HIGHWAY GETS MUCH ADVERTISING

The advertising that the Columbia River Highway is getting from eastern sources, declares E. A. Franz, is showing its results daily. Trans-continental tourists, Mr. Franz says, are making out their itinerary, in order to see the famed scenic boulevard.

"I ran across a very real example of the results of the fame of the Highway, not only for its scenery but because of its lure as a perfect pavement, the other day," says Mr. Franz, "when I noted a New York license plate on a machine standing on the street. I was naturally interested in people from the Empire State and approached for a talk. He told me that on leaving home he and his wife had planned on going straight west from Yellowstone National Park to Seattle. He told of his plans at Chicago and the automobile club information bureau persuaded him that he should go south from Spokane to Walla Walla and thus tour over the Columbia River Highway."

"That man had become enthusiastic over Oregon scenery after his journey from The Dalles to Hood River. I told him he had 70 miles of wonderland coming. He probably reached Portland with his enthusiasm at the boiling point."

Golf Enthusiast Visits Here

Col. J. E. Cairns, great war veteran, having served throughout the Mesopotamia campaign with the British Army, accompanied by Dr. E. W. Lazelle, was here Thursday interviewing local golf enthusiasts about laying out a course. Col. Cairns had heard, he stated, that plans were under way for a local course. He was told, however, that nothing definite had developed. Tentative plans call for a course maintained jointly by local men and the Columbia Gorge Hotel, it was stated.

Col. Cairns, who had retired from the army as a colonel and was operating a large ranch in Australia, shipped at once for home on the outbreak of the war. He was not permitted to volunteer in Australia, having passed the age limit. He came to the Pacific Coast a year ago, Dr. Lazelle says, and at once fell in love with Oregon. He has decided to make his home here. Having played golf in England from the time he was a small boy he has become expert in the sport and in the methods of laying out and maintaining courses.

Dr. Lazelle last year aided Hood River county in testing purchases of cement which were found not up to the standard demanded in bridge construction. Thursday afternoon, guided by County Engineer Crutcher, he visited the East Side to see the concrete paving now being uncovered there.

SHRUBBERY BURNED BY DESERTED FIRE

A neglected campfire just south of Tuckers Bridge on the river road to Summit last week resulted in the destruction of trees and shrubbery of one of the district's favorite camping spots. The burn spread to the Hood river canyon side and for a time threatened orchards and nearby homes before it was brought to control.

The fire was the worst of the season according to State Fire Warden L. O. Rhoades, who, as does Chief Forest Ranger Stanley C. Walters, declares a number of smaller roadside fires have apparently been started by cigarette or cigar stubs tossed from passing automobiles.

"Motorists should break themselves of this practice of tossing away lighted cigar or cigarette stubs," declares Mr. Walters. "Weather conditions are making the roadsides and forest tinderlike, and a single cigarette stub may cause us a heavy damage and serious inconvenience."

Murray Woman's Story Denied

Luther Fagan, paroled convict who was recently killed here while he was holding at bay a posse with threats to kill Mrs. T. J. Miller and daughter, was not related to the woman, who, recently here, gave her name as Mrs. M. Murray and claimed to be an aunt of Fagan, according to a letter just received from Mrs. S. K. McCulley, grandmother of Fagan, by City Marshal Hart. Authorities are unable to explain the claims of the Murray woman unless by establishing her blood relationship she hoped to secure bonus funds due him.

Mrs. McCulley's letter states that Fagan's mother still lives in Oklahoma. Fagan, the letter states, was part Indian. He was also an illegitimate child. Fagan served honorably overseas in the great war, it is stated, and Mrs. McCulley writes that he has his discharge papers as well as his parole from the Oregon penitentiary.

Cause of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that in made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.
