well as for a number of neighbors. The Hood River Garage, local Cletrac distributor, reports that 41 of the machines are now in use by mid-Columbia orchardists.

When you want your clothes pressed and cleaned by the most sanitary method with a Hoffman steam presser, telephone J. C. Meyer, No. 1124, and he will send for them. j22f

FRANZ Has Met Every Nail Emergency ---and Kept Faith With His Customers.

During the years when prices were soaring and nails were scarcer than hen's teeth, Franz was receiving carload after carload on orders placed months in advance. Hood River Apple Growers bought thousands of kegs of Box Nails for less than factory cost, at times when there wasn't a keg of them in any wholesale house on the coast, and other districts would gladly have paid a big premium for them.

Nails have advanced recently, but as usual Franz has protected his customers by getting his at the lower price. A car arriving now includes
